WOMAN NOVELIST AGREES TO PAY ALIMONY.

Singular Domestic Differences in Which Horse, Pigs, Cat and Manuscript Figure. Adjusted—Mrs. Sherard Tells of Threats to Make Her Life Hell.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
LONDON, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Irene Osgood (Mrs. Robert H. Sherard), the American novelist, whose suit for separation from her English husband was the sensation of the London law courts a short time ago, owing to their singular domestic differences, in which house pets, horses and other animals figured, has made a settlement with her husband.

The two agree to a separation and the novelist will grant her husband an annual allowance. The court which heard the case reserved decision, as it was hoped the couple might patch up their troubles.

In the trial of March 22, the court ordered Mrs. Sherard, formerly Mrs. Charles Pigott Harvey, nee De Belot, to return to her husband one horse, six pigs, one cat and the manuscripts in dispute, or pay him £210. Mrs. Sherard promptly entered an appeal. She testified that her husband had promised to make life a "hell," and she had been driven to the point of suicide.

In June Mrs. Sherard fell dangerously ill of nervous prostration and brain fever and court proceedings were postponed until today.

Spreckels Outlines Trust Methods.

Dead Rats Planted in Barrels and Sand Scattered in Machinery.

Peculiar Annoyances Suffered by Independents Told Before Inquiry.

Another Feature of Testimony Deals With Juggling of Huge Fortunes.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
NEW YORK, July 22.—Claus Augustus Spreckels, son of the late Claus Spreckels of California, and principal owner of the Federal Sugar Refining Company of Tonawanda, today gave the most sensational testimony that has been developed by the Congressional committee investigating the sugar trust during the hearings here.

Besides throwing an important sidelight on the conference between John Arbuckle and the late H. O. Havemeyer, which is believed to have ended the great sugar war, he described, under oath, the vicissitudes of an independent sugar refiner.

He said his plant in Philadelphia, before it was controlled by the trust, had been put out of commission several times by persons who threw sand in the machinery bearings and otherwise wrecked the plant.

DEAD RATS IN SUGAR.
He swore that at the Yonkers refinery, after he had turned down trust overtures, dead rats were placed in barrels of sugar ready for shipment, and that whole vats of liquid sugar had been drained off into the sewers during the night time.

The nuisance of dead rats continued, he said, until private detectives pointed out several of his employees, whom he discharged, refusing to pay their wages in the hope that they would sue him, and thus enable him to question them under oath as to who had employed them. Much to his disappointment, he was never sued.

Mr. Spreckels declared that H. O. Havemeyer, Theodore Havemeyer and John E. Seear, all then officers of the American Sugar Refining Company and now dead, purchased a half-interest in the California refineries to end the Spreckels sugar war, for $2,250,000 in cash, and six months later sold this interest to the American Sugar Refining Company for $5,000,000 in preferred stock, which at that time was worth $120 a share, or $4,000,000.

GETTING RICH QUICK.
Interesting points in Mr. Spreckels' testimony included his assertion that in four years he had made $2,000,000 on a Hawaiian sugar plantation on a cash investment of $10,000. Since starting the Federal Refinery, ten years ago by a cash payment of $3,500,000, for equipment, he has paid 6 per cent. dividends on that $3,500,000 regularly, he said, representing the preferred stock, and has turned earnings amounting to an equal amount back into the improvement of the plant.

Representative Garrett of Tennessee asked Mr. Spreckels if he knew anything about the conference between John Arbuckle and H. O. Havemeyer, which was supposed to have ended the sugar war.

"Yes, something," he said. "Soon after that conference, John Arbuckle came to me and said: 'I've just had a little talk with Henry O. Havemeyer. He said an understanding had been reached that there was an overproduction of sugar and asked me if I would reduce the output of the Federal.'"

WOULD CURTAIL OUTPUT.
"I told him that the Federal would work to its full capacity."

"He said, 'You misunderstand'."

Falls from High Birthright to Fill Humble Role of Bareback Rider.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
MADRID (Spain) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] From far away Argentina comes a circus stunner giving color to an earlier rumor that one of the dashing riders in a circus that makes its headquarters in Tucuman is none other than Princess Alice, the youngest daughter of the late Don Carlos and sister of Don Jaime, pretender to the Spanish throne.

The director of the Spanish paper El Diajo Espanol, who resides in Argentina, has been receiving letters for a long time addressed to "Her Highness Dona Marguerite de Bourbon." Each came under private cover and was held for orders. Then he was requested to forward all the correspondence to Tucuman, a thriving city in the far northwestern part of Argentina.

PRINCESS IN TINSSEL.
Prompted by curiosity, the newspaper man made inquiries as to who a Bourbon princess was doing away off there, and learned, it is said, that she is a permanent member of a circus troupe and appearing twice daily in the ring.

Already Paris and Berlin managers are said to have taken steps to make her offers, having heard that she has been in connection with the manager of the Winter Circus here to perform in Madrid during the Christmas holidays. The Spanish Minister of the Interior has certain authority over public performances and it is thought that if she really intends to come here she will be prohibited from entering Spain.

One report has it that this Dona Marguerite is Princess Maria, the second of Don Carlos's four daughters, and the only one who never married. But it is more probable that the circus rider is the adventuresome Princess Alice, who has adopted for disguise one of her other names—Marguerite.

ADVENTUROUS LIFE.
If it is she—and there is good reason to believe it is—she has had an eventful life, though only thirty-five years old. She has enjoyed about every other kind of excitement, including service as a Red Cross nurse in two wars in China. Circus life is calculated to appeal to her, for she is a superb horsewoman.

From the high state that was her birthright to the circus ring is something of a tumble, but she has had harder falls.

Pope Pius X, while patriarch of Venice, officiated at the wedding in 1903 that made her the wife of Prince Frederick of Schoenburg-Waldenburg. Three years later—in May, 1906—as Pope, he permitted the marriage to be annulled, though the scandal in the civil courts had grieved and disgusted him.

It was alleged before the courts of Saxony, where the Prince and Princess were already their troubles, that Princess Alice married against her will to appease her father and that she had not lived with her husband. There was a baby boy, however, and the Princess frankly asserted that her husband was not his father.

MARRIED AGAIN.

HOUSE OF LORDS STRIKES SHOALS.

Commons Hereafter to Guide British Ship of State.

Lord Morley Burns Enormous by Brilliant Speech.

Unionists Prepare for War on the Home Rule Bill.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) LONDON, July 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) With Lord Lansdowne at the helm and the tide of referendum feeling definitely in favor of the House of Commons, the House of Lords has come to a decision on the Home Rule Bill. The Premier Asquith gave him the support necessary to ensure the passage of the bill and the last hope of the peers to avert a wreck.

Democracy throughout the kingdom, whether British or Irish, has been raised by the House of Commons during the debate on the veto. They have shown that the House of Commons is the only body of the nation which can be trusted to do the right thing.

A few, like Lord Willoughby de Eresby, have held out, but the majority has been so overwhelming that the House of Commons has been able to pass the bill without a dissenting voice.

STOLYPIN "IT" DESPITE FOES.

WAR GIVES HIM CHECK FOR QUARTER MILLION.

He Hands Only Three to Officials He Discharges as the Finance Minister, Enemy of the Premier, Has a One While Acting as Substitute.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) ST. PETERSBURG, July 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) M. Stolypin, Russia's Prime Minister, has received little present of $250,000 from the war for "his traveling expenses," as the Ministry put it, in handing him the check. The event caused a flutter at court. People fondly hoped Stolypin as "dons" forever in spite of the Premier's dislike for him. His enemies, and among them I. Kokovlev, Minister of Finance, hoped that Stolypin's position was to be prolonged till it became a dismissal. The check has dispelled these hopes, for the czar never gives money presents to those whom he dismisses only titles.

The blow came hardest of all on M. Kokovlev, who, as Minister of Finance, had to make out the check. He turned pale with mortification when he heard the imperial command. "Are you ill?" asked the czar. "No, sire," was the stammering answer. Then the czar understood, and being fond of M. Kokovlev, said: "Well, then to console you, I will appoint you Stolypin's substitute during his absence from his duties."

ELOPES WITH CANDY GIRL.

GRASS VALLEY, July 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) A scandal was caused here when it became known this evening that Charles M. Skewes, son of General Manager Skewes of the Nevada County Traction Company, and nephew of John Skewes, the well-known electric power magnate, had eloped with Miss Nellie M. Smith, a pretty candy girl, employed in a local confectionery store. Skewes is 27 and the bride 20. They married at Marysville early this morning and were married immediately. It is understood that Skewes' parents have persistently opposed Miss Smith becoming their daughter-in-law. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Smith of this place.

American Girl Reported Engaged to Peer of England's Realm.

Miss Mildred Sherman

Lord Camoys

May Make International Alliance.

According to gossip in London and New York society, Lord Camoys has denied—in a diplomatic manner—the truth of the report, but his denials carry little weight. Miss Sherman, through a kinswoman, repeats the denial, but still unconvincedly.

Hands Across Sea. PEER MAY WED AMERICAN LASS.

LORD CAMOYS AND MISS SHERMAN BETHROTHED?

Both Deny Reports in Diplomatic Phraseology, But Society of Two Continents Remains in Doubt. Beautiful English Home Being Prepared for Residence Now.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) LONDON, July 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Notwithstanding Lord Camoys' denial that he and Miss Mildred Sherman of New York and Providence are betrothed, it is believed here their engagement will be announced officially before long in New York. After all, the denial was more apparent than real, perhaps. Camoys, discreet and diplomatic, phrased it thus:

"The lady is so charming I wish I were able to say the report is true. It is a surprise to me. I only saw it in today's (Monday's) dispatches from New York. I have not seen Miss Sherman nor corresponded with her since my visit to America for the wedding of Lord Decies and Miss Vivien Gould in New York last February."

Mrs. Bradley Martin, a kinswoman of Miss Sherman, repeats Lord Camoys' denial, but it is remembered she has shown great interest in the association of the young people and gossip credited her with promoting the match.

Some circumstances which have come to your correspondent's knowledge from sources other than Camoys or Mrs. Martin indicate that there are substantial grounds for the expectation of an announcement of betrothal. Most convincing of all, perhaps, is the fact that Lord Camoys has notified the Hon. Mrs. Henry Coventry (formerly Mrs. Richard McCrory) that he wishes to redecorate his family seat, Stonor Park, a magnificent old mansion near Henley-on-Thames, in Oxfordshire.

Mrs. Coventry leased the place after her marriage to an Englishman, nearly four years ago, and has spent a large amount of money in restoring and improving the house and estate, counting upon making it her residence for years to come.

Aggrieved. LAWYERS STRIKE ON IN VITERBO.

ATTORNEYS FOR THE DEFENSE OF CAMORISTS ON DEFENSE.

Vitozzi, the Priest, Complains That "the Protection of This Agency is Killing Us." But the Court Delays the Trial of the Camorists Just the Same.

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.) VITERBO (Italy), July 22.—The lawyers for the defense have struck and as a consequence the Camorists' trial was adjourned until next Wednesday to afford them time in which to decide on their future lawyers. Unless some agreement is reached with the court and the lawyers before the sessions are resumed, it is probable the trial will be definitely stopped and later begun all over again.

The trouble began yesterday when Capt. Fabroni, one of the crown's best witnesses, in defending himself and associates of the carabinieri, denounced Lawyer Lior as a suborner of perjury, and Lior replied in an undignified manner. During the exchange all the other lawyers left the courtroom and later sent a message to President Bianchi saying that they could not with dignity return to the court if they were not assured of protection. At the same time they said they were taking steps to persuade the President to postpone the trial till Wednesday, saying they wished in the meantime to consult with their colleagues in Naples and Rome regarding what action they should take. They said they would insist on protection from what they called the provocations of the carabinieri and in return they would bring about the withdrawal of Lior from the defense.

The accused, with the exception of Bartolozzi, who fell in a fit during the hubbub yesterday, were present and listened to the proposed deal.

Ciro Vitozzi, the priest, said: "The protection of this agency is killing us."

When the postponement came, the prisoners left the cage, protesting that between the uncompromising attitude of the lawyers on the one hand and the red tape of the court procedure on the other, they had already suffered five years' imprisonment.

GERMANY UNEASY. She May Send a Warship to Haiti and Later Three More to the Caribbean.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) BERLIN, July 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) As the result of recent attacks upon German subjects in Mexico, Cuba and other Latin-American republics the German government is considering the advisability of providing a much stronger representation of its flag in American waters.

Additional reason for this action is found in the situation in Haiti, where the disorder attending the fall of President Simon are menacing German commercial interests. At the Foreign Office today it was admitted that a proposal to send a warship to the island immediately was under consideration. The ship, however, is understood to be only a step in line with German future policy with regard to naval representation across the Atlantic. It is believed that only one plank in the policy of the republics in the vicinity of the isthmus of Panama make it advisable to have a flotilla of at least four vessels permanently assigned to American waters.

ANGELINO SCRIBE WED IN EAST. Secret Marriage of Last January Accidentally Uncovered by Groom's Reporter on Local Newspaper.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) INDIANAPOLIS, July 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The finding of a marriage license by Michael A. Keefe, Southport, Ind., today revealed the secret marriage of his son, William E. Keefe, at present a reporter on the Los Angeles Herald, to Miss Cloe E. Van Buskirk of this city, January 28, in this city.

The bride now is hurrying across the continent to meet her husband, and on her arrival they are to announce their wedding. Mrs. Keefe told her relatives that she intended visiting in St. Louis, and not until the finding of the license by the father of the groom, while he was rambling an old bookcase at their home, did the marriage become known.

William Keefe, the groom, was employed by the Big Four Railroad until recently. He was well known as an athlete here. He was forced to go to California several years ago for his health. He returned, ostensibly for a visit with his father and mother last January. The marriage was performed after the marriage license clerk and the Rev. Lewis Brown, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal Church here, had been sworn to secrecy. The minister, who officiated, the license clerk, and the groom all are Masons.

Soon after the ceremony Keefe returned to Los Angeles, where he is now employed. The bride formerly was employed by a local telephone company and the couple have been sweethearts since childhood.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) WASHINGTON, July 22.—Pres. Taft left Washington tonight to spend his 2nd week end at the Taft summer cottage at Beverly. Secretary Hills and Mr. L. B. Hunt, the president's secretary and the Treasury MacVeagh, whose summer home is at Dublin, N. H., accompanied him as far as Boston. Mr. Penrose went as far as Philadelphia.

The president will spend two days motoring and playing golf and returning before he returns to Washington. He will reach Boston tomorrow morning and motor out to Beverly. He will leave again late Monday night for Washington and will be back in the capital Tuesday morning.

Political. STATE ISSUES IN KENTUCKY.

But Eyes of the Nation Are Now on the State.

Both Parties in Advance Claim the Victory.

Democrats There Have Hard Fight in Prospect.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) LOUISVILLE (Ky.), July 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Politics in Kentucky with all State officers to be elected just one year before the Presidential election has great significance now, and every State in the Union is watching developments and awaiting the results here next fall as a criterion of 1912.

The candidates for Governor, Judge E. C. O'Rear and former United States Senator James E. McCreary, are both claiming victories, although the campaign has hardly started. Each party asserts the ranks of the other are completely disrupted, which is more or less true.

One significant fact regarding the Republicans is that they have gone into the campaign without hardly taking cognizance of the State or national platform. Only one plank in their platform is devoted to each government. There was some hard work done in order to get the plank in the platform endorsing the government of Gov. Wilson. The convention was dominated by the O'Rear faction and everyone was made to get his line, even Senator William O. Bradley.

While the Democrats are pointing out that the Republicans have omitted even the plank that President Taft wished to be inserted in the State platform, they are themselves facing one of the hardest struggles the party has ever known. The old question—whiskey—is the paramount issue. During late years, this question has been dropped by both parties, with each succeeding Legislature there have been fewer votes for the county-unit bill. However, Judge O'Rear has stated that he will fight throughout the campaign along this line.

DEFIES THE GOVERNOR. Attorney-General of Kansas Declines to Investigate Case of Alleged Opium Sale in Lawton.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) TOPEKA (Kan.), July 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Kansas is in the throes of a quarrel between Gov. Stubbs and Atty.-Gen. Dawson, which is giving comfort to every violator of the prohibition law. The row now has reached the State Supreme Court and started when J. E. House, a Topeka newspaper writer, declared he had attended a social function in a Kansas town and saw beer and whiskey sold over a bar. The Governor immediately commanded Dawson to issue a summons for Mr. House and compel him to name the town where he saw beer and whiskey sold.

Dawson informed the Governor that he would not summon House before him, and that, further, he would not be directed or dictated by the Governor as to the conduct of his department. Dawson is now trying to get a mandamus from the Supreme Court to compel him to subpoena House and make him name the town where he saw the open bar.

Lewis said it took him, with forty assistants and at an expense of $10,000, seven weeks to prepare answers accurate enough to be sworn to. He said the department was thus trying to entrap him by forcing him to give inaccurate answers in the sworn statement.

Attention of the mysteriously gifted seems to be centered at present upon the work of Mr. Van der Vliet, who, although having claim to no special gift of supernatural power, attempts to reveal the lives of people through the study of their dates. The unobtainable knowledge of his dates leads him to believe that he can read the future of his subjects, and he is not alone in this belief. Many prominent people, including Mr. Van der Vliet, have been successful in their attempts to read the future of their subjects. He is not alone in this belief. Hutchinson Committee on Arrangements to Welcome President Taft to September—Steals March on Topeka—Friendly Rivalry of Two Cities to Outdo Each Other.

TOPEKA (Kans.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Two Kansas towns are in a desperate struggle to outdo each other in the entertainment of President Taft, when he visits this State in September. The hope of every citizen of Hutchinson is to "lay Topeka in the shade" in the reception of the President. On the other hand, Topeka has noticed that the coming of the nation's chief to the capital city will be the greatest event ever witnessed in Kansas.

This rivalry between Hutchinson and Topeka grew out of the effort to establish a State fair by legislative enactment. President Taft will come into Kansas from the west on Sept. 12, spending that day in Hutchinson. At night he will travel for Topeka, spending the 27th here and in Atchison.

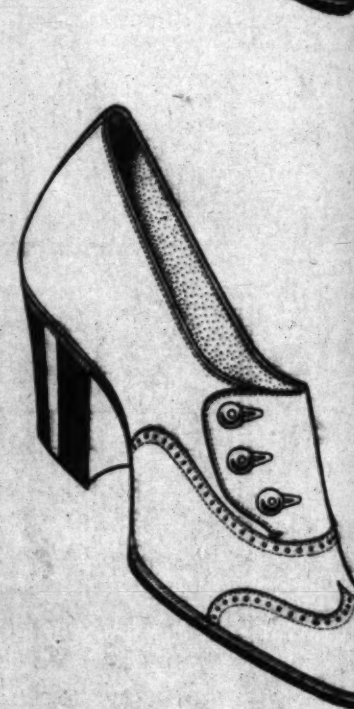

Hutchinson appears to have the lead in attractions. Among other notable things to be seen there with President Taft will be the "Bill" variety. The management of the affair has put one over on Topeka by inviting every "Bill" in Kansas to come and meet the President. This part of the program is in the hands of a local committee composed of all the "Bills" in Hutchinson, and there are hundreds of them. To help along the work, a "Bill" club has been organized.

NO MAN'S LAND IS SOME PLACE.

Pretty Soon It Will Boast of a Railroad Line.

Desert Strip is Reclaimed After Hard Fights.

Bandits and Dare Devils Have All Departed.

Special Correspondence of The Times. OKLAHOMA CITY, July 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The last chapter in the story of the "No Man's Land" strip of the Missouri, Oklahoma and Gulf Railway will extend its line to Oklahoma City from Bartlesville, it becomes equally assured that the road will be extended from Oklahoma City into New Man's Land.

Until 1886, No Man's Land, which consists of Beaver, Texas and Cimarron counties, was known only by students of the map. A narrow strip of barren territory, it was then, thirty-four miles north and south, and 164 miles east and west. It appeared only to hunters and explorers.

The name No Man's Land was acquired as a result of government treaties with Indian tribes, which left it neutral territory, a passage to the hunting grounds in the West.

Despite its barren reputation, some few adventurous men pushed their way into the land, and gradually it acquired a scattered population. Town-building, however, was practically impossible, and only the most reckless tried it. There was no basis for a town.

OLD STOPPING POINTS. The old "stopping points," a fair example of which was Sod Town, Beaver county, were frequented by horse thieves. Sod Town, about 1885, served as headquarters for a band of horse thieves headed by the five "Wildwood" brothers. With them worked other "all of whom" came from Kansas.

Attempts of officers to oust this gang were ill-fated for a long time, but had been eventually overcome. The gang, led by "Big Boy" and "Little Boy," were finally caught in a storm. His feet were caught in a trap, and he was left a cripple. The other four of the gang were arrested and one of them hanged. The others left.

The condition of the country in 1886 is described by the late Dr. J. H. Hays, one of the pioneers of the strip. "A postoffice and a small hotel," he says, "were the only signs we had that we were in Uncle Sam's country. Though the majority of the settlers were inclined to do good, right-thinking, the 'bad man' was present."

"The location of clinics caused most disputes. No man would appear through ignorance of the law, for we had ample authority, but misadventures arose through attempted thievery. 'They' were caused by a gang of free-booters, or road-runners, who prowled upon the path of the honest settler and robbed him for sport."

"They were not organized, except that they all were 'sifted' and in the same business."

"The settler no sooner would locate and commence improvement until one of these marauders would appear and declare the settler was intruding upon his homestead. Sometimes they would charge $25 a large (sown the) or, where the settler looked poor, a smaller sum, for their 'claim' upon the location."

"The Tracy band, Billie Ollie and his various 'pals' and other names not so famous, gave the country a 'black eye'."

DISCAPPED BY SWEETHEART. The most romantic of these was "Langley," one-time pal of Billie Ollie, who later slew Ollie after the latter had chased him all over a section of land, shooting at him every day. After Langley had escaped and later killed Ollie from cover, he started out to get revenge for the death of the man who had done his shooting in the open. Langley took refuge in the home of his sweetheart.

The house was surrounded, but late that night Langley and his sweetheart dared death by working together from the house and reached the home of friends, three miles away. Later both escaped.

During the years 1886-1894 the idea of organization of a territory occurred to some of the most ambitious settlers, and an election was held and representatives elected to the convention which resulted in March, 1887, in the forming of Cimarron territory.

In addition, this body created the "Legislature for the new territory" and elected O. G. Chase, president and Merritt Magan secretary. Only six of the members of the Legislature showed up to take their seats. They were: O. G. Chase, Robert Allen, R. M. Overstreet, James Lee and Representatives Snodde and Thompson.

Law made its entrance into No Man's Land about the year 1889. When the Federal district of Texas for criminal purposes. As a result, according to stories told by the old-timers in the land, the Federal deputies, who were allowed $200 for every arrest and $30 for each subpoena served, reaped a harvest.

But No Man's Land no longer is No Man's Land. The country is settled by men whose first thought is of the right, men who have been strong and persistent enough to drive out the evil, and to make good things grow out of what was supposed to be desert.

PIONEER PASSES AWAY.

Man Who Fought Indians in California in the Early Fifties, Dies in Danville, Ill.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) DANVILLE, Ill., July 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The last chapter in the eventful life of another California pioneer was closed last night with the death, here, of Gustavus Pearson, at the age of 82.

Pearson went to the Pacific Coast sixty years ago, before the Indian tribes in the Mariposa and Tuolumne counties had become acquainted with the subduing power of the United States government forces. So fierce the depredations of the tribes in the central part of the State became, that in 1851 Gov. McDougal issued a proclamation calling for volunteers to put a stop to the outrages. This resulted in the formation in January of that year of the famous "Mariposa Battalion," composed of 200 mounted men, which was immediately assigned to the duty of keeping in subjection the Indian tribes on the east side of the San Joaquin and Tulare valleys from the Tuolumne River to Tehon Pass.

It was during the Indian war which followed that the famed valley of the Yosemite was discovered. March 21, 1851, and it was as a member of this earliest California military organization that Gustavus Pearson was known. He died in affluent circumstances, the nucleus of his fortune having been derived from the gold fields of the early days.

Sister, BLAMES SEGNO FOR INSANITY.

SAYS ANGELO'S TEACHINGS DROVE WIFE MAD.

Philadelphia Manufacturer Traces Origin of Her Hallucinations to Mental Contact With the Lucubrations of Hypnotist and Professor of the Occult in California.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) PHILADELPHIA, July 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) A hypnotist and occult teacher in Los Angeles is said by I. N. Hamilton, a wealthy manufacturer here, to have driven his wife into an insane asylum. Mr. Hamilton said this afternoon that his wife some time had been reading literature published by Prof. A. Victor Segno and that her mind has become totally unbalanced as a result of the teachings of the "New Thought" advocate.

Mrs. Hamilton during the past few weeks has visited Mayor Reyburn, Postal Inspector Cortelyou and a number of city officials in the City Hall in an effort, she says, "to bring Segno to justice" for the occult power she says he has exercised over her husband, who she declares has suffered heavy financial reverses because of the hypnotic influence thrown about him by the professor.

Mr. Hamilton said that for some years his wife has been studying the teachings of Prof. Segno and that she had been profoundly impressed. He stated that about ten years ago, while living in Reading, he had noticed the strange sayings and actions of Mrs. Hamilton and from that time on her condition had become steadily worse until last Tuesday when it became necessary to cause her removal temporarily to the Philadelphia Hospital, until she is placed in an asylum.

Prof. Segno is the author of a magazine which deals with the occult power of the mind over matter. He is engaged also in organizing what are known as "occult clubs." Members of the clubs are furnished with literature bearing on "New Thought."

Overwhelming, STRONG IN DEATH IS MOTHER LOVE. SON DELAYS FUNERAL OF WOMAN OF MYSTERY.

Despite Injunction of Millionaire Father and Former Husband Not Even to Think of Her, Young Edgar's Heart Strings Draw Him to the Bier.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) CHICAGO, July 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) When all the funeral arrangements were completed and the family of W. P. Hobbs were getting ready to go to Graceland Cemetery to bury the body of Mrs. Katherine Porter, Mr. Hobbs received a long distance telephone message from Selwyn C. Edgar, Jr., the son of the veiled woman of mystery. This afternoon, asking that the funeral be delayed until he can reach the city.

The son, who in life had refused to have anything to do with his mother, divorced twenty-seven years ago from his millionaire father in St. Louis, was in New York on business. He will arrive here tomorrow morning.

Mr. Hobbs has arranged for a plot in Graceland Cemetery for the burial of Mrs. Porter, and unless the son wills otherwise, the woman who was killed by an automobile at Sheridan road and Leland avenue Thursday night will find her last resting place there.

The message from the son came only after Hobbs had despaired of any of the relatives of the dead woman claiming her body. The former husband, Selwyn C. Edgar, St. Louis millionaire, did not even answer the telegram Mr. Hobbs sent him.

The son is recognizing his mother in death will leave the wrath of his father, who had forbidden him to even think of his mother.

SLANDER ACTION AGAINST WOMAN.

YOUNG ARMY OFFICER SAYS FAIR NAME WAS HURT.

Fort Benjamin Harrison Post, Near Indianapolis, Ind., Sued by Suit Brought by Lieutenant Against Wife of a Captain—Shortage in Post Exchange Involved.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.)—The little community of United States army officers and their wives at Fort Benjamin Harrison army post near this city, is wrought up by a damage suit filed this week against one of the women. The plaintiff is Lieut. Walter Reed, a young officer who had been very popular at the post; the defendant is Mrs. Margaret Eames, wife of Capt. Eames of the Tenth United States Infantry.

It appears Lieut. Reed was placed in charge of the post exchange soon after he arrived, and discovered that there had been some irregularities in the books. Official investigators found that $600 had been appropriated by some one, and when a clerk named Hull was charged with the shortage he confessed. The first impulse of the committee was to prosecute Hull criminally, but it was found that prosecution would result in loss of the entire amount, while $200 might be recovered if prosecution were abandoned. This course was finally adopted. Hull repaid $200 and was discharged. The investigation disclosed the money had been taken before Lieut. Reed took charge of the exchange.

According to the complaint, which charges slander and asks for damages of $10,000, Mrs. Eames gave a receipt, at which she is charged, with telling her guests that Lieut. Reed collected the full amount, paid back the $200 and kept the rest. Lieut. Reed demanded an apology, which was refused and finally began suit when the story began to spread over the state.

SUES AN IRON MERCHANT.

Chicago Widow Wants Fifty Thousand Dollars, Alleging He Promised Her And Then Wedded Another.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) CHICAGO, July 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.)—Because Edward W. Gross, manager of the Gross Star Iron business, living at No. 5508 South Park avenue, after being engaged to Mrs. Julia La Fontaine, a widow, for three years, told her he was a Jew, and that they never could be married, she was sued for $50,000 in the Superior Court yesterday on the charge of breach of promise by the widow, Mrs. La Fontaine is a dressmaker. Gross is reported to have married another woman a month ago.

A number of letters said to have been written by Mrs. La Fontaine to Gross during their courtship will figure in the trial of the suit.

HAPPY, HAPPY LAND.

Special Providence Seems to Preside Over Oklahoma Where, Despite Drouth, Crops are Big.

(Special Correspondence of The Times.) OKLAHOMA CITY, July 19.—The special providence that Oklahoma believes presides over the destinies of the youngest State, has again intervened to ward off evil and, after two weeks after the most anguished of its citizens had admitted the imminence of "hard times," the most pessimistic is now forced to admit that a harvest of bountiful crops is assured.

Rain worked the miracle. Breaking a drouth that itself had broken all records, a good soaking rain, followed by intermittent showers for ten days, put new life into parched corn and cotton and wet the earth with millet, milo maize, kafir corn and hay are safe from harm.

The drouth was unprecedented in the years since the white man first drove his plow through the prairies of the Southwest. For seventy days not a drop of moisture had fallen and day by day the thermometer climbed higher and higher. It was at the season when growing crops were most in need of water. The fact that early spring rains had thoroughly wet the soil, and had filled ponds and streams bank-full, alone prevented a speedy devastation of growing things.

Oklahoma was not alone in her suffering from the heat. But the heat, which lasted longer here than in any other section, and consequently the situation was more serious.

BRIGANDS USE BOMBS.

Make Desperate Effort to Loot Train in Trans-Caucasia, But Obtain No Booty.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) TIFLIS, (Trans-Caucasia), July 22.—Ten brigands seized a flag station today on the Akhlat mountain section of the Kara railroad. They cut the telephone wires and held up a train in which the railroad cashier, accompanied by four guards, was riding.

The guards jumped down an embankment and escaped by fire. In the meantime the brigands threw three bombs under the car which exploded with great force. The robbers had entered the car when a passing detachment of mounted troops, hearing the fusillade, galloped to the scene. The robbers escaped, but without loot.

The firing lasted an hour, the cashier and the engineer and conductor of the train being wounded.

ENGLAND NOT SATISFIED.

Not Being Sure Rule of Reason Will Restore Competition, Still Try to Grow Tobacco.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) NEW YORK, July 22.—Great Britain will not rely wholly on the decision of the United States Supreme Court to reestablish competition in tobacco.

Under the Lloyd George budget she has $6,000,000 to spend on improving agriculture and a part of it has been set aside to determine if tobacco can be raised in England and Scotland. The expert, who has tobacco in charge, A. V. Campbell, arrived here today on the Campania with letters to Secretary Wilson of the Department of Agriculture, which he will present through Ambassador Bryce.

CALIFORNIA RANKS HIGH in the number of patents granted. The "Patents and Patent Agents" columns of The Times "Liner" section not only list the names of the inventors, but also the names of the attorneys who have bought for a sum, but contain the names and addresses of reliable patent attorneys.

FRUITS OF VICTORY LOST.

Visalia Trustees Rule That Votes Thrown Out Be Counted for the "Drys."

Visalia, July 22.—The City Trustees of Visalia last night threw out the votes of the "Wets" in the election of the city fathers. The trustees ruled that the votes of the "Wets" were thrown out because they had been obtained by fraud.

The present City Trustees were elected on a pledge that they would close up the saloons of Visalia. If they were put in office, there was considerable speculation therefore as to what they would do after the town had voted as practically all supposed, "wet."

The trustees are declared to be a new one in California. The saloon men took the matter before the City Hall chambers when the trustees met last night to canvass the result of the election of Monday.

It was found that the count of votes was correct. This showed that the trustees were not in a position to make a ruling. The nine votes thrown out by the election board were discarded either because they had been marked for both sides of the question or had not been marked at all.

The city has been agog all day as a result of what is termed the coup of the trustees. The latter are being praised by the anti-saloon forces and damned by the "wets." The saloon men themselves appear to be stunned, and will not talk for publication except to say that the courts will be appealed to.

STRIKEN BLIND.

TULARE, July 22.—W. L. Underwood, a Tulare-street merchant, while sitting in his store last evening conversing with his wife, was stricken suddenly blind. Local physicians are unable to account for his strange affliction except on the basis of a possible paralysis of the optic nerve, at the base of the brain cells. Mr. Underwood has had some little trouble with his eyes during the past week, but not of an alarming nature. The blindness which came upon him last evening was without warning and as sudden, he says, as if someone had suddenly turned out the lights.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

PATIENCE IS EXHAUSTED.

Residents of Dry Tract Circulate Odd Petition.

Distressing Condition Exists in the Crown City.

Clarence Bowen is Appointed Assistant State Forester.

(Office of the Times, 25 S. Fair Oaks Avenue.)

PASADENA, July 22.—While Mayor Thum yesterday declared that the residents of the "dry tract" are soon to have a water supply they must exercise patience, the "dry tractors" chose the day to become more impatient than ever.

Somewhat of other a factitious petition found itself being circulated through this part of the city last night and it rapidly accumulated signatures.

Here is the petition, which is to be presented, say the circulators, to the City Council at next Tuesday's session:

"To the Honorable Mayor and City Council of Pasadena.

"Gentlemen:

"The undersigned residents of the 'dry tract,' being desirous of following the 'wet' together suggestion contained in last Wednesday's issue of the Star, do hereby petition your honorable body to grant us permission to erect tents, etc., on the lawn of Central Park in order that we may 'get together' and have a little water to drink until such time as the Honorable John McDonald, William R. Blaich and W. S. Wright may feel disposed to permit you gentlemen to do your duty."

While many residents of the "dry tract" have depended on the wagon for their supply of aqua pura for weeks past, others received water from the Cottonwood Canyon system, until last Saturday. At that time they declare, the water was shut off there, too, so that the entire northern section of the city has won the name of "dry tract" is dependent on the wagon, which is kept busy hauling in enough water to satisfy the actual needs of residents.

NEW LINE IF IT IS MUCH WANTED.

PACIFIC ELECTRIC ISSUES ULTIMATUM TO BEACH RESIDENTS.

Amount of Bonds Required if a Road is to Be Built from Fredericks Through Territory at Present Undeveloped—Latest Proposal of Postal Inspector Pleases Nobody.

SANTA MONICA, July 22.—It is said now to be all up to the back country property owners whether the Pacific Electric shall stop its eighth street extension at Garfield avenue or push the line on south, perhaps as far as the southern city limits at Marino, or eventually to connection with the Palms division of the Union Pacific.

The trolley people are said to have named the size of the bonds required, and the land owners along the proposed route are looking into the matter.

From Oregon to Garfield the line will not doubt pass the very start, beyond that the route will be a considerable distance through a section that contains no houses or real estate, and the road would be a dead end.

The bonus is to cover the territory that will not be produced for some time. However, the building of the road as proposed would result in the speedy development of that territory.

The Third and Oregon business interests of Santa Monica could well afford to encourage the building of this line. It would at once make a large district tributary to that section. On the other hand, if the line should head again for the beach in the vicinity of Rose avenue, rounding the hill, and tap the Pier-a-vue section, the service to the business interests could afford to join in raising the bonus. The new line as proposed would, however, be a dead end.

Monday night the Pacific Electric will ask for the franchise on Eighth from Fremont to Garfield, the Mayor having signed the ordinance granting it.

The line would run from Fremont to Garfield on Eighth from Oregon to Fremont. Work on this is to be started without delay. This route will reach the new High School building.

The Santa Monica High School Board of Education has elected teachers as follows for the next year: Principal, Frank W. Thomas, late of Champaign, Ill., where he was in charge of the State Teachers' Training School; history, John C. R. Church of the Redlands High School; English, Theodore E. Dexter, of the schools of Central Hall, R. Church of the Redlands High School; Mass., where he was connected for a number of years with the textile industry; and MacArthur, where he was connected for a number of years with the textile industry.

This completes the list of teachers and will form a part of the corps required for the new High School, which is soon to be built at an expense of almost a quarter of a million dollars.

Sam Ketchum, the Palisades had whose unannounced departure from home and disappearance from his usual haunts made his mother dangerously ill, has returned home. While the police of seventy California cities were hunting for him he was at San Diego entering the navy.

After having received the recommendation of the Police Commission that a restaurant liquor license be granted for the new seaside hotel, Mrs. Frank L. Church has withdrawn her application and it will not go before the Council Monday night. Application for this license had been advertised in the newspapers and the police protested to the Police Commission, but in the face of this recommendation the license would no doubt have been issued. ## CASTOR BEANS ALMOST KILL.

Five Persons Deathly Sick After Eating Them.

Doctors Work All Night to Save Sufferers.

Peddler and Woman Join in Strawberry Crush.

LONG BEACH, July 22.—Taking the advice of a neighbor that castor beans were remedial in their effect, five persons, three of them grown, ate of the poisonous things and were made so seriously ill that for several hours last night their lives were in great danger.

The affected ones are Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Allison of Rockwell, Iowa, Mrs. P. L. Allison, Princeton, B. C. Frances Deering, aged 8, and Allison Nowella, aged 1-2. The Allisons are here for a visit to a relative, Mrs. L. Nowella, on Orange avenue. Being told that castor beans were good for indigestion and constipation, they partook of them. Mrs. P. L. Allison ate seven beans, Allison Nowella ate five and the other three each ate a smaller number but suffered more seriously than the others. This afternoon they were still regarded as not out of danger. Physicians worked all night and all of this morning with the sufferers.

HEADS OFF TRAGEDY.

A tragedy at the dangerous crossing at Twenty-first street on the Long Beach line was prevented this morning by John Masterson, who, at the risk of his own life, threw himself in front of a car.

James Wright, a motorist, was driven to cross without noticing a south-bound flyer, whose approach was hid by a car standing at the crossing. So close was Wright that the step of the moving car brushed Masterson's leg as he seized by the bit and checked his advance.

STRAWBERRY CRUSH.

An excited woman and an equally excited peddler called up police headquarters today and wanted warrants but, they declining to give them, the police would take no action. The housewife found an over-ripe strawberry in a box she purchased and demanded her money back. The peddler, who had sold the box, refused to return the money, and the woman, who had paid for the box, refused to return the money.

CORPORATION.

The Southern California Edison Company last night presented to the City Council its annual report. Earnings were $1,000,000 and expenses $1,000,000. The profit was $1,000,000. The total value of the plant was $1,000,000. The company showed receipts of $1,000,000, 122.28 and expenses of $98,480.20, due to part to repair necessary when the company is conducting new work.

The plant is valued at $781,556.37. The reports were asked in a meeting of the council to draft a new schedule of rates.

William Hicks, a hunky negro, was arrested by police today on a charge of murder. Hicks attended the African Sunday-school picnic yesterday at Alamogordo and was seen with a razor, but surrendered when Coleman drew a small cannon from his coat and pointed it at Hicks.

In the melee one woman's mouth was swelled by a fist blow.

A cap found by the police Thursday night, and a small bag of powder, were found in the possession of a man who was arrested today by police.

A sixteen-foot launch, built as a tender for the Los Amigos, was captured today at the Western Boat Works. The Los Amigos is owned by Mr. Gates of Los Angeles.

RICHEST IN WORLD OUR COUNTY'S GOAL.

Now Leads All West of Cook County in Which Chicago Is Located in Largest Assessment Roll—Wealth of Fertile Valleys on All Sides Pour as Through Funnel Into Favored Section.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY, the richest in the West—destined to be the richest in the world.

This year's assessment roll—$591,958,327—the largest in its history, unparalleled by any west of Cook, in which is located Chicago.

Good roads costing $3,500,000 which will be the greatest asset instead of an expense.

Splendid public buildings provided for at a cost of $2,225,000, to be paid out of the tax levy.

A tax rate no higher than last year, and which will be reduced consistently to cover the actual needs of the people.

These are the big things of a big county which occupies a unique position in the world. It is as though from the mouth of a great funnel was being poured into the county the wealth of the rich and fertile valleys to the north, east, south and west.

A task beyond the keenest of computers is to say what the population will be ten years hence. It now leads the State. When it will lead the world is only a question of a few years.

The big end of California's wealth is agriculture and its allied industries. Of the unprecedented agricultural output of the entire country for 1910, California contributed, according to the State Agricultural Society's report, including fruits, vegetables, cereals, live stock, dairy products, hay, poultry and eggs, wine and brandy, beet sugar, hops, hides, wool and other products, $300,000,000, which is about $115,000,000 more than the average of all the States of the Union.

WHEN THE SHIPS COME IN.

A freight rate which will be the lowest of any county on a traveled route is assured after the Panama Canal is opened and the great ships come to Los Angeles Harbor. This will have a magical effect in developing industries now handicapped by the hauling cost.

Added to its rich and varied mineral deposits, fruit industry and manufacturing the magnificent mountain and sea scenery, Los Angeles county is attracting the attention of the world. There is no other place like it. Italy, famous in song and prose and paintings, is the nearest approach, but it lacks the fine climate.

An idea of how real estate has jumped since the good roads were started may be gained from the rolls. The assessed value this year is $355,182,475 as against $323,803,215 for last year, an increase of $31,379,260. Improvements increased from $116,432,235 to $133,144,000 and all personal property from $82,226,104 to $103,661,252. The total increase over last year reaches the immense sum of $69,476,773. The increase in land values has been steady and continuous.

The Recorder's office is an index of the rapidity with which the county has grown. In the last four and one-half years, 67 per cent. as many records have been filed as were filed since the organization of the county. The fees have increased 8 per cent. over last year.

The government breakwater at San Pedro, the Los Angeles Harbor and the Panama Canal are three great factors in the development of the county. The canal will open the ports of the world, and the great ships will carry to those ports at a rate estimated at $1 a ton the rich products of all description mined, raised and manufactured.

WHOLE WORLD FINDING OUT.

These great facts are percolating throughout the world. It will result in an influx of people who will settle and build. The good roads improvement is to provide easy means of transportation as well as scenic drives. It is the basic principle of the improvement. To meet the hordes of housekeepers, the county officials are building up the finances to provide additional public buildings, parks, zoological and other amusements. Virtually the county is getting its house in order for the coming guests—building, papering, painting, varnishing, furnishing. Already it has a surplus of $5,000,000 in the treasury.

With an area of 3880 miles or 2,483,200 acres, four-fifths of the county is capable of being cultivated. The records for 1909-10 gave the number of farms as 10,232, assessed at $1,025,109.

The new city of Van Nuys, which is springing up, is just one incident of a progressive and constructive era. The ranch land there has been subdivided and housekeepers have settled by hundreds. With the railroad that is being built through Chatsworth Pass, Van Nuys is virtually at the city's gate.

In time the great Antelope Valley, little known and considered desolate, will likely team with life. Land values have jumped everywhere. Automobiles have whirled the stranger and prospective buyer into what a few years ago were thought outlying districts, but which now are the suburbs. As these are settled upon, the tide of emigration will extend further until it has flowed over the entire county.

IT IS HELD DOWN.

Attempt to Get City Club to Consider Resolution on Long Beach Incident Fails Ignominiously.

An attempt by Garner Curran, president of the Federated Improvement Association, to get the City Club, of which Meyer Lissner is president, to consider a resolution on the subject of Lissner's remarks at Long Beach a week ago about the improvement association, met ignominious failure yesterday afternoon.

The club met at the Westminster as usual to lunch and Gov. Sloan of Arizona was the speaker of the day. After he had concluded Curran brought his resolution before the club, but word had been passed that it was coming and the club made short shift of it by rejecting it and returning it to its author with condemnation, on motion of Willis L. Morrison, who was Lissner's secretary of the County Republican Committee last fall.

All the Lissner politicians were on hand to prevent any criticism of the boss. The only two voices heard against Lissner were Curran and Lucius W. Dale. Lissner read a statement reiterating much of his Long Beach talk but assumed that he talked as an individual and not as a representative of the City Club. This somewhat appeased Curran, and he was willing that the resolution go to the board of Governors. But the Lissner politicians would not have it so, and it was kicked back to Curran with a rebuff.

Third Payment on Yuma Reclamation Land Due and Sum Required Large—Seek Reduction.

More than 150 homesteaders may lose their claims in the Yuma grant because of their inability to make the large payment due December 1. They are required to pay the government $300 on that date, and they say they cannot raise the money.

A petition has been forwarded to Washington asking that the terms be made more reasonable. It is asserted that in order to make good, a homesteader should have from $2000 to $4000. The claims have taken more money than the settlers anticipated. A graduated scale is proposed, small first, to enable the homesteader to realize on the land by raising crops, and larger toward the last, when the land begins to pay.

This land which the government has reclaimed, "is expensive under the terms proposed. We are poor and have not been able to raise the money we have held it to get money ahead to make the December payment. We believe there is a way of raising, and that the terms will be reduced."

QUIET WEEK-END REST FOR CITY'S INNOCENTS

Where the Heat Waves Surge and the Perspiration Breaks and the Heart-Stoppers Thrill They Hit the High Spots and Swelter Beside the Thundering Sea. Joy and Recreation of the Beach Amusements.

BY WILLARD HUNTINGTON WRIGHT.

IT IS SO warm in the city and this is the beauty of this form of rest, that just at the moment when you think you are about to be hurled into the ocean to a watery grave you are snatched from eternity, and it is, and dragged back within the wheel's diameter. One of the chief attractions of this "Double Whirl" is that when you have been released from its whirling convolutions, you are so dizzy that you can scarcely walk. Your head swims, and just below the sternum is an empty feeling which, under ordinary circumstances, would be called nausea.

Then there is the splendid establishment known as "Merryland." For ten cents you are permitted to enter this paradise. It consists of a long, circuitous, pitch-black alleyway leading upstairs, around corners and down chutes. There are weird noises, tilting floors, blind passages, slippery runways, pitfalls and other cheerful of speech—a bit of meaningless rhetoric.

The principal form of rest, as interpreted by those who patronize the seaside, consists in flirting with death. In order that they may indulge this particular diversion, every known form of half-breath escape has been erected. The beaches support any number of mad, terrible, and cyclonic devices for being almost but not quite annihilated. For the meager sum of 10 cents one can narrowly escape death in almost any manner one chooses—from just missing being dashed to the cement walk from an altitude of five hundred feet, to that least bloody, but just as thrilling, method of being scared to death.

WHIZZING THROUGH SPACE.

The most popular form of rest is that seismic toboggan slide known as the "chutes." It requires courage, a clear conscience, and a well-fortified nervous system to indulge in this cat-alysmic locomotion. But then, we are in no need of rest, and we must stop at nothing. For five minutes after entering the car, we are hurled up and down and round corners with a breathless speed which fairly unties our shoelaces. Stiff with terror, we cling to the rail of the seat in front of us, our eyes bulging, our stomachs glued to our spinal columns, trying to be brave and to keep down our breakfast. At length, in a state of nervous reaction, we struggle from the car, our knees a little weak, our faces pale, our pulses tearing it off at 150—but greatly rested—oh, let us not forget that!

But we have merely begun to recuperate from the week's fatigue. Instead of us, we discover a huge revolving wheel, the action of whose devices for the purpose of rest, shattered nerves. To add to the happy tranquility of this hair-raising journey, skulls and skeletons are stationed along the way. The terror of youth are as nothing compared with those of Merryland. As you grope your terrified way through the stygian darkness, your hair is porcupine, your heart action retarded and your skin turned into gooseflesh.

But why complicate, did we not come here to rest?

SCARED FOR A DIME.

However, as yet not recuperated from our week's labors, we seek more rest in "The Third Degree." The name of this institution speaks for itself. It is a horrible device for a most translating us into the spirit plane. We think every minute is to be our last. Our peregrinations in this establishment are fraught with peril and that will thrill. For ten minutes we are undergoing the nerve racking ordeal of toying with the finite. The floor dips and withers a miniature tornado suddenly lambastes us. Horrifying earthquakes stagger us. The cavernous blackness sends us to the soul. Ulysses in hell! Bah! His descent was nothing to this. In our death-terror of the inky torridous way, we clutch a railing and several volts of electricity rent our body!

After a moment of recuperation when we are physically able to continue our search for rest, we visit any number of unearthly and devilish contrivances, where we experience all the terrors and tortures of the inquisition—hurting death traps and mechanical temblors where we may finger the beyond, and experience the sensations of ecstacy. On and on our unquenchable thirst for horror leads us, and, drunk with the jubilation of a primitive and barbaric intoxication, we grasp with such ingenious deviltries as the Human Bowling Alley, the Human Laundry, the Dip of Death, the Revolving Bucket, the Heaving Stairway, the Devil's Bowl and the like. The most

So Refreshing!

For the meager sum of ten cents you can narrowly escape death in a most any manner you choose.

WHY THEY ADVERTISE IN THE MORNING WAIL—SEE?

F. Arthur Cardwell, of Arthur Cardwell & Co., writes a silly letter to the Morning Wail, telling of the miraculous business that he gets as a result of advertising in that sorry sheet, which daily bemoans the fact that it cannot secure any circulation. Cardwell goes so far as to say that as he was writing this letter to the Wail he was "interrupted four times by answers to Wail advertisements" and "made one sale"—probably with his left hand while writing with the other.

We know very well why Cardwell does not advertise in The Times. He has been on The Times' "bad pay list" since 1908. His ledger record shows: "Credit closed Nov. 23, 1907," and "Credit closed finally Jan. 25, 1908," with final charge-off to "bad debts," Jan. 21, 1909. Through the carelessness of a clerk an advertisement amounting to $1.40 was inadvertently accepted by The Times from Cardwell in September, 1910, and it has never been paid for. The Times is still waiting for the $1.40 and the previously unpaid sums.

Other advertisers with similar records are getting a small amount of free publicity by writing letters to the Morning Wail. It will have no difficulty whatever in securing advertisements from all the "no-pay" gentry in town. . . . Next!

RICH NEW YORK CORPORATION AFTER OIL FIELDS.

Agents Now in City Considering Three Propositions As Investments for Surplus Cash of Large Company—Santa Maria District May Be One of Them—Venezuela Deal.

One of the largest corporations in New York has $10,000,000 surplus cash which it proposes to invest in Southern California oil fields. It has given a concession to the American Industrial Corporation, the officers of which are now in this city considering three propositions. One of these is in the Santa Maria district, representing an investment of $2,500,000.

The investment of $10,000,000, judiciously will take up the time of the officers of the American Industrial Corporation for a considerable time. The understanding with the New York Corporation is that these properties shall be going concern. Dr. Clarence E. Edwards, secretary and general manager of New York; E. A. Sawyer, vice-president, of Wilcox and Gustavus Heyman, treasurer, of San Francisco, the agents, are at the Hotel Lenox to meet the owners of the oil fields now under consideration.

Edwards is thoroughly familiar with the resources of Southern California. He is a resident of the city of San Francisco, where he came in touch with business interests all over the State. He stated yesterday that the New York corporation, the name of which he withheld for obvious reasons, is only one of a number of concerns with large surpluses which are looking toward California for investments.

The American Industrial Corporation, which was incorporated under the laws of Arizona, holds concessions from Canada to South America. A $5,000,000 deal was recently closed up in Oklahoma for a wealthy eastern concern. A rich English syndicate, headed by Baron Lewis Horst, has bought 5,000,000 acres of hardwood timber land, the deal having been handled by the corporation. A concession on the Balas River, between Michoacan and Guerrero, held by the corporation, has been sold to a Scotch syndicate, which will organize a company and develop the timber and mines in this rich section.

Another important operation is taking shape in Tampico, Mex., where a brewery, packing plant, ice plant, soda, beer and other industries and cold storage plant will be built and operated as an asset.

The Venezuela proposition netted the corporation $20,000. The timber land was originally bought at the rate of 10 cents an acre. The corporation obtained an option for 20 cents and closed it out for 30 cents an acre.

"This is not a promotion proposition," said Edwards. "We have clients all over the world with money to invest, and we are turning it into propositions that will bring returns. While we are in California, we will look into mining propositions for our clients. This is a rich country, with boundless opportunities and eastern investors are pouring more and more money here into mines and oil. There are splendid investments in Mexico, and South America will eventually become a great field."

The profits of most operations which the corporation has made within a few months indicate the good things lying around, waiting to be picked up and properly handled.

WANTS TO BE ASSESSOR.

Charles M. Smith announces himself as a candidate for City Assessor. He says in his letter that he has lived in this city for forty-three years, has had thirteen years experience as deputy assessor, under the late Ben E. Ward, and that he is a qualified County Assessor, and that the present deal will rule all assessments if he is chosen. He declares himself against class legislation, corporation rule and bossism; in favor of the direct primary law, and wants to be the champion of the small taxpayer, who has been subject to over-taxation.

Like Two Peas.
IMPERSONATES A RICH MERCHANT.
CELESTIAL TRIES TO EVADE RETURN TO CHINA.

Has Homly Hands of Truck Gardener, But Insists That He Is Hom Sing, a Business Man, Whom the Federal Authorities Say Returned Home Years Ago.

Blind Hom Sing, charged with being unlawfully in the country, was a defendant in deportation proceedings yesterday before United States Commissioner Williams. He alleged, through an attorney, that he was a member of a mercantile firm in Oakland, in 1902, and therefore not liable under the exclusion act. Assistant United States Dist. Atty. Stewart, tried to show that Hom Sing was a common laborer and delivered "vegetables" to Pasadena folk at stated periods and for a stated price.

"Show your hands to the commissioner," said Stewart to Hom Sing. The latter obeyed and they were covered with gnarled spots and the signs of toil.

Ex-Constable Robbins testified that as far back as 1896 he had known Hom Sing, when the latter was arrested charged with not being possessed of a certificate of residence. Robbins said that he went to the county jail, and when he picked him out among a score of "chinks" as a merchant. Hom Sing was released and the charge against him was not prosecuted.

According to the evidence of the government, it was not Hom Sing who was arrested at all, but Hom Sik, whose photograph was introduced in court. It appeared that Hom Sing had appropriated not only the name but the picture of Hom Sik, who long since returned to China.

Hom Sing insisted that the photograph was of himself, and that he had been discharged from custody upon it appearing that he was a merchant and not a laborer. Robbins seemed slightly twisted in his testimony. He insisted that he had signed a statement on behalf of Hom Sing in 1907, when it appeared that the signature was appended yesterday, in the reported capture of five yellow men by the immigration officers in the vicinity of San Diego.

They are what is known as "fortification men," those who had certificates of citizenship formerly, but who returned to China for more than the twelve months allowed by the act. These fellows slip into this country over the Mexican border, and when captured they have the certificates all right, but they are of no value.

Beautiful Gowns and Dresses---Values $35 to $125. Now $10

All New This Season --- One of the Most Remarkable Sales Ever Announced--Store Opens at 8:30 A.M.

Exclusive Styles--Copies of Imported Models--In Rich Satin, Crepe De Chine, Chiffon and Net. Five Models Illustrated--Rarely More Than Once in a Lifetime Does Such an Opportunity Present Itself.

THE real significance of this sale can best be judged when we tell you that it includes our entire stock of high priced gowns and dresses. Those formerly priced from $35 to $125. To the left we show five of the styles included. Yet no mere picture could convey to you their grace of line and beauty of color and design. Even in this ad the difficulty lies not in the effort to exaggerate the garments, but to find words to adequately describe them. This is not a sale of a special purchase or a clean-up of a manufacturer's odd lines. But a sale of our own regular stock, selected with care and discrimination to please the exacting tastes of Los Angeles women. And now, after a most successful season we are going to sell the remaining models at $10, regardless of the fact that many of them cost seven or eight times the sales price. Of course we will lose money, but we believe it to be good business to lose money once in a while in order to keep our stock new and fresh. Store open at 8 o'clock. There are just one of a kind of these garments, so make your selection early.

Projected Home of The Times—A New and Better Building

TO RISE UPON THE SITE OF THE OLD AT THE N. E. CORNER OF FIRST AND BROADWAY—DIFFERENT ARCHITECTURAL SUGGESTIONS FOR THE UNIQUE STRUCTURE

THE TRAGIC STORY.

ON that fateful day, the 1st of October, 1910, at one o'clock in the morning, while the day was yet young, the Times Building was destroyed by dynamite and fire. It was an appalling calamity—"The Crime of the Century." The disaster and crime startled the country, aroused universal sympathy, and brought forth from widely-separated points countless expressions of indignation, horror and sympathy, and even a few covert and oblique endorsements of the wicked and desperate deed.

The work of making prompt, grateful and courteous acknowledgments of the almost numberless messages of sympathy, solace and support received was no small one, but it was undertaken immediately. The first words uttered by Gen. Otis, head of the Times, and president of The Times-Mirror Company, after looking upon the wreck, were these: "The battle goes on." In responding to the messages of friends, he said, among other things: "I have made strong efforts to send private and personal responses in as many cases as possible—hundreds and hundreds have been made," besides which the following general letter was issued:

"THE TIMES:
Temporary Office Nos. 531-533 South Spring street.

"LOS ANGELES, October, 1910.

"To Appreciative People:
"Quickly succumbing to the great calamity which has fallen upon us of the Los Angeles Times, through the wicked agencies of dynamite and fire and the desperation of deliberate assassination, a vast volume of sympathy, deep and true, has reached us, coming by wire, by mail, and through oral utterance. For all these expressions of sympathy and friendship the conductors and proprietors of The Times are profoundly grateful. The number of messages received is so great that it is impossible to respond to all of them separately, so we are compelled to resort to this public method of making our grateful acknowledgments known in numerous cases.

"We are not forgetting our friends, and cannot forget them in this hour of trial, any more than we can forget the faithful slain.

"The Times Building and its great equipment have been destroyed by the hands of conspirators and assassins, and a full score of its faithful workers lie dead beneath the charred and blackened ruins of the old edifice which they so faithfully defended in the strenuous days when life, hope, vigor and determination equipped them so well for the battle. Our loyal men are dead, but The Times lives, and will live on. It cannot be destroyed; it will go on fighting the old battle with even greater determination than before; it will continue to uphold the sacred cause of republican liberty and industrial freedom which it has so long upheld; and we its foremost defenders will not be found wanting should the demands of the future put upon us even severer tests.

"In good time the Times Building will be restored, wall upon wall, stone upon stone, brick upon brick, and column upon column, and will be re-equipped with a mechanical plant even more complete than before. And so the battle will be carried on in the future by brave hearts and strong hands.

"HARRISON GRAY OTIS,
"Editor and General Manager.
"HARRY CHANDLER,
"Assistant General Manager.
"HARRY E. ANDREWS,
"Managing Editor."

So, in pursuance of the declaration then made that the Times Building would in good time be restored, the work has at last, after some unavoidable delays, been begun in earnest. It required months to clear away the debris, which formidable task was in fact a part of the preliminary work looking to reconstruction. The debris piled not cars merely, but required train-load after train-load to remove it from the scene of the disaster, leaving nothing but a yawning pit where before stood a great building, bristling with modern printing machinery and alive with the pulsing hearts and animated bodies of faithful men and women engaged in the work of producing the Los Angeles Times every morning in the year.

On this page we present, first, a view of the burning building; next, suggestions for a suitable newspaper home to take the place of the one destroyed. On the succeeding page are presented a series of graphic photographs, taken on the spot some at the very hour of the mighty calamity, some a few days after the disaster occurred.

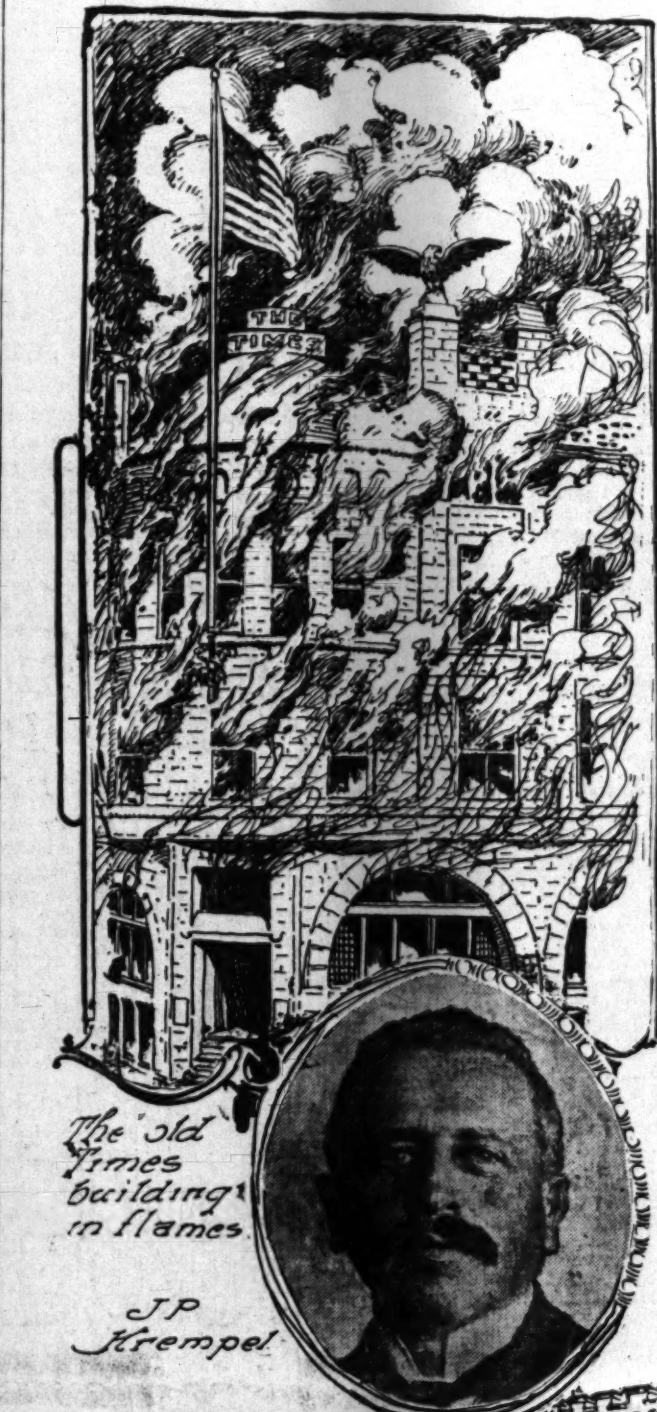

The architectural suggestions for the new building are suggestions only; the exterior form of the final structure not yet having been fully settled upon by the owners, though the modifications to be made will not be material. The building will, for the sake of the sentiment embodied and the element of seamliness involved, resemble to no small degree the old building, with its bold granite front and somewhat fortress-like appearance. The new structure will be wider and higher than the old, with similar entrances on both First and Broadway. There will be a capacious and convenient alley, open to the sky, on the east side. The building will be characterized by massive walls, numerous windows, castellated, top terminations and a dome, with a massive tower crowning the whole. It is designed to make the building fire and bomb proof, and also especially adapted to the practical, precise and peculiar requirements of a modern daily newspaper; it will be three or four stories high, with a basement and sub-basement. It will be occupied by The Times exclusively, from front to rear—from top to bottom.

Kremple & Erkes are the architects. Carl Leonardt, the contractor, and The Times-Mirror Company the owners and builders.

THE FACTS.

Cause—Loss—Insurance—Investigations—Conclusions—The Future and the Underlying Purpose of The Times Publishers.

The total loss from dynamite and fire and from collateral injuries to the property exceeded a little more than $500,000, one-half covered by insurance (all of which was collected). But for the hapless dead there was no insurance, and could be none.

Twenty of The Times force were hurried into, eternally, and their bodies cremated in the ruins. They fell like soldiers at their posts of duty. Their sublime fidelity and their sacred memories are enshrined in the hearts of their families, friends, co-workers and countrymen. The crime was investigated—first by a committee appointed by Mayor Alexander, next by the Coroner's jury, and, finally, by the grand jury of Los Angeles county. All of these bodies, after faithful, formal, thorough investigation, reached, each for itself, the unanimous finding that the destruction was due to criminal design and not to accident. The Citizens' Committee, carefully selected from among leading residents (and appointed by the Mayor whose administration was not politically friendly to The Times) was given specific instructions to investigate the cause of the explosion and report the facts. This committee sat for days, taking the testimony of expert witnesses and others, and carefully examining the ruins. Their unanimous official report was that "the cause of the disaster was due to some high explosive force, such as nitroglycerin or a product of nitroglycerin."

The conclusion reached by this committee of citizens was supported by the grand jury of Los Angeles county, which acting in concert with the former committee, and after examining 174 witnesses, and having brought before it many exhibits and much documentary evidence, reported as follows: "The evidence shows, without contradiction, that the destruction of the Times Building was caused primarily by an explosion of tremendous power; that this explosion was followed by fire, which contributed to the horror of the catastrophe; that prior to such explosion there was no fire. At the outset of the inquiry it became necessary to determine whether or not the primary explosion was that of a high-power local explosive, or was gas. We unanimously report that there was placed in the Times Building, in that part thereof known as 'ink alley,' a high-power explosive, in the nature of dynamite or nitroglycerin, and that the origin of the catastrophe may be found in the destruction wrought by this agency."

The Coroner's jury, which, after the adjournment of the grand jury, remained in session several weeks, taking testimony that had not been presented in the Mayor's Committee or to the grand jury, reported as follows: "The Times Building was destroyed and a great number of the employees killed by an explosion, followed by fire, said explosion being caused by a high explosive, other than illuminating gas, placed there by a party or parties unknown to this jury."

In his special report on the disaster made to the stockholders of The Times-Mirror Company in the latter part of October, 1910, the president of the company said: "Our loyal men are dead, but The Times lives, and will live on. It cannot be destroyed; it will go on fighting the old battle with even greater determination than before; it will continue to uphold the sacred cause of republican liberty and industrial freedom which it has so long upheld; and we, its defenders, will not be found wanting should the demands of the future put upon us even severer tests. The crime, committed in the silent watches of the night, ways fruitless—to crush or discredit The Times. Throughout the entire vicious campaign of proscription there never was even a pretense on the part of honest men, knowing the truth, that The Times ever overworked or underpaid its men.

On this point the facts and the record are strongly in favor of The Times and emphatically against the false-heroes, as well as against some honestly deluded people who have been deceived by them. At the very time of the strike of August 4, 1910, the wages of our printers were fully up to "the scale," averaging more than $24 a week of six days; and after that strike the piece rate was voluntarily raised

LONDON, July 5.—Chester Bailey Fernald, who established himself some years ago with dramatic London by his Chinese and Japanese plays, has just been dividing the critics on the subject of a modern play called "The Married Woman." Fernald is a Bostonian by birth, a San Franciscan by adoption and a strong believer in the future of Portland, Or., where he holds property. His Chinatown tragedy, "The Cat and the Cherub," has just been revived in London, with all its old success. It is a most atmospheric piece which runs its swift course within an hour. Lord Haldane, on seeing it, declined to stay for the longer piece which followed, "Having seen 'The Cat and the Cherub,'" he said, "I don't want to spoil the impression by seeing any other piece in the same evening."

"The Married Woman" was produced by the Incorporated Stage Society, which has brought out the best successes of Shaw, Galsworthy, Barker, Arnold Bennett and others. It was received with the closest attention throughout and with a constant ripple of laughter, followed by persistent calls for the author, to ing the tendency to unsettle the public mind as to such matters. H. G. Wells, whose matrimonial adventures are so well known, has written an article in the London Times, which is a very clever, truly amusing comedy, which surprised, puzzled and delighted the audience when I saw it. "There is nothing to suggest that Fernald is hostile to marriage as an institution. All this sounds as if the play were a dull tract, whereas it is a very clever, truly amusing comedy, which surprised, puzzled and delighted the audience when I saw it." "We could have shrieked with the staidness and futility of it all," says The Pall Mall Gazette. "There is a comedy of manners in it, but it is hardly an uninteresting moment in the whole of the three acts," says The Academy. "The dialogue abounded in smart epigrams throughout," says The Morning Post. "The dialogue has not merely the wit, that is, that can only be properly appreciated by bearing in mind the circumstances and the speaker." "It was a comedy of manners, in a brilliant and witty, and held up a lofty ideal of sex relationship," says The Evening Times. And so on. All this teaches us very little about the play, but it teaches us something about the value of dramatic criticism. Perhaps the last quotation is the most pertinent; and it is highly probable that if produced in America a Fernald, like Edmond Hamilton, author of "Kismet," comes a household name. Fernald is apparently intending to become a member of the American colony here.

Every short story Captain Kettle, that darling of fiction, who holds in fiction today the place formerly occupied by James H. Murray. Probably more than a dozen of the Captain Kettle stories are of his Creator, if that is not too quiet rest in spectacles, who in stuffy London, or perhaps in the undergrowth of the country, is doing wrong, for Cutliss full name is Captain Charles John Cutliss—Hyno—is as adventurous his way, as his creation the list of his travels is long. He has been in book. Some of the places visited are the Congo River, the Amazon, the Lapland, Algeira, northern Morocco. Or, as he says, that he has been in the United States, Canada, countries of Europe.

I met Mr. Fernald in the city of New York, and he told me that he had been to Mexico.

"Mexico," he said from a novelist's sense of fine, strong, which never has been. I never see anything modern Mexico than to. So knowing I mean to try my best. Mr. Hyne didn't more secrets about can't tell you where his almost equally Commander McLean mission for a while whether we are to see the end of some new venture.

If Mr. Hyne succeeds gold from the Mexican side it won't be a mining venture then.

WARRING ON OPIUM TRADE.

This City Principal Point
For Distribution.

Orders Received by Phone
From Club Members.

Thousands of Tins Smuggled
in Annually.

An illicit industry representing an insignificant investment, but paying dividends that would make the yearly receipts of a legitimate business concern look like the daily receipts of a lunch counter in comparison, is centered in Los Angeles, according to Inspector Fred C. Roden of the State Board of Pharmacy.

Roden has been conducting a crusade here for several weeks against dealers in contraband opium, and already eighty Chinamen have been arrested. This industry, operated under a central organization, has agents in every city of consequence in the United States, and branch offices in many

the hundreds of thousands, and include people in many walks of life, but mostly Chinese.

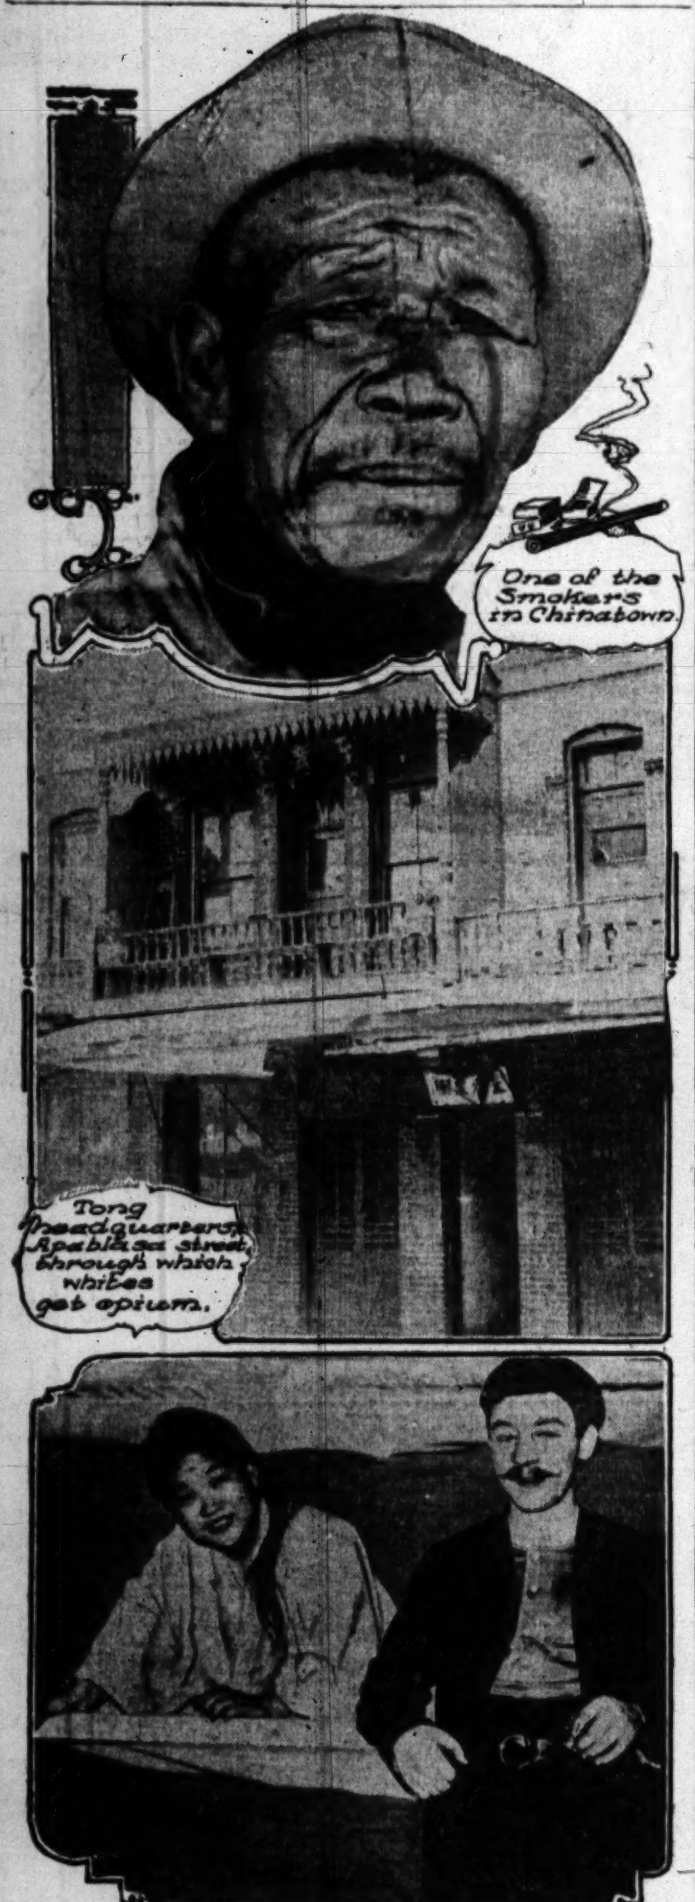

According to government officials, the government spends a fortune annually. The government's officers have done much to suppress the traffic, but their efforts have worked more or less in favor of those behind the big distributing industry. The harder it is to secure opium, the greater the price placed on it by the dealers. The increase in profits is always greater in proportion than the increase in cost. The patrons must be supplied with the drug at any cost.

Having formed the opium-smoking habit, they are unable to get along without it, and the amount of the drug they consume is limited only by the amount of money they are able to raise. Those who have not sufficient means to keep themselves supplied with opium get the money by their wits, but it is nevertheless true that the white users take the greatest chances in securing money to buy the drug, and are more desperate when kept without it than the Chinese smokers.

One of the means employed by Americans to make it easier to obtain opium is to join the Chinese Free Masons. There are two lodges of this order in Los Angeles. They are the Hop Sing tong, with headquarters at No. 325 North Los Angeles street, and the Bing Quong tong, with headquarters at No. 325 Apollonia street. According to the officers, there are more than 100 American members of the order in Los Angeles alone, and more than 1000 on the Pacific Coast.

DISTRIBUTING POINT.

The greatest distributing point for local consumers of opium has been at the corner of Los Angeles and Commercial streets. The drug is usu-

They figure in the "Dope" industry.

Typical characters identified with the illicit opium traffic and one of the Los Angeles places through which officers believe it is indirectly transacted.

Los Angeles is the main distributing point for opium in the United States. This is due to its geographical proximity to Mexico, whose laws do not prohibit the manufacture or sale of opium. There is no duty charge by the Mexican government on opium shipped to its shores. The original cost of opium is very small, its manufacture costing less than would be expended for a proportionate amount of tea or coffee, but owing to the large duty placed on it by the United States government, it is almost prohibitive in this country.

It is easy to see that the inducement is great to bring it over the line from Mexico, especially when the price at which it is bought there and sold here is considered. A can of opium of the best grade can be purchased in Mexico for $10. It sells in Los Angeles for $60. The average price is $40. The weight of these tins is less than half a pound.

ENDLESS STRUGGLE.

In order to apprehend the smugglers, the United States government has sent a large force of Chinese who control the drug.

The largest amount of opium which

Instant Relief for Sore Feet

Sore Feet, Tender Feet and Swollen Feet Cured Every Time. Tiz Makes Sore Feet Well, No Matter What Ails Them.

Police men all over the world use TIZ. Police men stand on their feet all day and know what sore, tender, sweaty, swollen feet really mean. They use TIZ because TIZ cures their feet right up. It keeps them in perfect condition. Read what this policeman has to say: "I was surprised and delighted with TIZ for tender feet. I hardly know how to thank you enough for it. It's superior to powders or plasters. I can keep my feet in perfect condition. Believe in my earnest gratitude for TIZ. I am a policeman and keep on my feet all day."—Emmy Harrell, Austin, Tex.

You never tried anything like TIZ before for your feet. It is different from anything ever before sold.

TIZ is not a powder. Powders and other foot remedies clog up the pores. TIZ draws out all poisonous exudations, which bring on soreness of the feet, and is the only remedy that does. TIZ cleans out every pore and glorifies the feet.

You'll never limp again or draw up your face in pain and you'll forget about your corns, bunions and callouses. You'll feel like a new person.

TIZ is for sale at all druggists at 50c and 50c per box, or it will be sent you direct if you wish, from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

reaches Los Angeles is smuggled in through San Pedro or across the Mexican border by way of Calexico or San Diego. Owing to the fact that papers are not necessary unless a boat is clearing for a foreign port, fishing craft can sail south to San Diego, and there meet boats from Mexico, loaded with opium which is transferred.

TIZ is for sale at all druggists at 50c and 50c per box, or it will be sent you direct if you wish, from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

SMUGGLING EXTENSIVE.

It is estimated that more than 10,000 tins of opium are smuggled into Los Angeles annually. The cost to the Chinese averages about $2 a tin, or a total of $20,000. The dealers retail it at an average price of $40 a tin, or a total of $400,000.

With the suppression of the regular traffic in opium in China, it is necessary to smuggle the drug into that country. The native Chinese smuggler is unusually crafty, and his methods keep the secret service police of China constantly on the alert.

It is only once in a hundred times that the secret service police find opium where they are led to believe it is. This is not due to their lack of diligence, but to the numerous ways the smuggler has of keeping from getting caught. The ships that go up and down the coast of China invariably carry with other cargo shipments of opium.

A row over a fan-tan game may furnish the officers with a tip. Sometimes they find the opium, but more often they don't. The fruitful raids produce about 100 tins of opium. Every part of the vessel is thoroughly searched. Not an inch is missed by the secret service men. So they are the Chinese that they manage to shift it around while the officers are searching the ship. It is concealed, sometimes, in the newest posts of the companion ways, in egg shells, in sacks of flour and bolts of silk.

Again it is concealed in clocks—opium taking the place of the usual mechanism. One Chinaman has made millions in this manner. His name is Hop Ling and he lives in Saigon, China, part of the time, and at Bangkok the remainder. He has built up a great trade.

There is no end of ways resorted to by the Chinese to conceal opium. In cargoes it is shipped from different ports in China to the United States, but owing to the watchfulness of the custom inspectors at Seattle and San Francisco, little now gets in through these ports. The headquarters of the Chinese coast smugglers is Kowloon, a little town across the bay from Hong Kong.

NEW YORKERS' FUNFEST.

Orators Cut Out of Annual Picnic to Be Held at Redondo Next Saturday—Just Fun.

The New York State Society of Southern California will hold its annual outing at Redondo on Saturday, July 29, to which all former residents of New York are invited. The speakers have been cut out, and the announcement is made "no addresses, just fun." Round-trip tickets are for sale at No. 427 South Broadway, at 50 cents; children, 25 cents, which include identification badges. There will be dancing and athletic sports, and plenty of fun for everyone. Cars will leave Second and Spring streets at 9 o'clock a.m., and every twenty minutes thereafter.

AN INTERESTING RELIC.

Sons of Revolution Presented With Flag That Flew at Masthead of the Kearsarge Fifty Years Ago.

The society of Sons of the Revolution, has on exhibition at its hall in the San Fernando building, an American flag that flew at the United States battleship Kearsarge, when she sunk the Alabama. This flag was presented to the society by an officer of the Navy, who secured it during the Civil War, and is accompanied by his affidavit, telling how he got it after the engagement. It is now a most interesting relic, and is highly prized by the Sons of the Revolution.

Summer Egg Dish.
Egg timbales are a dainty dish for luncheon on a warm day. If one does not possess the regular timbale dishes, ordinary cups may be used. To four well-beaten eggs add one scant cup of very mild milk and season to taste with salt, pepper, parsley and, if liked, a little onion juice. Pour into buttered molds and stand in a pan half-filled with hot water and bake in a moderate oven until firm. Turn out on a hot platter and garnish with mushroom sauce. Four eggs in this recipe will fill six small timbale molds.

A Florida.
To amuse the children during the long summer days, it is necessary to look up something new. I saw in one of the oriental stores a box filled with small ships—about a dozen of them—already to sail. It was called "Uncle Sam's Navy," and would interest children in the back yard
where a small pool could be created.

Fashion's Breath.
On small hats, particularly allegrettes are triumphant among the trimmings of the moment. They are simple and yet dainty is the combination of natural-colored pongee
and Persian silk.

Plain purses are shown, with a heavy flat cording inserted in the edge of each one.
Gowns are not made without weight, no matter how they are cut and trimmed.

Do not forget the very important giraffe and ash on your afternoon dress. It is seen everywhere, and adds an indisputable charm to frocks
of any description.

As the extreme of the very short jackets, the long redingotes stand out very prominently. They are of serge and rough silks, trimmed with wide silk braids.

The indefinite shade known as twilight is in for a great run. The material that sets off its elusive charm best—chiffon. Twilight chiffon will be a great demand.

Young girls have foulard, pongee
and shantung frocks with "baby" Irish or Venise lace as band or interior for yoke and undersleeves.
The giraffe or ash is important.

The millinery departments have been invaded by embroideries, and find entire parts and trimmings of the dainty cotton embroideries now offered by the manufacturers can scarcely be overestimated.

Another work of the federation which is productive of great good is the providing of scholarships for children who would otherwise have to work to help support the family.
During the past year five scholarships have been provided, enabling five boys and girls to continue in school who would otherwise have had to leave. Assistance has also been given to a large number of families, books,
clothing, loans and employment have
been provided to enable parents to keep their children in school. This work is under the direction of the Mutual Benefit Committee, of which Mrs. H. C.
Waddell is chairman.

The work of the Emergency Committee of the federation is not
varied; it consists of relieving distress
of every kind with consideration
and promptness. Its rule is to relieve first and investigate afterwards when emergencies arise. Every case dealt
with is carefully looked into and records are kept of all the work done.
The aim is not merely to give temporary aid, but to help the needy to help themselves.

The president of the federation,
Mrs. Chalmers Smith, and her associates are grateful to Barker Bros. for
the generosity that has made them
the beneficiary of this unique bread-baking contest. They are also very grateful to Mrs. Haffner for her valuable support and the interest she
has shown in making the affair a success.

They are working eagerly to do their
share in increasing the number of contestants and in securing bidders for
the prize loaves.

clothing, loans and employment have
been provided to enable parents to keep their children in school. This work is under the direction of the Mutual Benefit Committee, of which Mrs. H. C.
Waddell is chairman.

The work of the Emergency Committee of the federation is not
varied; it consists of relieving distress
of every kind with consideration
and promptness. Its rule is to relieve
first and investigate afterwards when
emergencies arise. Every case dealt
with is carefully looked into and records are kept of all the work done.
The aim is not merely to give temporary aid, but to help the needy to
help themselves.

The president of the federation,
Mrs. Chalmers Smith, and her associates are grateful to Barker Bros. for
the generosity that has made them
the beneficiary of this unique bread-
baking contest. They are also very grateful to Mrs. Haffner for her
valuable support and the interest she
has shown in making the affair a success.

They are working eagerly to do their
share in increasing the number of
contestants and in securing bidders for
the prize loaves.

HAS TROUBLES; SMILES, TOO.

Trolley Conductor Learns to Think Twice.

Fare Puncher Tempted to Punch Passenger.

Woman With a Dog Is Too Much for Him.

BY BRITT CLARK.

Conductor, Pacific Electric.

After a trolley conductor is slapped in the face, metaphorically speaking, or a day or two, he learns patience. That's one of the many good things about being captain of a car. He cultivates the habit of thinking twice before he speaks, and three times before he strikes back.

Nine years ago, when I first went on the road, I had three fights the first day. I had three fights the first day. I had three fights the first day.

Things happen every day which make a conductor, but I remember only one incident that flabbergasted me. It was a woman with a dog. A nicely-dressed woman got on my car and reached for the fare. I noticed her dog. I noticed her dog. I noticed her dog.

She opened her coat, brought out a lap dog, and, to my astonishment, held him out with his nose to the street, and sweetly cooed to him.

"Look down, Fido. Your mother's here."

"Indignant? You bet I was; but what could I say?"

After a while the humor of the incident struck me. I told my wife about it when I got home, and she said she would laugh, too, but she didn't. She said a thing like "that" and her side.

When a patron can hand it to you, you realize that there is something in life besides smiles. He got my car, followed by a large dog, and sat down inside, the dog at his feet. I approached him and said: "No dogs are allowed inside of the car."

"That dog don't belong to me," he replied.

"He followed you in," I retorted.

"Well, so did you," he said. I stared at him a moment, and then to the other end of the car to think over.

Now take a warm day, when you've had plenty to do and the car has been rubbed the wrong way, and encounter a man like this: "Where is this car going?" he asked. "Sixth to Olive, Olive to Sixth, Seventh to Figueroa, Figueroa to Second, Second to Lake Shore and First, Lake Shore to Alhambra, Alhambra to a private right-of-way, and end to Tropic and Glendale."

You see, I went to a great deal of trouble about it. The man replied: "Thank you very much. Can you tell me how to get to the corner of 1st and Main streets?"

"HER PAPA, AIN'T YOU?"

There is a western motto that I think about. It is: "Live every day so that you can look every damn day in the eye and tell him to go to it." This applies, of course, to men, but there was one woman who hoodooed that motto. She was tall and colored, and the passenger with a child, which certainly was 12 years old. When I came to her for a fare, she handed me a single answer.

"Well, that girl with you?" I asked.

"Yes," she replied.

"Is she more than 5, isn't she?"

"Deed you ought to know," she said, "case you're her papa, is you?"

Then she guffawed, and the passenger roared, and I had business at the end of the car.

Experiences like these I have related often, and while they may annoy you at the time, if you analyze them, it broadens you. I am told that Los Angeles has the finest body of policemen in the world. They are the best remunerated. You will find men in the controller or ringing the bell from almost every walk of life. There are college men, dentists, physicians, civil engineers, chemists, and here, who for various reasons are living on the cars, and they are not named of it. Even when they can stretch themselves at something more tedious they stick to the controller's punch. We have our code of ethics, and we do not consider it because we are uniformed. We are buttons, that it is a badge of gradation. It is an honest, honorable employment, full of excitement and danger and the greatest place in a world to rub up against the foibles of humanity, to learn repression and experience.

We are asked all sorts of questions, foolish, ridiculous and inane, and we try to be polite and give all the information. Just to show you a sample, there was a man who asked me how tall that freak palm at Eighth and Olive streets. I told him it was 42 feet, two inches, and when he didn't want to know why it was two inches.

TO "PIMPLE" HEIGHTS.

An elderly woman with a delightful smile said she wanted to go to "Pimple" Heights. That was a poor, asked her if she didn't mean Pico Heights. No, she meant, "Pimple."

"Oh," I exclaimed brightening—it takes a fellow feel good when he hears a "Pimple"—"You want Boy's Heights?"

"Maybe you're right," she replied. "I've been away for ten years. When I left it was 'Pimple.' It's a hill now, is it?"

That would have made some sense, but I knew the old lady was wrong, and I took pains to explain her that it was not, but that Boyle, and she rewarded me with:

"It's all wain to me whether it's Pimple or Boyle, I got there."

I have just tried to hit the high note—the things that stick in our memory. The traveling public is quick to see an act of discourtesy, but does not see the kindly act. They see us and back and let the old lady clamber on as best she can, but do not see us assist her off. They hear every unkind word that is spoken, but seldom hear the kind one. They hear the smooth or plucked coin, or the wrong transfer, but do not see us accept the worst out of them.

SMILES, TOO.

Don't forget the smiles, for they are just as cheap as frowns and give far more pleasure.

A dignified young lady said to me: "I beg your pardon?" I exclaimed, politely indignant.

"I said: Do you go to Hill street?"

"Never mind what you think," she snapped me off.

Just one more I'll have to tell and quit. A German woman got on with a grip and a box. When the car arrived at her street, I asked her for the box.

"Nein," she exclaimed, "you take dot grip first; I will give you the smallpot."

STORIES WELL TOLD.

As Penitent Seen Preacher.

One of Lord Desborough's best anecdotes relates to a clergyman who was far more at home in the hunting field than in the pulpit. On the morning of a meet he was much annoyed at having to officiate at a funeral, but this over he mounted his horse and started in pursuit of his friends. On the road he sought information of an old woman with a donkey cart.

"Well," she said, "if you ride to the top of the hill you will come to a 'meester'; then if you turn to the right you'll be likely to come up with them."

Handing her a shilling he said: "My good woman, why did you call the signpost a minister?"

"Why you see, sir, it's like this: We used to call 'em signposts, but since you've been in these parts we calls 'em Meesters, 'cos, though they points out folks the way, they never saves themselves. Go on, Neddy."

Follow the Procession.

An Episcopal bishop in a New England State was the guest of a friend during his stay in a small town. The bishop conducted the services Sunday morning and seemed suddenly irritated by the fact that his friend in the body of the church was always about five words behind the rest of the congregation during the recital of the Apostles' Creed.

At dinner that afternoon the eminent divine turned suddenly to his host and asked, with some asperity: "John, why can't you descend into

WHY ACTRESSES NEVER GROW OLD.

(Theatrical World.)

Nothing concerning the profession seems more puzzling to the dear old public than the perpetual youth of our feminine members. How often we hear remarks like "Why, I saw her as Juliet forty years ago and she does not look a year older now!" Of course, allowance is made for make-up, but when they see us on the stage at close range, they need another explanation. How strange women generally have not learned the secret of keeping the face young! How almost a matter of getting an ounce of mercuric oxide at the drug store, apply it like cold cream, and in the morning wash it off! We know how this gradually, imperceptibly absorbs old cuticle, keeping the complexion new and fresh, free from fine lines, sallowness or overredness. We know, too, that this mercuric oxide is the reason actresses don't wear moth patches, liver spots, pimples and the like. Why don't our sisters on the other side of the footlights learn the reason, and profit by it?

Famous in a Day for the Beauty of Her Hands and Arms.

A Free Prescription That Does Its Work Over Night—You Can Prepare It At Your Own Home.

"It's my own discovery, and it takes just one night to get such marvelous results," says Miss Grace Benson, when her friends ask her about the marvelous change in the appearance of her hands and arms. "You can do the same thing if you will take my advice," she says. "I feel it my duty to tell every woman what this wonderful prescription did for me. Just think of it, it did all this in a night! It affords me a way of pleasure to tell anyone else just how such remarkable results were brought about. The prescription, which can be identical in its action, has removed every defect from my hands and arms. You can keep no idea of the marvelous change it will make in just one application. The prescription, which can be prepared at your own home, is as follows: Go to any drug store and buy an empty two-ounce bottle and also a one-ounce bottle of Mercuric Oxide. Pour the entire bottle of Mercuric Oxide into the two-ounce bottle, and add a quarter ounce of water and mix with water. Mix this at home, then you know that it is the genuine article. Apply night and morning. The first application will remove all discolorations, such as tan, sun spots, freckles, coarse pores, roughness and wrinkles, and in fact, every blemish the hands and arms are heir to. It also produces a marvelous effect on the neck and shoulders. If the neck is discolored from being exposed to the sun or from wearing high collars, this prescription will immediately relieve that condition. No matter how rough and unattractive the hands and arms, or what abuses they have had through hard work and exposure to the sun and wind, this prescription will work a wonderful transformation in 12 hours at the most. Thousands of women are using this prescription with just the same results that I have had."

tion in "the new district" that is to result from the new apportionment. E. J. Gilbert seems to have been the one to offer Roberts the new job in the uncreated district. Roberts is reported to have said his first duty is to the Governor and that he will not run unless the Governor says so. When Roberts was appointed Treasurer it was explained that his hesitancy to accept was due to the fact that he wanted the superintendency of banks, which was given to Treasurer Williams. Roberts really wanted this place and was not prepared to accept the Treasurer'ship. It was also reported then that he has Congressional ambition. The interesting thing now is that Roberts should make his whole political future subject to the caprice of an explosive executive who was elected on an anti-boos platform. If there is no new district then Roberts will be urged to run in the present Eighth District, represented by S. C. Smith of Bakerfield.

The latest I hear in the municipal campaign is that an effort is being made to induce Thomas E. Gibson, political associate of Earl and Lisner, to become a candidate for Mayor. Gibson is announced as the amalgamated and incorporated sweet essence of civic patriotism and governmental ingenuity and it is proposed that he run on a platform of municipal ownership, especially of the harbor railroad. There is reason to believe, however, that Gibson is not ready to throw down the gauntlet to your Uncle Aleck, which his candidacy could not avoid. The candidacy of Gibson would offer the Good Government organization some concern, for it would be asked to decide between two real-for-sure Good-guys. It has already endorsed Uncle Aleck. If Gibson became a candidate it must, to keep its face straight, say something good about him. Two years ago the G.G.O. would not endorse a straight set of nine candidates for Council. It picked seven and recommended all of them. If it has two candidates for Mayor would it recommend both? Gibson says the report of his candidacy. "I told the Mayor that there are three reasons why I am not a candidate—I don't want the office, I would rather by Harbor Commissioner, and I am for him for re-election."

Lisner has also joined the bandwagon by announcing his fealty to Uncle Aleck and his desire for the Mayor's re-election. Even under this blow the Mayor seems to be bearing up bravely. Lisner's support is not courted by any candidate, and Uncle Aleck did his best to send the little boss into some other fellow's camp, but Lisner refuses to stay sent. Gregory and Muesel workers were elated yesterday when it became known that Lisner is to again handicap Uncle Aleck.

The municipal campaign is moving on without distracting the average voter very much. Muesel has opened headquarters and is working hard on the primary preliminary. Gregory is also busy. Harriman and his socialists are almost ready to file their petitions. Muesel has secured Perry Weidner to manage his campaign—Weidner who might be Mayor himself if he would. Gregory is to have a manager of much the same caliber, I am told. He is to be announced Wednesday in the office of County Assessor. But Uncle Aleck is still leaving it all to the Good Government organization and hasn't even taken out his petition yet. Those who have taken out petitions are Muesel, Gregory and Harriman, for Mayor; Charles M. Smith, a deputy in the office of County Assessor; and John J. Anderson and Barney Hopkins, for Assessor, and Barney Healy, J. A. Anderson and J. F. Cannon for Council. The socialists have also taken out a blanket petition for those nominated two months ago at the "mass" meeting. THE WATCHMAN.

GLIMPSES OF SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—The railroad chiefs from all over the country have been gathering here the past week. It is reported that they discussed transportation facilities for the exposition. Whatever the import of their meeting it is pretty well settled that the Western Pacific and the Southern Pacific is to build another agreement. It is conceded that the Southern Pacific is to build another line from the city to the coast. Millionaire Kohl, who was seriously wounded by Adele Kohl, is not feeling vindictive toward her. She has been committed to the insane asylum and he is just as well satisfied as though she had been sent to prison. As long as she is kept there during his lifetime he is not worrying about what will happen after he is gone. It is not the unexpected that happened in the case of Thomas Harrison Reed, the executive secretary of Gov. Johnson. He has resigned in order to accept the full professorship of history and political sciences in the State University. Reed had accepted the political job it was said that he was to give concrete form to advanced political thought. Instead of that he found that his duties consisted of addressing envelopes, etc., so he resolved to return to more congenial pursuits. There is more talk in the air, as well as on the streets, about a terminal depot. When the people see one actually started they will believe that the good news is true. The railroad men are as much as oysters about the matter, but it may eventually be more than a shell. The political sensation of the week is the labor union ticket for Supervisor. Of course it was known in advance that the eleven labor incumbents would be endorsed. It was not believed possible that "Andy" Gallagher and "Mike" Casey could be induced to run. It is said that they are candidates for office to prove their loyalty to P. H. McCarthy. The friends of Mayor McCarthy are industriously spreading the prophecy that he is sure to win. They say that if the election had been held a month ago Ralph might have stood a show to win, but now he is growing weaker. Impartial observers, however, do not take much stock in this forecast, and it is more than an even bet that Ralph will win. One of the greatest arguments being used against Ralph by the labor union people is the fact that as a director he voted for Lake Merced as a site for the fair, while McCarthy as another director voted for Golden Gate Park. It is believed that more voters favor the park than Lake Merced. The henchmen of the present city administration say also that the delay in selecting the site is keeping men out of work and is making them hostile to a business men's party. Quite a number of people are sore at the fair directors for going to San Diego to participate in the exercises for breaking ground for the fair in that city. They think it would have been wiser for the trustees to have remained at home to wrestle with the problem of the selection of a site instead of offering themselves as an object lesson in dilatory action. Just behind the big guns at the Presidio are militiamen bravely manning them and between times fearlessly attacking army beans. It is hoped that our boys will survive the ordeal of getting up at the break of dawn to drill instead of going to bed at that time, as some of them have been accustomed to doing in the past. The Barbara Coast has no longer a monopoly of the "Grisly Bear" dance. Jerome Bessity, social leader of a certain set, has introduced it into the well-cared-in the vicinity of Market street. He is meeting with pronounced success and he has fond dreams of getting it tried out at the Palace Hotel. RECEPTION TO NEBRASKAN. An informal reception will be held at the Y.W.C.A. on Monday night for Chancellor Avery of the Nebraska State University and Mrs. Avery, who are now visiting in this city. It will be under the auspices of the Nebraska Society, and all former residents of the State are invited to attend. NOTED PREACHER HERE. Rev. Peter Ainslee of Baltimore, known as one of the greatest preachers among the Disciples of Christ, will occupy the pulpit of Rev. A. C. Smith, in the First Christian Church, this evening. He comes here as one of the speakers at the Christian convention, which will be held at Long Beach next week. MISSION STUDY-SCHOOL. A session of the Mission Study-School will be held in the First Methodist Church this afternoon at 2 o'clock, when an address will be delivered by Mrs. D. H. Wells, under the title "The Hope in the World's Unrest." The school will continue through Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons meeting each day at 2 o'clock. Teachers Visiting Here. Prof. George H. Barton of Boston, head of a party of twenty-five delegates to the National Education Association, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday. They will leave Los Angeles for the East over the Santa Fe, August 1.

Honest Advice to Consumptives

Somewhere there exists a vast amount of skepticism as to the possibility of curing Consumption. If ourselves are afflicted with Tuberculosis, we should do just what we ask others to do—take Eckman's Alternative. (Signed) HOWARD L. KLOTZ. Gentlemen: "For two years I was afflicted with hemorrhages of the lungs. Our family physician advised another climate. In March, 1909, I learned of Eckman's Alternative and began taking it. I am at present in excellent health and feel that as long as I can obtain Eckman's Alternative, I have no fear of Consumption." (Signed) FULLER details of above case on request. Eckman's Alternative is for Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Affections. For sale by The Owl Drug Co.'s stores, and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet of cured cases, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.

with the fact that these less important houses took space in the comic supplement of the Disc.
Again—oh, hush!

For this noble and high-principled Journal would not stoop to such a cheap and dishonest trick as keeping the theatrical news from the dear public simply because certain theaters did not see fit to contribute to its much needed support.

A little error in "make-up"—wasn't it, Toke?

Depressing Comedy.

Is there nothing to be done about the Dutch comedian—that fat, German humorist with the slap-stick wit and the inverted vocabulary? He has been with us and tortured us long enough.

At first it was not so bad. There was a risible sensation to be gotten from his absurd jargon. When he mopped the "Presbyterian" from his brow, and philosophically remarked, "O, what the Jews!" we laughed. "Now let me ask myself an answer," we got very much the same sensation out of it that we did when, as a child, we turned the picture upside down to see the people stand on their heads.

But after we had seen them balancing on their heads, and the humor of novelty wore off and the humor of the stunt was gone.

So has the humor of the German comedian gone. He has twisted all the popular phrases out of shape so long and turned the English language upside down generally so continually that we no longer appreciate the absurdity of things being tortured out of shape.

The German comedian is always short and fat. Whether he is naturally fat or not, a vestigial bladder or a pillow is included in his wardrobe. On his chin is a square growth of blond whiskers, and his hair is long and curly. He wears a flat derby, a short coat, enormous trousers, a multi-colored vest, and carries a large cane. One can never escape him. A burlesque show would have to close its doors (or think it had to) if he were taken sick before the performance. He is the central figure—the star around whom revolve all the lesser stars and satellites. In vaudeville he is continually appearing; and even serious plays include him in a modified form.

Oh, please—the hook!

Being Humane.

A very refined lady who is crazy about cats has denounced me because I believe in scientific research. Probably the lady is a faith healer, or a voodoo, or a new-thoughter, or some other ultra, who invents elaborate theories in the laying on of hands for curative purposes. Whatever her mad, though, she is frankly ashamed of it, for she chooses to hide her identity behind some cryptic initials.

Recently she gave birth to the following flowery gem of rhetoric:

"I would wish no rabbits, pups or guinea pigs sacrificed to save my life, for each of these creatures is the same God-given right to live that I have. If my life were to be saved at the expense of a puppy being tortured to death, I should carry a load of shame and sorrow in my heart for the rest of my days."

Here we have the anti-vivisectionist's logic at its noblest and best. This is not the common logic of worldlings and scoffers like myself, but a sort of refined and ineffable logic which has to do only with things spiritual. It would be quite ignoble of me, perhaps, to suggest that this anonymous lady were stricken with smallpox, or diphtheria, or lockjaw, or the bubonic plague, or might be induced to permit some blood-thirsty and shameless M.D. to inject in her the serum which have been discovered through vivisection.

But maybe I wrong her. She may not be as cruel and unprincipled as this. She would no doubt choose the more noble course of dying in horrible agony—she even admits it in the above quoted rhetorical gem. I leave it to a braver man than I to intimate that she is not sincere.

However, as a general thing these anti-vivisectionists must not be taken too seriously. For the most part, their ranks are made up of members of the different faith-healing sects, of elderly virgins who are daft over pets, and emasculated old men who enjoy having their senile vanity pandered to by allowing dogs to lick them.

Being human, of course, these unthinking sentimentalists are illogical. But it is a vicious and dangerous parody. Their endeavor to thwart the progress of medical science is nothing more or less than an elaborate and terrible conspiracy against the health and well-being, not only of those who are now living, but against those yet unborn. When any person deliberately and cold-bloodedly asserts that the lives of a few guinea pigs and mongrel puppies are worth more than the health of three-fourths of the children that are born into the world, he or she should be considered a more dangerous enemy of society than any criminal now serving time in the penitentiary.

Keyes, the great general apologist, has estimated that in three-fourths of all children born today there is some taint of hereditary syphilis. Much of the blindness in children is due to this disease. It has brought more horrible agony and shame and suffering to innocent people than any other disease known to science. It has always been the most terrible and far-reaching scourge with which the human race has ever been afflicted. And now, at a cost of several rabbits and a few mice, Ehrlich has mastered this scourge, so that, with the proper legislation concerning salvarsan, there is every reason to believe that this disease will be eradicated.

And yet, had these well-meaning but unconsciously vicious sentimentalists had their way, this disease would have been given up to scientific investigation would have gone on unchecked.

It is not too late, however, for the anti-vivisectionists to get in one more stroke; for as yet there has been found no cure for cancer. Perhaps if they are energetic enough they may be able to put an end to the research in this line at the Rockefeller Institute, so that this horrible, decaying disease may go down the ages as a sweet and noble monument to their humanitarianism.

At the present day, of all people who reach the age of 25, one in every ten women, and one in every twenty men, eventually die of cancer. This disease is steadily on the increase and presents one of the most terrifying conditions in all modern disease. Only those who have been through a cancer hospital can form any adequate idea of the horrible suffering and misery which precedes a cancerous death.

If the anti-vivisectionists can only have their way, the continuation of these distressing conditions will be assured.

Protecting Dumb Animals.

Let us carry out the sweet remarks of this lady anti-vivisectionist, who

Wrinkles Disappear As If By Magic

(From Denver Republican)
"In the removal of wrinkles I have discarded cosmetics entirely," writes Mme. Corsan, the celebrated Parisian beauty expert. "The results they produce are deceptive and never permanent. Wrinkling is only partially successful and it's too slow a method."

"I've never seen anything work such wonders as a simple, harmless solution any woman can prepare and use at home without the least trouble. A half pint of witch hazel and an ounce of good powdered azotite are all you'll need. Mix the two and apply this refreshing solution to your face daily. The effect is marvelous—instantaneous. The skin becomes firmer, 'tighter'—every wrinkle and sag is affected. You feel so refreshed after using the wash; you look refreshed, too; soon you will look ten years younger."

declares that she wishes no creature to be killed to save her life "as it has the same God-given right to live" that she has.

What about the rats that were killed in San Francisco to prevent the spread of the Black Death? This was a most cruel campaign of murder. Had we all been of the same noble and humanitarian instincts as this anonymous lady, we would not have harmed innocent rodents that were doing all in their power to devastate California with the bubonic plague. They, too, no doubt, had the same God-given right to live that this sweet lady has.

And what of the poor mosquitoes that, in our blood-lust, we butchersly murder—not to keep them from killing us, but merely from injuring us. The lady no doubt would permit these delightful little insects to nibble her all night rather than infringe upon their God-given right to live.

Then there is the house-fly. Oh, the shame of man's injustice and cruelty! So heartless are we that we invent different ways to murder these insect pests. These delightful little insects to nibble her all night rather than infringe upon their God-given right to live.

ST. LOUIS'S WIDOWS.

Thirteen Living in One Block and All of Them Are Anxiously Seeking New Husbands.

There are thirteen comely and desirable widows in St. Louis seeking husbands in chorus, says the St. Paul Dispatch. Several of them are reputed to be wealthy and a good half are young and vivacious. Incidentally they all live in the same block on Cass avenue.

These thirteen widows became husband-hungry during the wee hours of the morning while attending a wake. All were consoling the widow. Here is the line of conversation:

"I know how it is. I lost my husband six years ago."

"And I lost mine only a year ago."

"Mine was such a good and handsome man. How I miss him."

"And then the fourth chimed in, and so on down the list of thirteen. All agreed there isn't such another block in St. Louis, and they christened it "Widows' Row."

Then they dispatched this plaint to an afternoon newspaper:

"We have heard your paper does much good in many ways. Now, what can you do to help some of the widows. There are fourteen widows in the 2700 block on Cass avenue. Thirteen of us wish you would help us find husbands."

forgot about getting cool. But it is not too late; here is a stuffy theater.
One of our principal and most efficient methods of lowering the bodily temperature is by patronizing moving picture shows. In these operative holes (whose entire ventilating system consists of two small electric fans placed at opposite ends of the room,) we can experience all the joys of refrigeration. We forego the hot breezes of the ocean for the cooling saphirs of the electric fan.
In these crowded rooms, stifling and full of poor air, we may sit panting, the perspiration trickling down our faces, and watch cowboys and Indians strenuously chase and slaughter
one another on the sunbaked sands of Arizona.

After we have indulged in these strenuous and pore-opening exercises, if we are still not sufficiently cool, there is a roller-skating rink near-by, crowded to the utmost, where we can whirl and whirl (at a very small expense,) until we are chilly that all our nether garments are saturated with perspiration.
Wearing of this arctic amusement,
we hasten to the dance hall—that gilded edifice—where, for 5 cents a throw, we may hug sweltering ladies and whirl in mad delirium until our fingers become numb with cold.

HOMEWARD BOUND—AHOT!
When the hour of midnight comes,
we betink ourselves of home. Fatigued beyond description, our brains scrambled, our nervous systems on the verge of collapse, our money gone,
our emotions paralyzed, our whole systems reacting against the terrible shocks of the day, our linen wilted—
hot, tired and undone—we cling dispassionately to the strap of the homeward-bound car. Our day of rest, with its cool and peaceful quietude,
is at an end. On the morrow we return to our strenuous and nerve-racking duties.

Have I appeared to parody the strenuous resting of the pleasure-seeker? I have had no such intention.
It is not so very amusing nor yet humorously pathetic that people should go to the beach and spend their time keeping in hot houses, sweating in dance pavilions, struggling through tortuous mazes, throwing their hard-earned wages to merchandising gamblers, and in other wayward, while real quietude and peace are within walking distance, and while the sun, down in the ocean and the mist gathers on the horizon and the silent stars lift into the quiet sky,
all unseen.

Are the people to be ridiculed, snorted at, made fun of? Not at all.
When they go to the beach they become children. Their humanity—emerged for six days of the week—asserts itself. In all of us, no matter how old we get, there still remains the spirit of youth. It is something we never outgrow. When we descend from the crowded cars in the midst of the raucous minarets and the babel of megaphones and blaring music, we drop our years of learning and repression.

IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS.
What is the "shoot the chutes" but an elaborate cellar door? And when turn a perilous corner and dash down into space, clinging to the side of the car, is it very much different from the time when we turned the corner of the banisters and slid breathlessly to the newel post?
In our nonage, did we not put in the visitor's tea, crumbs in stee-bed, and tacks on uncle's chair?
Why, in our maturity, should we not try to greet people with baseballs or send them sprawling down stairways?
The principle is the same: the childish instinct which took such delight in watching uncle leap into the air from a well-placed tack has merely developed.

And, did not the dark closet beneath the stairway once, long ago, fascinate our juvenile minds? Is very terror magnetized us, and we would hover round it, half-hoping and half-fearing that a jolliedown might spring out. And, do you remember how you used to crawl into the dark closet of the hayloft and try to imagine you were lost? The dark closet and the hayloft no longer bewitch us these days, however.

Genuine STICKLEY ROCKERS

On Sale at Saving Prices

These Stickley Rockers are built to last. There's no weakness, no flaw in any Stickley product. Therefore they are worth the higher price which they usually bring.

But here's a chance to get them at prices lower than other stores ask for cheap imitations of Stickley stuff. Every rocker shown has been radically and ruthlessly reduced to make this one of the biggest and best offers of good furniture ever presented in this store.

Even at this rock-bottom price we still stick to our famous rule of giving the city's most.

flood was easily $1000, while the washouts in roads over the county,
generally, will easily bring the figures up by another $1000.

The county has bonded itself to put in some fifty more bridges and culverts at an estimated expense of four of the bridges are large and expensive affairs and will be put in before the spring rains come again. The authorities are now wondering how best to protect these new structures
from the floods, as well as to better protect the structures already built and which have been demonstrated as not immune from the devastation
which surely follows excessive rains.

SERPENT CREEK WAITS TO BITE.

Offers Menace to Colton and San Bernardino.

Fifty Thousand Dollar Loss Last Winter While the Damage Threatened Was Too Great to Calculate.
Supervisors Will Take Up Question
in the Near Future.

(Special Correspondence of The Times.)
SAN BERNARDINO, July 22.—The formation of the Lytle Creek storm drainage district will be officially discussed by the Board of Supervisors the 31st inst. Delay brings results the wiping out of a goodly portion of this city and Colton, and the annihilation of the city's Lytle Creek domestic water plant, as well as scores of pumping plants owned by private individuals and water companies furnishing water for the groves of Colton, Rialto, Bloomington and other localities. The railroads are also menaced. The Santa Fe last winter almost lost its freight yards, the County Hospital property was threatened, and many county bridges might have gone down had the storm continued.

On that occasion, San Bernardino woke up to find Lytle Creek boiling down Third street, through the very heart of the business district. Colton was similarly endangered, while the traction line between the two cities and the Southern Pacific had been severely crippled. The Santa Ana also went on a tear and threatened railroad bridges between the two towns.
As an instance of the fury of these floods the authorities discovered that within a few hours Lytle Creek had cut a channel twenty feet in depth and twice as many feet in width across a ten-acre barley field owned by one of the water corporations. The damage is of such a nature that the field will never again be a complete unbroken tract.

too immense to even calculate. Fortunately no individual ranches were damaged by the flood.

Colton property owners and officials were first to appeal to the Supervisors for the formation of a protection district. The railroads had for years tried to awaken an interest in the move. Colton finally so aroused the citizens of the valley that the Supervisors, with engineers, made a survey of the territory advisable to be included in a protection district.

MAY FORM DISTRICT.
VERDUGO WASH NEED.
(Special Correspondence of The Times.)
CASA VERDUGO, July 22.—There will be a meeting Monday to consider a proposed storm drainage district that is to furnish protection to portions of Glendale, West Glendale and a small area of the Casa Verdugo district from danger of inundation and damage to property in the rainy season

when the Verdugo Wash, which carries the storm waters from La Canada and La Crescenta valleys to the Los Angeles river, rises to the danger point. A petition for the organization of a storm drainage district has been presented to the county Supervisors.
A movement is on foot to interest a number of property owners in the San Fernando valley in the project and extend the district.

A Liquor Treatment Without a Failure

THE ORIGINAL NEAL THREE-DAY DRINK HABIT TREAT-MENT A SAVING GRACE

Indorsed and Recommended by All Who Investigate Its Merit. IT SAVES MEN FROM DRINK.

Your Right With Drink. Wake Up to the Fact That Craving for Drink is Getting the Best of You, and Will Soon Be Your Master, Body and Mind—Excessive Drinkers Regain Self-Mastery in Three Days
at the Neal Institute.

New Treatment for Alcoholism Finally Discovered—The Original Neal Three-Day Liquor Treatment—The New, Modern and Up-to-Date Way of Treating the Drink Habit—Safe, Sure and Thorough.

Not a "Sobering Up" Process, but Removal of All Appetite for Alcoholic Liquor.

In an attempt to free himself from the Chain of Remorse accompanying Failure, the "moderate drinker" will drink more deeply; but he will but forge another and stronger chain.

He tries to accomplish the impossible—make a Right of Two Wrongs;
he attempts to add Weakness to Weakness and make Strength.

Any kind of liquor drinking—moderate, steady, periodic—any kind of alcoholic liquor—brings the same result —an alcoholic-poisoned system. The poison is cumulative, causing a peculiar kind of nervousness which extends to every vital organ of the body. It dominates the brain—and this nervousness responds to no other sedative than alcohol in ever-increasing quantities. That is why a real, good true man continues to drink, once he starts
—why he can't stop.

The Neal is the one perfected treatment for liquor drinking—the one that brings positive, sure, certain results in each case in just three days—a longer period would be superfluous.

The liquor drinker can come to the Neal Institute today, take the Neal Treatment for three days—a compound less harmful than coffee—and go home
at the end of the third day with a system freed of every trace of the alcoholic poison—the poison that has been keeping his mental and physical health

And there are lots of "dues" besides those of the rent man, the ice man and the water collector. There are "dues."
These "dues" include the purchase of a summer suit, white
the prevailing special price is in effect.

It's a value and an offer that makes the average "half-price sale" look like a piker.

The fellow who obeys that insistent "do!" and gets a suit here and now, will save a good part of the "dues" for its making.

There are a couple of "don'ts," also that you ought to heed. "Don't" delay! "Don't" get fooled by the special offer of the $50-suit-for-$16 tailor, into thinking your saving when you get his unreasonably cut prices.

"Do" act now! "Do" order your suit at once!
And "Do" remember the price. It's due to yourself that you do all these things.

PAULSEN'S GOAT STILL AT HOME.

VAUDEVILLIANS HAVEN'T "GOT TO" ORPHEUM BOSS.

Subtlety of Big Man of the Stage of Clarence Brown Defies the Stars of the Varieties to Get Really Angry—Others to Become Over-Inquisitive.

BY JULIAN JOHNSON.

No vaudeville stage manager will ever be taxed for having a goat, for
all such goats have been gotten long
ago.

There is possibly a single exception—

Paul Paulsen, the sweet spirit of serenity and calm, who has ruled the destinies of the Orpheum stage all
the way from First and Main streets
to Seventh and Broadway.

Now, the difference between being
cursed by a regular actor and a vaudeville trouper is very great. It is inconceivably great. In fact, the distance between good government
and the good government party is not greater.

In a "production," the stage manager is bound to be respected, because he is going to stay with the
bunch for quite awhile.

In stock, he is certain of respect
because it's probable that he will stay
longer than the bunch.

But in vaudeville he is a dog, an incumbrance, a complainer, a human clutter, a sad specimen, a no-account
and an annoyance of good people
simply because he is going to stay,
while the rest don't have to.

The public thinks that vaudeville is just a little bit under the crust of
the legitimate.

The vaudeville knows that he is
in vaudeville because of his extraordinary inducements and his extraordinary talents. "Let the hams stick
to the legitimate—not for mine."

Every vaudeville performer, whether
he opens the show or closes it—head-
liner or a mere filler—is certain that
the circuit beneficently sent him to
this day town to loosen up the wheels
of joy and progress, and show the rules around here what real tramping
is like.

The stage manager, therefore, is a mere piece of cheap tripe, who dares
to dictate his place on the bill presumptuously, ignorantly, dampphoolish-ly and for mere spite at not being
the possessor of such magnificent genius. He dares to dictate not only place, but time, and, in some instances, he has been known to forcibly solicit the elision of phrases
or words, or the change of a bit of
business—the very idea.

The stage manager being the thorn
in the flesh of the vaudeville, only
through the stage manager may one
get a glimpse of that lofty creature's
human side.

The other afternoon this great idea struck me amidstships, and I hurried
to Paulsen for some confessions.

I wanted to find out if Eddie Ables
really abused Charlotte Landers in private life; if perennially smiling Jim Cullen ever passed through the stage
door with a hang-over grog and a
last-night frown; if little Master
Gabriel was ever accompanied to the theater by any of his grandchildren.

But if these actors—despicable ego-
ists!—knew of the patient, chival-rous, unswerving loyalty that Paul Paulsen holds for them, they might weep in remorse, and, weeping, become nearly as noble as he.

The Belasco brothers were putting over the strong man stuff and talking sotto voce about experiences in a "Prison ham-and-eggers." Gen.
Paulsen's minions—the carpenter,
the property man and the head electrician are his chiefs-of-staff—were busily buzzing about their respective
duties, and back of the great switchboard, deserted as a vestry on Monday morning, sat Gen. Paulsen himself, reading a daily paper.

After preliminaries, "What act is raising the most need with you this week?"

Paulsen got up hastily.

"Ever seen anything like this?
Looks like a squirt gun, but it's used
to break an electric arc—if one ever sees loose through a short. Guaranteed not to fail. I've never had occasion to use it, but I guess we're
the first house on the Coast to have
it."

"Fine, fine. But say, which is the most old maidish, a soubrette or a
star magician?"

"Come on over this way a minute.
See the way we hang our carpets?
That's an idea got from long observation. When you fold a carpet
it leaves creases. Hang it like a drop
and it will always seem genuinely
new."

"They tell me that Henry Clive
was the strongest kicker and the biggest grouch in the business, but of course you wouldn't know."

"Now, you wouldn't believe it! One man can pull that carpet up with
one hand, and it weighs 30 pounds
if it weighs a car. Counterweight and everything here is counter-weighted, you know."

"I see one of Will Cressey's new sketches has fallen down. I'll bet
he used to be a great hand to curse
and swear around if things didn't go
just right."

"Did you ever see us handle big ornamental lamps? Here they are,
right here. Now, there's a knot fixed
just at the point we want to hook
up the rope. No time to the knots, you know—have to have 'em already made."

"Did Belle Adair ever swear at you?"

"This switchboard is simply great.
I have figured it out, and you can set exactly 7000 combinations of light
on it."

"Did Cordelia Haagar smoke cigarettes?"

"Ever seen the shower baths
downstairs? Great thing for acrobats, or even for folks in an ordinary bath on hot days. Keeps 'em from faking cold when they go out. Jump
under one of those, take a rub down,
and come out rosy and cool and
working for ten rounds, if necessary."

"How about Frank Tinney? He was as funny as a wart on your nose—
right out in public, but didn't he ever get pernickily or touchy around
you fellows?"

"Yes, the property room is fire-proofed, just like a safe deposit vault—the same. In fact, as Franklin's music room, under the stage."

"Say, for heaven's sake haven't you ever had an actor back here who gave you a lip?"

"I'm glad you noticed that. That's it—battiship tungstens, and I think I'm safe in saying that this stage has
more light, candle-power for candle-
power, than any other stage in the world. The amount of light is simply tremendous."

Enough.

"Mr. Paulsen," I said, "as an actor's safeguard you have the Protective Association lashed to the wireless mast. On behalf of the actors,
let me congratulate you."

Mr. Paulsen smiled an inscrutable
smile, and remarked that the show
was almost over, and that he felt like having an ice-cream soda himself.

The real arranger of the Orpheum
programme is Manager Brown, but he is the major-general who sits on
the hilltop and directs the fight from
a map with a pair of field glasses.

Bailson, a tall, gentle, seldom-speaking man, leads the charge at
the front.

It is Paulsen who makes the sou-
brette, despite her roars, "ring up";
it is he who commands the monologue "artist" to can the stuff that went so well in "Frisco"; it is he
who tells the prize sketch team to play up and get their act into twelve
minutes; it is he who puts the howl-
ing juggler "in one" when he swears
that he had a full set at the Victoria;
it is he who mingles happily the elements
of comedy, romance and a strong love
story with sufficient interruptions to make the ending very much what most theater-goers would have it. The at-motherly sort of a wife; Bonita, as
been retained by Mr. Thomas in "Arizona," to a greater degree than in any other contemporary play, while
the characters are Americans of actuality. There is the big-hearted, gruff ranch owner, Canby, and his
motherly sort of a wife; Bonita, as charming and fascinating a heroine
as was ever seen behind a row of foot-
lights or between the covers of a book;
Lieut. Denton, chivalrous, lovable,
heroic and brave to a marked degree
and every inch a man's sort of a man; Capt. Hodgman, a rascally sort
of stage villain; Estrella, an officer's
wife who listens to the temptings of a commissioned member of the post's

Homer B. Mason and Marguerite Keeler, in "In and Out," at the Orpheum.

world. The amount of light is simply tremendous."

Enough.

"Mr. Paulsen," I said, "as an actor's safeguard you have the Protective Association lashed to the wireless mast. On behalf of the actors,
let me congratulate you."

Mr. Paulsen smiled an inscrutable
smile, and remarked that the show
was almost over, and that he felt
like having an ice-cream soda himself.

The real arranger of the Orpheum
programme is Manager Brown, but
he is the major-general who sits on
the hilltop and directs the fight from
a map with a pair of field glasses.

Bailson, a tall, gentle, seldom-
speaking man, leads the charge at
the front.

It is Paulsen who makes the sou-
brette, despite her roars, "ring up";
it is he who commands the mono-
logue "artist" to can the stuff that
went so well in "Frisco"; it is he
who tells the prize sketch team to
play up and get their act into twelve
minutes; it is he who puts the howl-
ing juggler "in one" when he swears
that he had a full set at the Victoria;
it is he who mingles happily the elements
of comedy, romance and a strong love
story with sufficient interruptions to
make the ending very much what most
theater-goers would have it. The at-

gruff ranch owner, Canby, and his

All the same, Paul Paulsen is one
of the best-known and one of the best—vaudeville stage managers in America. I have met a lot of them, but never one who, so shrewdly, cunningly
silent, had such a keen, instinctive
and instant sense of the amusement valuations on a variety bill.

"ARIZONA" IN BIG REVIVAL.

"BRIXTON STREET BURGLARY"
AT THE AUDITORIUM.

"The Thief" Continuing Remarkable Run—"Baby Dolls" in New Show at Lyceum—Vaudeville at the Empress, Pantages, Orpheum
and Hyman Theaters.

"Arizona," military play that represents Augustus Thomas at his very best as an entertainer, will be the offering for this week at the Belasco.

By many, "Arizona" has long been regarded as the best thoroughly American play that has ever been written.
It is the most happily the elements
of comedy, romance and a strong love
story with sufficient interruptions to
make the ending very much what most
theater-goers would have it. The at-motherly sort of a wife; Bonita, as
been retained by Mr. Thomas in "Arizona," to a greater degree than in
any other contemporary play, while
the characters are Americans of
actuality. There is the big-hearted,
gruff ranch owner, Canby, and his
motherly sort of a wife; Bonita, as
charming and fascinating a heroine
as was ever seen behind a row of foot-
lights or between the covers of a book;
Lieut. Denton, chivalrous, lovable,
heroic and brave to a marked degree
and every inch a man's sort of a
man; Capt. Hodgman, a rascally sort
of stage villain; Estrella, an officer's
wife who listens to the temptings of a
commissioned member of the post's

household; Tony, a Mexican with some
methods of expressing his ardent love
for Lena, the daughter of a fine old German sergeant, not to mention the
post's doctor and a host of soldiers
of the kind that wear shoulder straps
to denote their exalted station in military life. As a study in character drawing, "Arizona" may be said in all verity to be as near perfect as can be imagined.

"Arizona" will enable Lewis S. Stone
to be seen in what he admits is his favorite role—that of Lieut. Denton.
Thais Magrane will be the Bonita of the performance, while Charles Egan will temporarily return to the Belasco stage for the role of Tony.
Mr. Vivian, Mr. Neill, Mr. Bernard,
Mr. Yerance, Mr. Applebee, Mr. Bar-
bee, Miss Sullivan, Miss Farrington,
Miss Arnold and the others of the Belasco organization will be found in
the list of contributing players.

For the week beginning tomorrow
evening, the Auditorium Company will present "The Brixton Street Burglary"
with Marjorie Rambeau, Joseph Gal-
braith and other members of this
stock company in the cast.

The play will be given the elaborate stage settings that have come to mark the Auditorium company as second to none.

"The Brixton Street Burglary" is
one of the best farce comedies of recent years, and is from the pen of Frederick Sidney; in the Auditorium
production the scenes will be laid in Brixton street, New York. The time
is the present, and the plot of the play
is wholesome and simple.

The ladies of the Pontifex family:
Alice, played by Miss Rambeau, Mil-
licent, by Miss Gordon, and Jessie, by Miss Bainter, are away from home and the men of the family, Senotimus
Pontifex, husband of Millicent, Mr.
Gallbraith, Mr. Green, husband of Alice and father-in-law to Pontifex,
Mr. Osborne and Mr. Diggle, engaged to Jessie, Mr. Dauntmore, have been spending their evenings out.

Pontifex and Diggle have been taking supper with the vaudeville actresses and the old man has been to his club playing poker. To conceal their shortcomings, they lie to their wives, but not having agreed upon
their stories they all tell different
tales.

The very night that the man were having a good time there was a burglary in the locality where they told their wives they had been spending the evening. The police hearing the stories told by the servants jump at the conclusion that the members of the family are concerned in the burglary. This leads to complications that require three acts of side-splitting fun, before the members of the cast are finally extricated from their troubles.

The interest in Margaret Illington's performance of "The Thief" at the Burbank Theater, continues without evidence of let up and in view of the fact the management has found it necessary to devote another weekend to this remarkable Bernstein play.

The theater-goers of Los Angeles
have readily recognized the significance of so eminent an actress as Miss Illington appearing in stock—at event unparalleled in western theatrical history. Perhaps ever since the advent of stock organizations such a truly brilliant and artistic performance as "The Thief" as given by Miss Illington and the Burbank stock company is without precedent.
Not only is the chief feminine role of this great play interpreted by the foremost young emotional actress of the country but it also happens that the part of Marie Louise in "The Thief" is the very one in which Miss

Illington won her greatest reputation as an artist of pre-eminent attainments. This character of the weak and reckless but with loving
and human girl-wife is a most difficult one and makes terribly exacting
demands upon the actress' physical strength. It calls for the utmost subtlety of execution as well as an intellectual and temperamental understanding of those tragic forebod-
ings and fears which lurk in the heart
of a young girl, who has suddenly
awakened to the epic wonder of a great and overwhelming love. In this profound and pathetic characterization, Miss Illington reveals all those qualities, which can vitalize a playwright's lines into a human and credible personality.

Just as his second show was an improvement on the first one, so will
Mr. Edward Armstrong introduce for his third week at the Lyceum a still stronger burlesque, according to promise, at least, in which two new
features will particularly stand out.
One is the presentation of the show,
"The Sole Kiss," in two scenes, thus giving an opportunity for diversity of
setting, and the other and more important is the appearance for the first time of Mr. Armstrong himself on the stage.

The story of the plot deals with the attempt of one Mr. Brown (Mr. Armstrong) to have a good time at Venice
unknown to his wife (Ethel Davis).
In this he is assisted by his friend
Hogan (Will Armstrong), but is often
defeated by old doctor gloom in the person of Beacon Schmidt (Gus Leonard). In the episodes flourishes often a pretty actress, Florida (Clara Howard), and a knowing maid, Daisy
(Dorothy Dale). Also there are several other characters who help in the mix-ups and merriment. The story moves from Venice to China-
town, thus permitting variety of scenery and especially of costume effects.

As might be supposed, the Baby

BY JULIAN JOHNSON.

No vaudeville stage manager will
ever be taxed for having a goat, for
all such goats have been gotten long
ago.

There is possibly a single exception—

Paul Paulsen, the sweet spirit of
serenity and calm, who has ruled the
destinies of the Orpheum stage all
the way from First and Main streets
to Seventh and Broadway.

Now, the difference between being
cursed by a regular actor and a vaudeville troupier is very great. It is inconceivably great. In fact, the distance between good government
and the good government party is not
greater.

In a "production," the stage manager is bound to be respected, because he is going to stay with the
bunch for quite awhile.

In stock, he is certain of respect
because it's probable that he will stay
longer than the bunch.

But in vaudeville he is a dog, an incubator, a complainer, a human
clutter, a sad specimen, a no-account
and an annoyance of good people
simply because he is going to stay,
while the rest don't have to.

just a little bit under the crust of
the legitimate.

The vaudeville knows that he is
in vaudeville because of its extraordinary inducements and his extraordinary talents. "Let the hams stick
to the legitimate—not for mine."

Every vaudeville performer, whether
he opens the show or closes it—head-
liner or a mere filler—is certain that
the circuit beneficently sent him to
this day town to loosen up the wheels
of joy and progress, and show the rubes around here what real trouping
is like.

The stage manager, therefore, is a
mere piece of cheap tripe, who dares
to dictate his place on the bill presumptuously, ignorantly, dampphol-
ly and for mere spite at not being
the possessor of such magnificent
genius. He dares to dictate not only place but time, and in certain instances, he has been known to
forcibly solicit the elision of phrases
or words, or the change of a bit of
business—the very idea.

The stage manager being the thorn
in the flesh of the vaudeville, only
through the stage manager may one
get a glimpse of that lofty creature's
human side.

The other afternoon this great idea struck me amish, and I hurried
to Paulsen for some confessions.

I wanted to find out if Eddie Ables
really abused Charlotte Landers in private life; if personally smiling Jim Cullen ever passed through the stage
door with a hang-over grog and a
last-night frown; if little Master
Gabriel was ever accompanied to the
theater by any of his grandchildren.

But if these actors—despicable ego-
ists—knew of the patient, chivalrous, unswerving loyalty that Paul Paulsen holds for them they might
weep in remorse, and, weeping, become nearly as noble as he.

The Belloc brothers were putting over the strong man stuff and talking sotto voce about experiences in a "Frisco ham-and-eggers." Gen Paulsen's minions—the carpenter,
the property man and the head electrician are his chiefs-of-staff—were
busily buzzing about their respective
duties, and back of the great switch-
board, deserted as a vestry on Monday morning, sat Gen. Paulsen himself, reading a daily paper.

After preliminaries: "What act is raising the most red with you this week?"

Paulsen got up hastily.

"Ever seen anything like this?
Looks like a squirt gun, but it's used
to break an electric arc—if one ever tears loose through a short. Gdarnied not to fail. I've never had occasion to use it, but I guess we're
the first house on the Coast to have
it."

"Fine, fine. But say, which is the most old maidish, a soubrette or a
star magician?"

"Come on over this way a minute.
See the way we hang our carpets?"

That's an idea I got from long observation. When you fold a carpet
it leaves creases. Hang it like a drop
and it will always seem genuinely
new."

"They tell me that Henry Clive
was the strongest kicker and he used to grog in the business, but of course you wouldn't know—"

"Now, you wouldn't believe it! One
man can pull that carpet up with
one hand, and it weighs 300 pounds
if it weighs a carat. Counterweight-ed—everything here is counter-
weighted, you know."

"I see one of Will Cressey's new
sketches has fallen down. I'll bet
he used to be a great hand to curse
just right."

"Did you ever see us handle big
ornamental lamps? Here they are,
right here. Now, there's a knot fixed
just at the point we want to hook
the rope. No time to tie knots,
you know—have to have 'em al-
ready made."

"This switchboard is simply great.
I have figured it out, and you can select exactly 7000 combinations of light
on it."

"Did Cordelia Hagar smoke cigarettes?"

"Ever seen the shower bath
downstairs? Great thing for acrobats, or even for folks in an ordinary act on hot days. Keeps 'em from faking
cold when they go out. Jump
under one of those, take a rub down,
and come out rosy and cool and
ready for ten rounds, if necessary."

"How about Frank Finney? He was
as funny as a wart on your nose—
right out in public, but didn't he ever get pernickety or touchy around
you fellows?"

"Yes, the property room is fire-proofed, just like a safe. No fire-
vault—the same, in fact, as Frankenstein's music room under the stage."

"Say, for heaven's sake haven't you
ever had an actor back here who gave you any lip or sass?"

"I'm glad you noticed that. That's the battleship tongue-tie, and I think I'm safe in saying that this stage has
more light, candle-power for candle-
power, than any other stage in the world. The amount of light is simply tremendous."

Enough.

"Mr. Paulsen," I said, "as an actor's safeguard, have the Protective Association lashed to the wire-
less mast. On behalf of the actors,
let me congratulate you."

"Now, you wouldn't believe an inscription, and remarked that the show
was almost over, and that he felt
like having an ice-cream soda himself."

The real arranger of the Orpheum
programme is Manager Brown, but
he is the major-general who sits on
the hilltop and directs the fight from
a map with a pair of field glasses.

Paulsen, a tall, gentle, seldom-speaking man, leads the charge at
the front.

It is Paulsen who makes the sou-
brette, despite her roars, "ring up!"
It is he who commands the mono-
logue "artist" to can the stuff that
went so well in "Frisco." It is he
who tells the prize sketch team to
play up and get their act into twelve
minutes; it is he who puts the howl-
ing juggler "in one" when he swears
that he had a full act at the Victoria;
it is he who mildly suggests to the star of the Palace Music Hall that her Luncheon can be great but promise to fly over Los Angeles, it is—well, that is, he is; and what he isn't—isn't.

Over at the Belasco and the Burbank "staged by James Neill," or "under the personal direction of David M. Hartford," may afford some little solace to those hard-working directors, but at the Orpheum Mr. Paulsen's name will be found merely in an obscure list with the head-doorkeeper and the chief tithingman.

What does the public know of him?
Nothing.

What does he care?
Less than that.

Where do the vaudeville stars
most likely put his intrinsic talents?
Below zero.

Homer B. Mason and Marguerite Keeler, in "In and Out," at the Orpheum.

All the same, Paul Paulsen is one
of the best-known—and one of the
best—vaudeville stage managers in America. I have met a lot of them, but
never one who, so shrewdly, cunningly
silent, had such a keen, instinctive
sense of the amusement
valuations on a variety bill.

"ARIZONA" IN BIG REVIVAL.

"BRITTON STREET BURGLARY"
AT THE AUDITORIUM.

"The Thief" Continuing Remarkable Run—"Baby Dolls" in New Show at Lyceum—Vaudeville at the Empress, Pantages, Orpheum
and Hyman Theaters.

"Arizona," military play that represents Augustus Thomas at his very
best as an entertainer, will be the offering for this week at the Belasco.

By many, "Arizona" has long been regarded as the best thoroughly American play that has ever been written.
It combines most happily the elements
of comedy, romance and a strong love
story with sufficient interruptions to
make the ending very much what most
theater-goers would have it. The attraction of a wife; Bonita, as retained by Mr. Thomas in "Arizona," to a greater degree than in any other contemporary play, is the actual heart of the story. Bonita, as while the characters are Americans of actualities. There is the big-hearted, rough ranch owner, Canby, and his
motherly sort of a wife; Bonita, as
charming and fascinating a heroine
as was ever seen behind a row of foot-
lights or between the covers of a book.
Lieut. Denton, chivalrous, lovable,
heroic and brave to a marked degree
and every inch a man's sort of a
man; Capt. Hodgman, a rascally sort
of stage villain; Estrella, an officer's wife who listens to the temptings of a commissioned member of the post's

household; Tony, a Mexican with some
methods of expressing his ardent love
for Lena, the daughter of a fine old German sergeant, not to mention the
post's doctor and a host of soldiers
of the kind that wear shoulder straps
to denote their exalted station in military life. As a study in character drawing, "Arizona" may be said in all verity to be as near perfect as can
be imagined.

"Arizona" will enable Lewis S. Stone
to be seen in what he admits is his favorite role—that of Lieut. Denton.
Thais Magrann will be the Bonita of the performance, while Charles Ruggles will temporarily return to the Belasco stage for the role of Tony.
Mr. Vivian, Mr. Neill, Mr. Bernard,
Mr. Yernace, Mr. Applebee, Mr. Bar-
bee, Miss Sullivan, Miss Farrington,
Miss Arnold and the others of the Belasco organization will be found in
the list of contributing players.

For the week beginning tomorrow
evening, the Auditorium company will
present "The Brixton Street Burglary"
with Marjorie Rambeau, Joseph Gal-
braith and other members of this
stock company in the cast.

The play will be given the elaborate stage settings that have come to
mark the Auditorium company as second to none.

"The Brixton Street Burglary" is
one of the best farce comedies of recent years, and is from the pen of
Frederick Sidney; in the Auditorium
production the scenes will be laid in Brixton street, New York. The time
is the present, and the plot of the play
is wholesome and simple.

The ladies of the Pontifex family:
Alice, played by Miss Rambeau, Mil-
licent, by Miss Gordon, and Jessie, by Miss Balster, are away from home and the men of the family, Senatus
Pontifex, husband of Millicent, Mr.
Galbraith, Mr. Green, husband of
Alice and father-in-law to Pontifex,
Mr. Osborne and Mr. Digzler, engaged to Jessie, Mr. Dennithorne, have been taking supper with the vaudeville actresses and the old man has been in his club playing poker. To conceal
their shortcomings, they lie to their
wives, but not having agreed upon
their stories they all tell different
tales.

The very night that the men were

this country but it also happens that
the part of Marie Louise in "The Thief" is the very one in which Miss
Illington won her greatest reputation as an artist of pre-eminent attachment. This character of the weak and reckless but with loving
and human girl-wife is a most difficult one and makes terribly exacting
demands upon the actress' physical
strength. It calls for the utmost
subtlety of execution as well as an
intellectual and temperamental understanding of those tragic forebod-
ings and fears which lurk in the heart
of a young girl, who has suddenly
awakened to the epic wonder of a
great and overwhelming love. In this
profound and pathetic characterization, Miss Illington reveals all those qualities, which can vitalize playwright's lines into a human and credible personality.

Just as his second show was an
improvement on the first one, so will
Mr. Edward Armstrong introduce for
his third week at the Lyceum a still
stronger burlesque, according to
promise, at least, in which two new
features will particularly stand out.
One is the presentation of the show,
"The Sole Kiss." In two scenes, thus giving an opportunity for diversity of
setting, and the other and more important is the appearance for the first time of Mr. Armstrong himself on the stage.

The story of the skit deals with the attempt of one Mr. Brown (Mr. Armstrong) to have a good time at Venice
unknown to his wife (Ethel Davis).
In this he is assisted by his friend
Hogan (Will Armstrong) but is often
defeated by old doctor gloom in the person of Deacon Schmitt (Gus Donars). In the episode's footnotes often a pretty actress, Floesia (Clara Howard), and a knowing maid, Daisy
(Dorothy Dale). Also there are several other characters who help in the mix-up and merriment. The story moves from Venice to China-
town, thus permitting variety of
scenery and especially of costume effects.

As might be supposed, the Baby

But when we say that we are making a "demonstration" of money-saving, we mean exactly that! And we've thrown these lines open just for this week in order that you may "prove us up."

A PROFESSION FOR FRANK

BY NANCY PAIN.

"Of course," said Mr. Temple, from the depths of a garden chair, "it's no use trying to fit a square peg into a round hole."

"Oh, none whatever!" agreed his wife.

"So we must just see what Frank thinks about it himself." A pause. "Well."

"I really don't know what to think," said Frank, looking on the grass and looking for four-leaved clover.

"Have you ever considered the church?" suggested Mrs. Temple.

"Oh, lots of times! But, somehow or other, I don't think it'd be much fun."

"Frankie!"

"I mean, I don't think I'm particularly suited to being a clergyman. I'd make a rotten curate, wouldn't I, Uncle? The collar wouldn't suit me."

"The collar isn't everything," said Mr. Temple amiably.

"Oh, I hope not!" grinned his nephew, turning over and stretching.

"Well, I won't force you into the church against your will, of course, you must do as you like. What about the law, now?"

"Oh, I couldn't possibly!"

"And why not?"

"Too dull and dry, and—I'm sure I shouldn't like it. Think of being mewed up in a stuffy office on a day like this!" A burst of sunshine filtered through the trees, and glided the grass in little spots. "Look at the sun on those pink things over there," he cried, "and the wall, and Mr. Goldberg's orchid houses just showing through the trees. They shine like diamond dewdrops, don't they? And listen to the thrushes singing! No, no office work for me, thanks. I simply couldn't do it."

"Wouldn't you like to be a poet, darling?" queried his aunt, tenderly.

"I shouldn't mind." A dreary look came into the boy's fine eyes. "But I'm 23, and I've never written a line yet—or wanted to—so I don't think I'll be really cut out for one, can I?" He took his aunt's hand affectionately. "Besides, I'm not called Alfred, and nobody who isn't called Alfred is a poet nowadays."

"We came out here," said Mr. Temple, testily, "to discuss Frank's career, and not the names of poets."

"We are discussing it," said his wife. "Do you think the Army would suit you, dearest?"

"I'm a man of peace," said Frank, "and I should hate to wear a moustache. No, I don't think I'd like the Army, thanks."

"The Navy, then?"

"I don't know why," said Frank, "but I've never felt at all drawn towards the Navy. It seems to me so futile to spend my entire life being sea-sick, and then to be drowned as a reward."

"Well, then," said his uncle, who was getting warm, "since you refuse any profession which entails indoor work, and likewise refuse Church, Army, and Navy, will you kindly tell me what you do fancy?"

"It would be delightful if Frank were a great musician," mused Mrs. Temple.

"I know," said Frank, with one of his most winning smiles. "I'd love that, too, but I've no ear."

"No head!" his uncle was heard to mutter.

"I could be an artist, of course," the boy went on, "but it seems a pity, because I can't draw."

"What about surveying, then?" said his aunt. "Anybody can do that—or architecture?"

A look of distant crossed Frank's handsome face. "I don't care for either of those professions," he said.

"This," said Mr. Temple, getting angry at last, "is tomfoolery, and I'll have no more of it. If other young men can go into business, and do well at them, you can. Here you are, 23, strong and healthy and indecently good-looking, and you do nothing all day but hang about in beautiful clothes, and go to dances, and play tennis at the Goldbergs. A blinding dust filled the little garden as an enormous car fled, shrieking up the road. There goes one of his motors. Ten, he has, and orchids, and pineapples, and everything else he fancies. That man lives in luxury such as you or I will never know. Look at the way his daughter is allowed to spend! She can afford it. He can afford it. And why?" Mr. Temple stopped, out of breath.

"Because they're so rich," suggested Frank.

"Because that man worked for it. He didn't lie about on the grass all day, sucking cigarettes, or dancing, or playing tennis, or flirting. He began life in a fishmonger's shop in New York, used his brains—and got on. Take him as a model, if you can. Copy him, and get to work. He's a multi-millionaire now, and see what he was." Mr. Temple paused, and eyed his nephew wrathfully. "Why won't you name a profession?" he roared.

"Why won't you? Because you're a lazy young dog, that's why!"

"It's not really why," said Frank.

"Why, then?"

"Because I don't need a profession." "You're an orphan, almost penniless, and don't need a profession! I like that!"

"No," said Frank, "I don't need one. I married Miss Goldberg yesterday, that's why."

Involuntary Suicide.

"I am trying to find my brother," said the gentleman from England, timidly, to the fierce-looking person with a sheath knife in one side of his belt and a six-shooter in the other.

"He was in this neighborhood about four or five years ago. His name was Williamson—kind of goody goody chap?"

"Yes, that's the man!"

"Guess I did know him. He committed suicide three years ago."

"What? My brother committed suicide? Why, he was the last man in the world to have done such a thing! Was he ill, or in trouble, or what?"

"He called me a liar, stranger!"—[Human Life.]

Jiu-Jitsu No Use.

A cricket club formed a gymnasium for the use of its members during the winter months, and an instructor was engaged to teach jiu-jitsu. Recently one of the cricketers turned up with a bandaged head and said some youth had inflicted the injury.

"What?" exclaimed the jiu-jitsu instructor. "You mean to say you let a youth knock you about like that? Why didn't you try jiu-jitsu?"

"I couldn't."

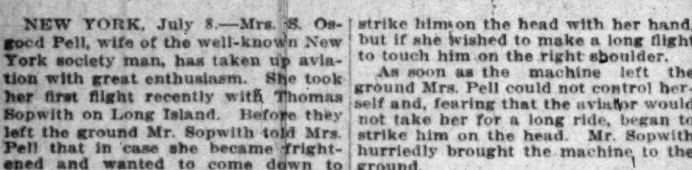

"Nonsense! There's no conceivable situation to which jiu-jitsu cannot be successfully applied. Show me where he gripped you."

"I'm sorry to say he didn't grip me anywhere. He dropped a brick on my head from a third-story window."—[Tit-Bits.]

A NOTED WOMAN.

Wife of Col. Selden Allen Day, U.S.A., and Known in the World of Letters as Helen M. Gardner, Novelist, Essayist, Lecturer and Noted Traveler.

BY MARGARET B. DOWNING.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—When the first Congress of Mothers was held in Washington almost fourteen years ago, one of the lecturers, who attracted immediate attention, and whose utterances commanded the respect accorded the expert, was Helen M. Gardner, then an associate editor of the

Mrs. Selden Allen Day.

ena, an erudite publication of Boston. Miss Gardner's theme was "Hereditarianism," and she placed before the thoughtful women who made up that Congress both as delegates and auditors a startling array of facts concerning the responsibility of parents in the physical and spiritual up-building of their offspring. She has made a mine and an exhaustive study of this grave subject, and in addition to the lectures delivered to audiences composed of mothers and teachers, she enlarged the main issue and published her conclusions in a book entitled "The Facts and Fictions of Life." This work has been translated into eight languages, and has been placed in the normal schools of the Scandinavian countries and which is the lay manual of those who have taken up the scientific study of Eugenics.

Of recent years, Helen Gardner, Mrs. Selden Allen Day, has turned her attention to a more subtle form of heredity and one more inspiring in its conclusions than the scientific verities of the Mendelian law about which she has written so much. She has been, in her husband's spare time, spending much time in the Orient studying alien races, embodying her observations in lectures before learned societies and in bright essays which are mostly published in reviews used by teachers of literature on pedagogical themes.

She has lived in Washington for the last three years in a handsome home overlooking the National Park at Rock Creek, and enjoys the leisure, which she has earned after the strenuous labors of the past twenty years.

There is no study as fascinating as that of men and women, no matter what their race or color, their age, or their ideals of civilization, said Mrs. Gardner, recently, "The Americans have a brave reputation for penetrating into foreign lands, but how few really take the trouble to understand, even the face signs of alien civilizations, or living in Japan for several years, began to realize that I was just beginning to comprehend the meaning of the really fine points of the lives of the East. Col. Day and I lived in various parts, in the large cities, in the rural districts, and studied and took counsel with the deers of thought. But to go to the country hurriedly, live at a hotel, inspect perhaps the palaces, the temples, the public buildings and look at the monuments at the street corners, is not the way to gain any useful knowledge, though it is, of course, a pleasant and diverting manner in which to take an outing.

I was impressed with the lack of wisdom which our usually intelligent and artistic theater managers show of eastern conditions. Not long after my return from Japan, I attended a play which presumably gave an intimate picture of home life near to. Everybody who attends the theater will recall how the pretty Japanese maidens are made to look like an American stage. It is a dishing, jumpy performance, a caricature of the actual way in which the women walk and one which but fills them with indignation.

If we will pause to consider the Japanese garments for the feminine, we are fastened neither by button nor by laces, but by hooks and eyes, and by a single cord, which is fastened in a variety of ways. They are lapped over in other and the outer robe is held in place by a wide encircling band which we would call a sash. Now in looking the Japanese girl turns her head to enfold her garments, every movement is to keep the sash in place instead of spreading it apart. Hence comes that away-undulating motion which if properly initiated is perfectly fascinating. In the home scheme of the Japanese is not comprehended or the reason of the motion would be clearer, for all their lives are spent on the floor, and the floor deserves special attention, for it is bed, dining table, seat to sew or read or paint. It is a padded cushion on boards, the outer covering is a soft straw mat as fine and dainty as we need a Japanese paper, of the carved and painted wood from the Orient is the

OVER THE SEA.

There are so many stories about Queen Mary, all of which represent her as the most domestic of women, so that one is not surprised to know that she likes to knit. They say she took her knitting with her on her wedding journey and has been at it ever since. In the evening a pretty satin bag is slung over her chair and she draws her knitting from it if she feels inclined.

Old Lord Feverham is a man of many fads, among the oddest of which is his refusal to pay any bills until absolutely obliged to do so. This is not due to any avarice. For he is a most generous. Nor to poverty, since his income amounts to considerably over a quarter of a million dollars a year. It is merely owing to his reluctance to sign checks, and he has on several occasions been held up, not only by his tradesmen in Yorkshire, but even by his servants, who have struck for unpaid wages, without exciting any further resentment on his part than an exclamation:

"Damn their insolence! Bring me my check book." After writing the checks the tradesmen and domestics resume their service, just as before, until perhaps a couple of years or so later there is another strike. But neither servants nor tradesmen are ever discharged on this account by the old Earl.

A. E. Jessup, an up-to-date American, has made of his fine medieval castle near Lucerne an extraordinary anthropological phenomenon. Every thing at Schloss-Lenzburg looks as though it were built, eight centuries ago. Retainers, hunters, hawks, caparisoned chargers all recall the warlike and loving days of William the Conqueror. The castle is grim looking and seems as though it could stand a siege of many months.

Mrs. John Davies, of Dorrancon, Luzerne county, Pa., who was born in Wales, 75 years ago, holds the record for numerous descendants. She is the mother of ten children, fifty-seven grandchildren, and sixteen great-grandchildren. Even at her advanced age Mrs. Davies enjoys excellent health and is in possession of good hearing and good eyesight.

Dr. Anna Wysocka was elected president of the Polish Political Equality League of America at a recent meeting. This is a new organization formed by the Polish women on the Northwest side in Chicago. It is said to be the direct result of work done by Miss Jessie Campbell in her suffrage classes at the Northwestern University Settlement in Chicago.

ARMY AND NAVY MEN.

Mal-Gon. Wood, chief of staff of the army, recently had a unique experience while visiting his home in Portland, Me. He dropped into Fort Williams about 8 o'clock in the morning. He entered the post without being challenged, walked around the post, looking at gun mounds, guns, barracks and officers. He was there for some time, and he was not known who he was or what he was doing there. Then an enlisted man stationed at post headquarters recognized him and passed the word. In a few minutes all the officers of the post were paying their respects. Gen. Wood said it was his first experience in capturing a post single handed and unarmed.

Rear Admiral Samuel P. Comly, a native of New Jersey, who has been commander of the Philadelphia Navy Yard and president of the general court-martial board there, was placed on the naval retired list for the maximum age of 62 years on July 15. Admiral Comly entered the Naval Academy from New Jersey in 1867. On leaving the academy he was on the Junata, which cruised the northern waters in search of the Polar. The expedition was out more than a year, and crew suffering heavily from cold and hunger. He was then promoted to see that officer making notes on lectures and in the conduct of his office. Gen. Weaver had conducted stenography such a help that he had carefully perfected himself in that form of notation. Furthermore, the pile weighs about 150 tons and is worth about $2,000.

It was explained by one of the officers in the navy that the expert telegrapher, the expert Morse and the Morse code.

The Comly's are a family of the blue.

BITS OF VERSE.

The Old Bridge.
The old, old bridge, with its rumbling stones,
covered with lichens red and gray
lovers were talking in sweet low tones.
And we were they!

He leaned to breathe in her willing air
he loved that he vowed would never depart
called her his darling, his dove
most dear.
And he was I!

"Covered her face from the pale moonlight
with her trembling hands, but her eyes looked through listened and listened with long delight.
And she was you!

The old, old bridge, where the lichens rust,
lovers are learning the same old lore;
tells his love, and she looks her trust.
But we—no more!
Henry Van Dyke, in the Atlantic

The Mastery of Death.
Sometimes think I should be glad to die,
same with death the dead alone
are brave;

slave.
Are his minions? They who cringe and cry,
to who, with calm brow and fear-

go in the portal of his gloomy cave?

grave's true empire lies outside
the gate;

VICTIM OF ACCIDENT DIES.

Hires' Mail Carrier Succumbs to Injuries Received in a Collision With a Car.

HIVENSIDE, July 22.—Malcolm Hines, the aged driver of the mail wagon between the postoffice and the Salt Lake and Santa Fe stations, who was struck by a Salt Lake special train last Tuesday morning while crossing the tracks, succumbed to his injuries today.

He was 77 years of age.

When the pilot banked the wagon struck the covered wagon of Mr. Hines, who was thrown violently from the wagon onto the right of way.

The last was bruised somewhat and one leg was severely wrenched, but he was able to leave the hospital in a few days.

Mr. Hines was an old resident here and had driven the mail wagon for several years. It is now recalled that he was very careless, or indifferent, about crossing the tracks while driving across the right of way.

He was an old sailor in the service of the government during the earlier years and as such had been around the globe many times.

SAN PEDRO.

SAN PEDRO, July 22.—Joe Fellows, the well-known boat builder, is proud that ever of his fast launch, Campbell. Word has been received by Fellows that the government has accepted the Campbell as a model for torpedo-boat tenders and bids and specifications for new tenders for the Pacific torpedos boats have been sent by Fellows to the commander of the flotilla at San Diego.

Fellows expects to secure contracts for four or five of the new tenders, modeled after the Campbell, the only change being from the heavy Campbell engine to the lighter Fairbanks.

HINES DENIES PRESSURE TO KEEP LORIMER.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The activities of Edward Hines, whose name has been linked with the election of Senator Lorimer, to influence the votes of the Senate last spring on the nomination of the Illinois Senator, were inquired into today by the Senate Committee.

Hines testified he called on President W. C. Brown of the New York Central during the Lorimer fight in the Senate.

Hines was asked if he was seeking to influence the vote of Senator Dewey. He answered in the negative. Hines did say that he spent a month in Washington just preceding the vote on the Lorimer case.

Carl R. Nelson, private stenographer to Hines, testified that the latter was continuously in Washington during February, 1909, except for occasional trips to New York. The object was to show that Hines was not in Chicago during the latter part of February, when Clarence S. Funk said Hines called upon him about the famous Union League Club convention.

Funk said Hines asked him to contribute to a Lorimer election fund, but Hines said Funk offered to contribute.

Mr. Hines testified about a proposal to make the turn at the intersection of the State highway and the first five counties in California. Bakersfield's assessment is nearly six million dollars, or a million-dollar gain.

Operative property in the county totals eleven millions and, in spite of this loss in taxes, the board of supervisors announced that the tax rate for county purposes will be $1.20, 10 cents lower than last year.

In twelve years the assessment rolls of the county show a gain of $50,000,000, or 500 per cent. The supervisors have decided to build a $75,000 bridge over Kern River on the oil-field road, and will also erect a $150,000 jail, both being done without a raise in tax rate.

With the arrival of the State highway at Fifth and Olive streets, yesterday afternoon, and was thrown to the pavement. A medical examination showed that the left ankle had been broken and that the injured man was suffering from shock.

Unable to check the speed of his motorcycle, M. E. Martin, a conductor employed by the Los Angeles Railway Company, dashed headlong into a West Seventh street car, while trying to make the turn at the intersection of Olive street, yesterday afternoon, and was thrown to the pavement.

SOON WILL DOCK SHIPS AT BEACH.

CRAIG PLANT IS COMPLETING MOST UNIQUE WAYS.

Consisting of a Dozen Pontoons, It Will Lift Dead Weight of Four Thousand Tons—To Be Enlarged to Take Practically Any Vessels in These Waters.

At the yards of the Craig ship plant on the inner harbor, Long Beach, a large force of men is putting the finishing touches to what, when completed, will be the largest dry dock or ship ways south of San Francisco, and the only one of its kind on the Coast.

It is a floating dry dock, consisting of a dozen pontoons, all joined together as one piece, and is being finished in a slip at the Craig plant constructed especially for it. It is constructed of wood entirely, and its cost runs high up in the thousands of dollars.

The big dry dock is at present 200 feet long on the keel blocks and is 100 feet wide. It can dock vessels 250 feet long and can receive ships drawing twenty-five feet of water. It is capable of lifting 4000 tons of dead weight. The dock is operated entirely by electricity and to receive a vessel the pontoons will be filled with water and submerged below the level of the vessel to be received.

The dock is equipped with twelve large centrifugal pumps which will empty the docks completely in thirty-five minutes and bring the vessel to be repaired high above the surface of the water.

Craig expects that the dock will be ready for its first work one week from today, at which time it will be submerged to receive the United States government dredger San Pedro, which is now overhauling.

Later on the dock will be made 200 feet longer and will then be 500 feet long and capable of lifting above water a dead weight of 4000 tons, which will accommodate nearly all of the ships making this port.

Building the Craig Ship Ways at Long Beach.

Representative Sabath of Chicago Asks the Secretary of State to certify the Number of American Peers Excluded from the Commission Service of King George.

(Washington Post.) "This is a thing to be positively disgusting," Representative Sabath of Chicago, to Representative Tamm of the House yesterday, "What a disgusting!" asked Sabath in surprise.

"This little business," said Sabath indignantly, "Americaners are buying Dukes and Earl Counts for their daughters and only two dozen of these girls are admitted to participate in the thing. The high cost of these come an issue, although I support recent manufacture of all varieties of titles. Something has to be done about it."

And while Sabath was looking on with open mouth at the admiring eyes, Mr. Sabath said to the thing in a dash of a minute directing the Secretary of State to make an exhaustive investigation of the traffic in titles and report to the House.

MR. SABATH'S RESOLUTION. The resolution, in part, follows: "Be it resolved, That the Secretary of State shall be, and hereby is authorized to ascertain, through one or more of those who have been admitted to the coronation ceremony, the reasons why they have been admitted."

By "those" Mr. Sabath means the persons who in Europe are designated as "dollar princesses," only two dozen of whom are permitted to take part in the ceremony.

The resolution also directs the Secretary of State to find out from the State ambassador, minister, consul, the maiden names, present titles of all those American-born women who are admitted to the ceremony.

MR. SABATH WANTS DETAILS. Mr. Sabath wants still more information. He insists that the Secretary of State inquire into the fact that title-bearing Americans are forced to undergo the same Americanization course as those who are not.

Miss Pearl O'Connell of Norwalk. This little lady has passed the 20,000 mark and is in line to go higher up if she continues her style of work.

Little Marie Rorick who piled up 41,650 for the week and qualified for the second prize of 3,000 points.

For the day ending at noon Saturday, Lewis P. Black turned in the highest score among the men, which was 22,815, and Marie Rorick the highest score for the women's prize. Her points totaled 39,000 for the day.

These figures appear strong enough to stand as they are, although we cannot make them official until all returns are in.

The race on Saturday morning was most interesting. Marie Rorick at 11:30 o'clock had scored 41,650 for the week against Marie Carlin's 25,600, and it looked like easy running for the little girl.

But between 11:30 and 12 o'clock the indefatigable women of the Women's Relief Corps of Long Beach made their final charge with 17,350, barely topping Marie Rorick's score and making the high tally of the week.

After all, as the week turned out, it seems to have been unnecessary to confine this contest for points to those under 100,000, as the scores they made were larger than those of the leaders.

This week's effort will advance these candidates considerably up the line. Marie Rorick jumped from twenty-seventh place to among the first ten leaders, and Marie Carlin went up a notch. Woodworth goes forward a little and now qualifies for a better prize than he could have won last week.

We regret that we have no more unassigned credits for you to compete for next week. It will simply be a case of $4.00 each per day for the men and women, and a grand opportunity to devote your time to making a whirlwind finish of the month of July.

In the rush for daily prizes and weekly awards, you must not lose sight of the six prizes amounting to $300 posted at the head of the column for the month of July. These prizes are in hand cash and will well repay you for the time and effort spent in winning.

FOR A MEMORIAL HALL. Since Mrs. Carlin of Long Beach entered this contest there has not been a day that she and her associates have failed to be actively on the job. She is representing the Women's Relief Corps, which is a part of the Grand Army organization.

In Long Beach there are seven patriotic organizations interested in Mrs. Carlin's contest. They are: The Veterans' Social Club; Sons of Veterans; Auxiliary of the Sons of Veterans; and the Spanish War Veterans.

They have had the erection of this building long in mind, and grasp this opportunity to unite and help one of their members win a prize for this purpose.

In addition to their use it is proposed to use the hall for other public interests.

There are in Long Beach about four hundred Civil War veterans, which number is increasing each year; for are these grizzled old men become older they seek a climate less rigorous than that of the East. Their average age is over seventy years.

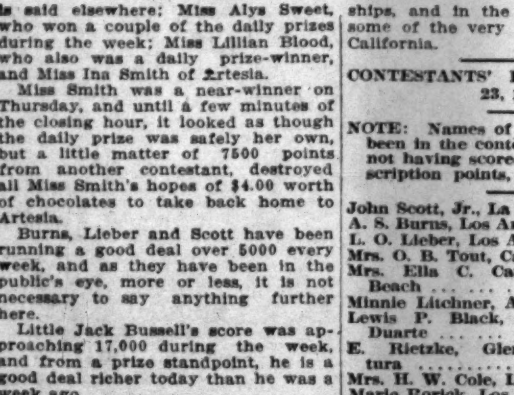

The people of Long Beach evidently appreciate the worthy object for which Mrs. Carlin is striving, as is shown by the amount of business she is doing in the Greater Contest.

Five thousand points, while not a prize-winning amount in any one week, represents considerable labor.

Among those who secured more than 5000 points during the past week are Mrs. Carlin, of which something WESTINGHOUSE SUIT. Nephew of Man Who Started Fire. Cedecees Here Convinced Large Sums of Money Have Been Missed.

F. M. Canda, nephew of George Canda, multi-millionaire, manufacturer of New York, who recently instituted proceedings to inquire into the conduct of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, otherwise known as the "electrical trust," arrived at the Alexandria yesterday accompanied by his wife.

Canda, who is a large bondholder in the Westinghouse concern, states that his uncle has been closely identified with George Westinghouse, the prestidigitator of the electric industry of the country, and has been convinced that hundreds of thousands of dollars that should have been paid as dividends on stock and interest bonds, has been either misused or misappropriated, and that the act brought by his uncle is to compel an equitable distribution of this money.

Since the time three years ago, when the Westinghouse concern went into the hands of a receiver close to present, there has been no interest dividends paid although the great concern has been transacting a business that has broken all former records.

Canda will remain in Southern California several months and will pass portion of that time at Catalina Island.

Modern, Imposing.

structure is of Absolutely Fireproof Type.

One of Many New Second Street Improvements.

The framework of the fine ten-story block under construction for the roadway Investment Company at the southwest corner of Second street and Broadway has been practically completed, and so far as the exterior is concerned, this imposing structure presents an almost finished appearance. The block will be one of the most modern, as well as the most modern in Los Angeles and one of the best examples of the reinforced concrete type of construction in the city.

The building was planned by Architect Paul C. Pape, whose specialty is fireproof construction, and his most recent structures of this type being the magnificent Rampart apartments at the southwest corner of Sixth and Rampart streets. The block is of the monolithic type and in reality, one vast piece of moulded concrete.

The windows are exceptionally large, and both lighting and ventilation are perfect. There are two courts on the second-story side. A perspective of the structure has already been published exclusively in The Times.

The block stands on the site of the old American National Bank building, a two-story structure, once the bridge in the city, which was torn down to make way for the larger and more modern building.

The Broadway Investment block is a eloquent answer to the cynicism of those who have long been expressing their belief that the north end of the business section had died. The C. Pape Roberts Company, which has charge of the leasing of property, reports many of the desirable offices already spoken for, this far in advance of the completion of the building.

The Broadway Investment block is one of the magnificent improvements that have been undertaken in the past two years on Second street, at Second and Main streets, the huge Argus Block, and the new Argus Block, which was the first of the recent year, while at Second and Hill streets, the Union League Club Block is completed only a few months ago.

Both structures take rank with any of the city in point of size and up-to-date construction. At Second and Los Angeles streets the mammoth Perry building is rapidly nearing completion, and the exterior work having already been finished. This splendid structure was planned by Morgan, Wallis & Morgan, who are architects, also, of the big building to be erected by the Haas-Baruch Company at Second and Alameda streets.

All of the buildings named are on credit, not only to the live street and section in which they stand, but to the city and Southern California, as well. At least two other significant projects are spoken of for Second street in the near future, these being the twelve-story hotel at the northwest corner of Second and Main, and a ten-story office block at the southeast corner of Second and Hill streets. The latter structure, which is to be built by J. J. Davis and R. C. Gillis, as already announced exclusively in The Times, may be started in the near future.

OWNER OF DUDS WANTED.

Police Get Part of Wardrobe of Diamond Robber, but Man is Still at Large—Description Sent Out.

Frank Pearson, by which name the accomplice of H. W. C. Rogers, confessed diamond robber, is known, is in hiding in scanty attire unless he has been able to dispose of some of the stolen diamonds and buy more clothes.

The pieces of Pearson's wardrobe which he was not wearing when Detectives Jones and Boyd located him in San Diego a few days ago, arrived at the Central Station yesterday from San Diego, having been taken by the detectives and held temporarily in San Diego.

The detectives found Rogers and Pearson dressing in their room just before they were to separate, and Rogers was captured. Pearson, however, managed to escape, sans hat, coat, toothbrush, pajamas, etc., and with but about $1500 worth of the stolen gems in his pocket. The detectives pursued him about the Tent City at Coronado and when Pearson was last seen he was about 100 feet ahead of the detectives.

Believing that one robber in handcuffs is worth two at large, the detectives maintained their grasp on Rogers and allowed Pearson to escape. A description of Pearson has been sent out broadcast.

ONE OF ALLEGED BUNCO TRIO OFFERS EXPLANATION.

Men Charged With Having Attempted to Inveigle Local Realty Dealer Into the Purchase of Gamblers' Chips for "Fixed" Bank Game Are Released on Bond.

Giving bond of $500 each, Wyatt Earp, Waller cott and E. Dunn, the men charged with having attempted to inveigle J. Y. Peterson, a local real estate dealer, into the purchase of $2500 worth of gamblers' chips to be paid in a "fixed" bank game at the Auditorium Hotel Friday night, were released from the City Jail yesterday afternoon.

The detectives are in charge of the captured trio. The three men will be given a hearing Tuesday morning before Judge Chambers.

Earp, the best known of the trio, has a good many years been a resident of Los Angeles and is reputed to be worth at least $100,000. He says that it was purely accidental that he was present when the raid was made. How close was his accidental connection with the incident is apparent from the fact that the supposed club rooms at the Auditorium Hotel were not engaged until 6 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Scott engaged the rooms, registering at W. A. Stout from San Francisco, although he was recognized at 6 o'clock by the night clerk of the hotel, who has known him for twenty years. The rooms were not occupied until 6 o'clock that night, although the gamblers, a box of chips and a deck of pin-pricked cards had been spirited to the rooms sometime before.

The rooms were actually occupied only five minutes when the detectives made the arrests. The game never was started, as Peterson refused to "sit in" while he was the only outside man playing. The three men arrested had represented themselves to be employees of a San Francisco syndicate of gamblers which they wished to "throw down" because they themselves were not getting a fair percentage of the big money which the syndicate's operations were bringing.

That this city is a clearinghouse for confidence men and gamblers of many kinds, but that they seldom undertake to pull off a job in Los Angeles, is the conviction of many who are probably on the inside. Big operators among the bad men are said to come here from every part of the world in the winter time, while poker players, card sharks and crooked and all manner of smaller gamblers come from southwestern points to spend their summers here.

Some of the biggest confidence schemes in all parts of the world are said to be framed in Los Angeles, but the local officers are so familiar with the faces and records of so many of them that unless they are in desperate circumstances they seldom attempt anything of that kind here. Rich stories sometimes float to the surface here from the deeper currents of the guileful underworld.

At a prominent local cafe not long ago a globe trotter who makes this his permanent address spied a man and a woman dining together who had been run out of one of the greatest hotels of New York after having been apprehended in a $50,000 diamond robbery from members of New York's "Dr." Blank. The few who knew the man and woman dining together had been run out of one of the greatest hotels of New York after having been apprehended in a $50,000 diamond robbery from members of New York's "Dr." Blank.

Afterwards these persons came under the surveillance of local officers for a little while at the time of the recent diamond robbery here. In New York they posed as foreign bidders, but here they were found to be the world's most noted gamblers and in Louisiana the stakes are high.

LOUISIANA SALT MINES.

Contain Sufficient Deposits to Supply the Entire World For Many Ages to Come.

Manufacturers Record: After a visit to the marvelous salt mines at Avery Island and Weeks Island, on the Vermilion Bay coast line, one may say of Louisiana that if every other source of supply should be suddenly cut off, here is found salt sure to supply the world for ages to come.

In the mind of the general public, Louisiana is not usually thought of as a mineral State, her plantations, and their broad acres of cane, and cotton, corn and rice, and her forests of cypress and pine being the features which would naturally occur to the ordinary mind when the resources of Louisiana are brought to mind.

Nevertheless, it is a fact that there is a workable deposit of practically pure rock salt in the Avery Island mine estimated at 2,000,000,000 tons. The total consumption of salt last year in the United States was under 5,000,000 short tons.

The Avery Island deposit is being worked from a shaft 518 feet deep, but drills indicate the depth of the deposit to be 2212 feet.

The salt is simply quarried or blasted out by compressed air drills and dynamite. It is then conveyed in small cars, drawn by a narrow-gauge track by mules or horses upon the platform of a cage and hoisted and dumped at the top floor of the mill. Here the salt blocks are crushed and separated into the various grades of salt ready to be put on the market. It is of such remarkable purity that it is subjected to no purification processes whatever. The salt is simply crushed, screened, mechanically separated and made ready for the market.

OFF TO HALIFAX.

NEW YORK, July 22.—The first and probably the only important ocean motor boat race of the year in eastern waters started today on a course of 553 miles from Gravesend Bay to Halifax. Four New York boats made up the competitors for the rewards offered by the New York Yacht Club, first prize being $1000 in cash and a trophy of the same value, and second prize $500 in cash and $500 trophy.

A Soldier True. LAST COMMAND ONE OF PEACE.

GEN. CHAFFEE DONNED UNIFORM FIFTY YEARS AGO.

Grizzled Old Warrior, Member of Board of Public Works, Grows Reminiscent—Like Cincinnati of Old, He Left the Fields to Devote His Life to His Country.

Lieut.-Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, U.S.A. (retired), paused in his work as a member of the Board of Public Works yesterday morning and looked inquiringly at the ceiling. After some minutes he turned to Secretary Ferris and asked:

"What's this date?"
"July 22, General," said Ferris.
"Well, it's just fifty years ago today that I quit a job running a mowing machine and took my first job in the army," said Gen. Chaffee, laughing.

The remark was overheard, and passed through the City Hall, and upon after scores called to congratulate the former ranking officer of the army.

It was on July 22, 1841, that Gen. Chaffee, then a boy of 19, responded to the call for fighters and enlisted as a private in Troop K, Sixth Cavalry, at Warren, O. In two days he was put in charge of a drill squad, and in two months he was a corporal and from that time on he rose in the ranks until finally, in the Cuban campaign, he became a general in command of volunteer regiments.

He served throughout the War of the Rebellion, rendered important service during the Boxer uprising in China, and was commander in the Philippines in 1901 and 1902. Upon the retirement of Gen. Young he became the head of the United States Army with rank of Lieutenant-General but was retired because of age some months later. His retirement took effect five years ago last February and the following July he came to Los Angeles to reside.

Three years ago he was appointed a member of the Board of Public Works and at once assumed the official head of the aqueduct work.

In the past fifty years Gen. Chaffee has been without a command and yesterday, in commemorating the scenes when he first donned the army blue, he observed that his final command is one of peace and not of war.

He is one of four Lieutenant-Generals retired and now living. In the order of seniority they are Gen. Miles, Gen. Chaffee and McArthur. "McArthur is the kid," said Gen. Chaffee. "None of the four was a West Pointer and it happens that the present ranking head of the army, Gen. Leonard Wood, is also not a West Pointer."

SAYS FAT WOMEN PAY.

Originator of Bowery Dime Museum Entertains Spokes of Corrupt Women as Attractions.

"A fat woman always pays," said George A. Middleton at the Alexandria yesterday. For a moment he failed to explain whether she always pays the rent, for her clothes or the gas bill.

"What I mean is that she pays to have as an attraction in a side show," Middleton is the originator of the dime museum on the Bowery of New York. He was so successful there that he branched out in many cities of the country, having for a while a large circuit similar to the vaudeville circuits of today.

He amassed a fortune in a few years and while buying property picked out a site for a museum at Pasadena, where he had a large home and to which he was going after a trip through the East and a long sojourn in New York.

had them hauled in trucks pulled by four horses, lifted with derricks and pulled off other wonderful advertising features.

"After treatment of this kind the fat ladies became as skittish as prima donnas when it came to salary. They had to have their raise, their special compartments while traveling, the finest hotels or they would quit. The story which appeared in a magazine not many months since, to the effect that a fat lady was supposed to be so large that she was forced to lie down all the time was actually true to the detail. She wanted more money and when it was refused, she turned tables."

In the course of one of the performances in which the barker told of her immensity and the fact that she couldn't get out of bed, with a crowd of tent, she got right up, gathered some of her personal belongings and walked off. She got her raise."

Middleton started in the business with P. T. Barnum. He had charge of concessions and among other things had to look after the side show features. During the winter, while the show was lying idle, he decided to put some of the most valuable ones in a then untitled museum. In two weeks, the museum place was one of the most talked-of places in New York.

"The moving picture theaters killed the museum business to a large extent," said Middleton. "They were the end of a good thing. There are still museums, and there will be as long as the show business exists, but they don't get the money as they did in the old days."

Speaking of Barnum, he declared that P. T. was a very imprudent man. He was a man of great ideas, but little business ability. He never knew whether the circus had a hundred or three hundred horses, whether there were five or fifteen performers in a troupe and for that reason he lost a great amount of money.

BLIND BOY WINS.

FOMONA, July 22.—Frank W. Forester, who has been attending Berkeley for the past few years, has secured six subscriptions to The Times and is going to make the trip to the Times camp at Catalina Island. He is looking forward to it with a great deal of pleasure. Mr. Forester is totally blind, but this apparently did not hinder him from winning this unparalleled vacation offer. Mr. Forester has been assured the best time of his life.

Get Away From the Salary Grind

YOUR salary can be made a stepping stone to success rather than a mill around your neck.

Here is a proposition just suited to every man on salary. It is a new way to money from the soil without being a farmer. It is a combination of a modern financing and a scientific way in farming. It is elastic in scope—suited to the man who only invest $7.50 a month as well as the man who can put in $75 or more.

In the Owens River Valley, where Los Angeles is soon to get her water supply, several thousand acres of bench land, which results have shown to be particularly suited to the raising of apples—the kind that bring $2.50 and $3.00 a box in the Eastern market.

The Aqueduct Land and Orchards Company of Bishop has purchased 1300 acres of apple land of the Owens River Valley, under Owens River Canal—full of water flowing—and is planting it to commercial orchards to be sold on the unit plan.

JAY T. NASH

Secretary of the Klein Fruit Company, of Los Angeles, Cal.

In a letter to Aqueduct Land and Orchards Company says: "We are greatly interested in the development of Owens River Valley, as we believe conditions exist there which will grow apples of a quality second to none, and we believe equal to anything that can be raised in any section."

"The apples from that section are high colored, good flavor, good size, good keeping quality, and, in fact, everything is in their favor. And now that you have transportation direct through the southern end of the valley there is no reason why that section should not become one of the banner apple growing sections of the West. California has but few sections that can raise the high colored red apples successfully, and we believe that there is a great future for Owens Valley as an apple growing section."

A New and Safe Investment

The unit plan enables the non-resident to invest in an apple orchard on installments and derive a profit as come just as he would from stocks and bonds. The plan, however, has land as the security, and any time the owner wishes he can take actual possession of his property, changing his orchard bond for a deed.

The property of the Aqueduct Land and Orchards Company is divided into units, each unit being one-half acre, which purchase units own the land collectively, and the company plants, irrigates and develops the orchards, markets the crops, and the net proceeds are divided among the owners.

Science and care have made apple raising a constant supply of water. The Aqueduct Land and Orchards Company has the organization and the land and an gravity flow of water.

Investors Get Two Profits

Every unit owner gets two profits—one from the crop and one from the profits of the Company. This is without doubt the best form of investment for professional and business men and for the man or woman working for salary. The payments are so easy you never miss the money and all the time your land is more valuable so that you can count on a regular fixed income for life when the crop is into bearing.

Write at once for full information or call at the Company's office. Describe our beautiful booklet, "The Big Red Apple—The Money Tree." Learn about the of providing an income for life.

MAGNETIC FISH POWERFUL SHOCK

PUZZLING MARINE PHENOMENON BEING STUDIED.

No Record Can Be Made of This Peculiar Form of Electricity. Will Not Move a Testing Needle Nor Light a Tiny Lamp—Line Will Knock a Man Down.

A recent addition to the division of fishes in the new National Museum in Washington has proved one of the most interesting specimens in the entire collection. It is the electric ray, known in the language of the scientist as the torpedo. It is a harmless enough animal, but capable of repelling its enemies in a manner peculiarly its own. It gives it its common title of the "torpedo" fish.

The electric ray is of the skate variety, with a broad, flat nearly oval head and body, and a caudal appendage something like a whip. It is the majority of well-known fishes, its mouth is on the under side and it can only feel the way to it when feeding. But the real curiosity about the ray is its power of discharging the electric current. It is the power of the ray that has made it the subject of so much study.

There are really two batteries. They are located where one would naturally expect to find the breathing apparatus of the fish, to the right and the left of the head, black eyes and back. They are kidney-shaped, occupying, perhaps one-third of the upper part of the body.

When at peace with itself and the rest of the world, the torpedoed fish swims around at leisure on the sand in shallow water, burrowing in the sand at ease, but if it is attacked the battery is discharged and the enemy is glad to call it a drawn battle if it can swim away. It gets its prey by using its batteries to supply the necessary current to kill, but it must first complete a connection with the object of its attack.

Men have speared these torpedoes in shallow waters, and have caught them in nets, but on handling them have been very much startled. They have been repeatedly knocked down by a contact with them.

The species is common along the South Atlantic and Gulf Coast. The electric ray in the museum comes from the coast of Florida. It is but one of the many species of the torpedo family.

They can give a powerful shock, and I have been knocked down many times when experimenting with this fish, yet could make no record of this peculiar form of electricity, as it had no effect on my battery, testing needle, and it would not light a little electric lamp that required but two and a half volts.

Several barefooted fishermen have been knocked down by stepping on the electric ray in the water. They remain soft and rubbery like a foam rubber solution that hardened other specimens.

There is one adult ray and four little ones in the display. The little rays in life are capable of numbing the human hand by contact.

Dr. J. B. S. Patten, of the division of fishes, has written a paper on the electric ray, which has been published under the title of "The Electric Ray and Its Young From the West Coast of Florida."

BOWSER'S CENTURY PLANT.

He Sits Up to See It Bloom.

BY M. QUAD.

After dinner the other evening Mr. Bowser took a little walk, and when he returned he had a flower pot and a plant in his arms. He carried it through the house with great care and set it carefully down in the back yard, and when he returned Mrs. Bowser asked:

"What was your object in buying it?"

"You know what it is, don't you?"

"It's what they call a century plant. The flower peddler has been here with 'em fifty different times this summer."

"You know what a century plant does when a hundred years are up, don't you?"

"It is said they blossom, but I never met a person who had witnessed it. It's one of the foolish old legends."

"Is it? Well, it will be for me to convince you to the contrary. At midnight tonight that plant will be 100 years old, and it will blossom, that's the reason I bought it."

"Do you mean to say that someone has kept it for a hundred years and can tell right to the hour when it is to blossom?" asked Mrs. Bowser.

"To the very hour. As the bells strike midnight this plant will burst into blossom. I am going to take notes of the bursting, and shall write an article that the world will read with interest. It is now over fifty years since the last century plant bloomed, and unfortunately there was no one there to take notes. It is said that when the plant is about to blossom there is a low moaning in the air. Then it gives a sigh and a shiver, and next moment it bursts into full bloom. In other words, it throws off the shackles of a hundred years."

"I don't believe any such nonsense. Where did you get it?"

"Why—why, a gentleman down the street who knows my tastes for scientific research."

"You mean a gentleman who knows what a soft mark you are?"

"Mrs. Bowser, please drop that strain," said Mr. Bowser, as he settled back. "I think I can run this house. If I wish to buy a century plant and see it burst into blossom I don't know that you have anything to say about it. I am devoted to scientific research, and you don't care a snap whether the world progresses or not. That's the difference between us."

"But you are being taken in and done for all the time," she protested.

"Halt, right there. I have never been taken in and done for in my whole life. There isn't a man living sharp enough to do it."

Mrs. Bowser was so stunned that she couldn't say a word, and he continued:

"Every time I have a chance to rise in the world, you, in your envy, and jealousy, seek to pull me down. You are doing it in this instance. The world has offered honors to the person who will solve the mystery of the century plant," she replied, "and that he is your attitude toward me?"

"I'm quite sure there was a peddler along here today, with that very old plant," she replied, "and that he offered it to me for 10 cents. I will say no more. However, you probably paid $10 for it."

"And will reap a million dollars worth of fame, of which you shall not share an iota. I forbid it. When I am interviewed tomorrow I shall convey the impression that I am a widower, and shall ask you to keep out of sight. I think that is all that need be said—I think so. You may get down on your knees to me tomorrow and render the most abject apology, but to whether I shall forgive or not is a different thing."

At 9:30 o'clock Mr. Bowser retired to the back yard for his vigil. The plant was placed on the head of a barrel, and a chair taken out for him. He provided himself with a note-book and pencil, and with his straw hat, dressing gown and slippers he looked the true scientist out for information to jar the whole world. He didn't expect anything to take place until close to midnight, but he wanted to have time to go over certain points in his first.

Within the next hour forty different cats walked the fences and looked down on that 100-year-old plant and the man guarding it, but they committed no overt act. A dozen different boys, from as many back windows, also looked down and realized what a target was before them, but they went to bed without throwing a single lump or penny. And the girl and the south wind conspired to make the research an unqualified success.

At 11 o'clock Mr. Bowser began taking notes. He gave the plant a close scrutiny and then wrote:

"In one short hour the mystery will be solved."

"I cannot believe that the man who sold me this plant is a liar, and I am beat him down from $10 to $100."

"Mrs. Bowser, in her envy and jealousy, may have bribed the cook to slip out here and send the plant, but I see no signs of it."

"Tomorrow my name will be flying over the wires to the uttermost parts of the earth. A golden opportunity comes once to every man, and this is mine."

"It is now half-past eleven."

"I am very calm. I wonder if Dr. Cook was as calm as this when he discovered the North Pole?"

"There shall be no faking about this. If the King of Sweden invites me to luncheon he shall be satisfied that there is no fake about my discovery."

"A moment ago I thought I heard a moaning in the air—a soft and gentle moaning, like a child falling to sleep. That was what the man said I was to look for."

"Think of it—a plant a hundred years old. If it could speak what would it tell us?"

"It is now a quarter to twelve. Do I hear moans and sighs, or do I not?"

"I try to be very, very calm, and yet I think I tremble. I wonder if Humboldt felt this way when he discovered the Andes?"

"Ten minutes to twelve! I find my heart palpitating. I must feel like Dr. Soto did when told that the Mississippi river was around the corner."

"Those sighs and moans I hear cannot possibly come from cats."

"A century ago, when this plant sprang from the seed, we had hardly been recognized as a nation! There wasn't a cook in the United States who knew enough to fry oysters. The forty-nine-cent corset, marked down from a dollar, was a thing never dreamed of by the most sanguine. A long hundred years—and—"

"Five minutes to the event of a century!"

"The thought that the man who sold me the plant lied clear down to his boots flashes over me, but I repeat it, with scorn."

"There are moans!"

"There are sighs!"

"There are whistles all around me!"

"The century plant is bursting into bloom! It is either that or—"

"It was something like this shadowy form entered by the alley gate and stole across the grass and grabbed Mr. Bowser."

He was thrown on his back and rubbed of his hat, gown, slippers and watch, and as the shadows retreated one of them carried the pot and plant to be found in the alley next morning.

Mrs. Bowser, who had witnessed all from a back window, hastened down and aided Mr. Bowser to get on his legs and get the grass out of his hair and ears and mouth. As soon as he could speak, he shouted:

"Woman, I'll—I'll—"

"Hush," she whispered. "You are not a hundred years old, but you have burst into bloom, and now come in and go to bed!"

Dawson Has a Gusher.

The Dawson Oil Company, has a gusher, according to a wire yesterday evening from President Dawson at Maricopa to the officials of the company here. Heavy gas pressure had been forcing large quantities of sand up in the casing, preventing the flow of oil. When this finally was cleared, the production started with a roar. The flow is very large, but has not yet been measured.

There is no doubt, that the well is to be one of the large gushers of the field.

Inspecting the Property.

E. B. Browne, secretary and treasurer of the Reubens Oil Company, is spending a week on the property. It is in section 26 and 27, 28-30, McKittrick, where a wide area of light oil territory has recently been proven.

There was a seventy-five barrel well of 22 gravity oil on the 160 acres in section 26, when the Reubens recently bought it, in which the oil well was found at 300 feet. The adjoining Morris Bay Company has two such shallow test wells. Both companies have been making extensive development of their properties.

How Strange It Seemed to Wake Last Night.

And hear the baby breathe—the room. Under the night-lamp's shaded light. Wrapped softly in a gentle gloom!

What mystic wonder stirred us then, With joy and love what mingled awe.

Before this little slumberer, when! The flowerlike face we dimly saw!

A moment there we hung appalled, Fearing to read in life's long scrolls Fate of this soul that we had called Out of the vasty deep of souls.

Perhaps the Lord of Being bent That instant to our childish prayer— For still the low breath came— Went.

But peace and blessing filled the air. Hushed, Prescott Spofford in Harper's Bazar.

World's Largest Bakery.

The largest bakery in the world is located in Essen, Prussia. The home of men, divided into shifts, work night and day.

Everything is done by machinery, says the London Post. A series of rollers, driven by a steam engine, knead the dough, which is poured into water and ten sacks of flour of 200 pounds each.

The machine makes about 40,000 pounds of bread each day in the shape of 25,000 small loaves and 25,000 large loaves, produced by 250 sacks of flour of 200 pounds each. All the operations of breadmaking are performed in this factory.

The wheat arrives, is cleaned, ground and brought automatically to the kneading trough by a series of rising and descending pipes.

There are thirty-six double ovens, and the workmen who watch over the baking of the bread earn from 8 to 10 cents an hour, making an average of 80 cents a day for eleven hours on duty. They have coffee and bread free; also the use of a bathroom, for they are required to keep themselves back and rubbed of their hats, gown, slippers and watch, and as the shadows retreated one of them carried the pot and plant to be found in the alley next morning.

Mrs. Bowser, who had witnessed all from a back window, hastened down and aided Mr. Bowser to get on his legs and get the grass out of his hair and ears and mouth. As soon as he could speak, he shouted:

That was the reason for the evolutionary experiments of Darwin and others and to give to the poor monk the experiments to come to life. So it was that in 1884 practically unknown a dozen years ago, as a Buddhist monk, he began to break the monk's records and to take the world. In the century since Mendel continues researches great and small. At this time the monk began to receive and profit from the work. In both Europe and America the work has been widely accepted by biologists. The demonstrations of Euclid are being replaced by mathematical demonstrations. The dawn of history has been engaged in improving the animals and plants by the selection of selected individuals. The result of the experiments along this line, especial-

Beyond question, the most vital point for you to watch. During the panic of 1907 the stockholders of the Los Angeles Investment Company had returned to them in spot cash all of their investments if they wished them, without a minute's delay. The Guarantee Fund of more than $55,000, held and managed by the Globe Savings Bank, has for its sole object the protection from loss of those persons purchasing from the Company not more than $500 worth of its stock. Its purpose is to give you back your money on demand. It is possible for the Fund to return all of an investor's money because the Company receives it all to start with, none of it being diverted to the pockets of "agents" as "commissions." There is nothing evasive in this guarantee. It does not undertake to try to sell your stock to some one else. The money is there. If you want your money back—ask for it.

to signs of dwarf peas at all did not stop there. Next year these hybrids and this year's hybrids were crossed, and the tall ones were all of the proportion of three to one. But he did not even then find the law. It was not until the third year that he found this time that in every case true to type, the same result occurred in every case tall peas, and the dwarfs produced in the same proportion.

He made other experiments to determine principles or laws in the tall and dwarf peas. In the first three-fourths of the offspring were tall, and one-fourth were dwarf, and since the tall failed to disappear, he concluded that the same law applied to animals. The same law was found in the brown mice were crossed, and the white appeared in the offspring, and the white was dominant or recessive. In the brown offspring were of the same color, and in the spring were most of the white.

That is what you can buy now, but it will be a different story after the Panama Canal is opened.

Ten years ago when the United States took over Porto Rico, land was selling there at $50 an acre, and business was stagnant. Today Porto Rico is enjoying marvelous prosperity and agricultural lands are selling on a valuation of $500 an acre.

THAT is what the United States has done for Porto Rico, and THAT is what it is going to do for Panama.

NOW is the time to buy.

It will cost you nothing to investigate. Come in tomorrow.

Itching. In 3 Weeks Eczema Cured.

"I suffered with eczema on my neck for about six months, beginning by little pimples breaking out. I kept scratching until the blood came. Sleep was worse. I couldn't sleep nights any more. It was itching for about a week. I went to a doctor and got some medicine, but it didn't help. I was going to see better. The itching stopped about three days, but when it started again, it was worse than before. The eczema itched so badly I couldn't stand it any more. I went to a doctor and he said, 'Just don't do any good.' So we have been having Cuticura Remedies for the last two weeks. I had been using Cuticura soap, so I got me a box of Cuticura Ointment. I rubbed it on the affected part with Cuticura Soap three times a day, and then put the Cuticura Ointment on. The itching was so relieved me of itching so I could sleep all that night. It took about three days. I could see the scab come off. I kept the Cuticura on for three weeks, and my eczema was cured."

"My brother got his face burned with gunpowder, and he used Cuticura Remedies. The people all thought he would have scars, but you can see his face. His face burned. It was simply awful to look at. He used Cuticura Remedies (Soap and Ointment) cured it. (Signed) J. C. Smith, General, Forrest City, Ark., Oct. 18, 1910.

answers clearly:

There is but a limited amount of beach property within reach of Los Angeles, the metropolis of Southern California. Along the more northerly and older beaches, property values have been advanced to figures at which beach lots are out of reach of most people with moderate means. HERMOSA BEACH offers the solution.

—?and HERMOSA BEACH
answers clearly:

Improvements, developments, value increasing works are going on here all the time. HERMOSA BEACH has more miles of macadamized and excellently asphalted streets than any other town of the same population in the entire United States. There are telephones, electric lights, gas, chemically pure drinking water from artesian wells, in fact, everything to be desired in an ideal home town.

answers clearly:

That beach property is and will be still more in demand is beyond argument. That HERMOSA BEACH, planned and developed as it is, will continue to increase in popularity is also beyond question. That Real Estate investment at HERMOSA BEACH is safe, sound, promising, profit-producing and in every way reliable, past history of the town has proven beyond the shadow of a doubt.

BUSINESS MEN STUDYING EUROPE.
A Week in England and Members Have Learned a Lot that Will Be of Home—Will Visit All the Principal [CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]
Steffens' articles in Everybody's Magazine will employ this idea as a leading motive. The chief continental cities, and are booked to sail for home via Cherbourg on August 16.
"As to our reception I can only say it has been most hospitable everywhere. We have been met in the leading cities by delegations here by delegations from the Chambers of Commerce, who are members of the International Congress, men who understand us, and are working to the same end ourselves—the general bettering and expansion of business, and the perfect solution of economic problems. And we have seen some wonderful things. At Liverpool the docks and the admiralty working out of the housing problem; at Port Sunlight the great Lever soap works; at Manchester the marvelous ship canal, and in London the various wonderful municipal improvements, especially the system of automatic electric lighting is wonderful. We went out from Liverpool to see the docks, and we did. In some things, certain forms of co-operative enterprise, England is far ahead of us. But that is as it should be, for we have not yet arrived at that stage when we need such co-operation as this crowded country with its smaller resources.
"We are all traveling together and yet each man is seeing what he specializes in, and incidentally we are getting a good deal of pleasure out of the trip. Every hour of it has its appointments, for nearly two solid months, but it is not all work and no play. Sunday afternoon, for instance, the Board of Trade gave us a dinner. In London a special reception was held for us at the Embassy by Ambassador and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid. We have been officially received and welcomed at the Guild Hall, and a delegation from the London Chamber of Commerce has given us a luncheon at the Hotel Savoy. We have visited the great dock system and made a thorough investigation of London municipal enterprises—a pretty good three days' programme on the whole.
The visit to Manchester seems to be the most striking episode of the tour just commenced. All the members of the delegation are laud in praise of the enterprise displayed in turning a great inland manufacturing city into a great seaport and a great port of call. Amos E. Little of Boston, a prominent member of the bar and a member of the delegation, believes that Worcester, fifty miles from Boston, could be brought to the sea in this way.
"It is true we have no international commerce," he said, "to back us like Manchester has, but there is a wide and splendid country behind us, including the Canadian Northwest. As Manchester I saw them unloading goods by electricity, and one man doing it all, too, by pressing a button. We haven't got that far yet. That Manchester ship canal has made me a firm believer in municipal ownership."
Mayor Speer of Denver said what particularly struck him over here was the respect invariably shown for superior everywhere in officialdom.
"It's not like our free and easy ways," he said—and the big man sighed. Asked his opinion of municipal ownership based on what he had seen so far, he said it seemed to work very well here, although he was not ready to form a final opinion about it—but that he did not believe we were first ready for it in America.
"There seems to be very little graft here, indeed," he said. "But there is the use of embassies, great deposits or even referring to it. Over here they look for the good. That's one great difference between us—while we always seem to be looking for the bad."
Fifteen members of the party are accompanied by their wives.
inary, form the regular six-sided prism, in which it also occurs crystallized, generally, however, modified on the edges. Commonly striated horizontally. Cleavage parallel to the planes of a six-sided pyramid. Also occurs globular, botryoidal, reniform and massive. Color green, yellow, gray and brown of various shades. Luster resinous. Streak white or yellow. Brittle. Fracture imperfectly conchoidal and dull. Hardness 3.5 to 4. Sp. gr. 4.88 to 5. Before the blow-pipe easily, on cooling, solidifies with vivid fluorescence to an angular crystalline mass.
On charcoal, mixed with soda and borax, fuses to a glassy, globular, and metallic lead is obtained. Soluble in nitric acid and the solution becomes turbid on addition of silver nitrate. The sample is a handsome one, and mineral represented by the sample is of value, not only for its high lead content, but also for its value in mineral collections.
Antimony Present.
TUMA (Ariz.) July 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I am sending you a sample of ore that has been quite a puzzle to me. On roasting it with borax and soda, on charcoal, then pulverizing, washing and rubbing it in a glass mortar a large quantity of metallic antimony, which is quite resistant to nitric acid.
I had it assayed for platinum with negative results. A complete analysis shows the ore to be composed of iron, copper, lime and silica, but the chemist could not trace the white metal.
The ore is found in Imperial county, Cal. in volcanic formation. I think it is antimony; it gives a lemon-yellow precipitate in nitro-hydrochloric acid when a little sulphuric acid is added. Thanking you for past favors, I am Yours truly, F. T. TUMA.
ANSWER: The metal you obtain is a mixture of iron, copper and antimony; antimony present low per cent, and probably (native) as arsenical antimony.
Roasting with borax and soda on charcoal would hardly yield pure metal in presence of the elements referred to and especially so when in contact with such a reactive matter which (arsenic) is present in the mass, furthermore, boiling (concentrated) nitric acid puts the metal (?) and probably refers to into solution.
Arsenical antimony occurs also in kidney-shaped masses and amorphous with a granular or somewhat compact texture. Color tin white or reddish gray, with a brownish-black lustrous. Luster metallic, occasionally splendent, sometimes dull. Structure curved, lamellar. Hardness 3.55; sp. gr. 4.8.

Before the blow-pipe fumes of arsenic and antimony are given off, and fuses to a metallic globule, which burns away, leaving a residue of antimony on the charcoal.
Mineral (such as you submit,) very frequently deceives the mining boys in the hills; indeed, there are many camps, where one can be entertained by visiting the blacksmith forges and watch operations which consists of some of the ore being placed on the anvil, mixed with borax, soda, and charcoal.
Indeed, we have witnessed "the process" go to a conclusion with only the fluxes named, and no ore on the anvil, when it is and behold, the same old "white metal" would be a result.
Diorite.
SAN DIEGO, July 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I am interested in the short article in your paper, I enclose a sample of rock which came from a depth of 170 feet, and for which I can find no name. Will you please tell me what it is?
Yours truly, E. E. W.
ANSWER: The sample are, in part, rock (various diorites), and with a trace of antimony is present in the mass.
With the diorite, we find two small samples of "iron-granite" of the mining boys.
Commended.
CENTRAL BANK ALDRICH PLAN.
PRESIDENT JACKSON'S LACK OF JUDGMENT.
The United States Bank was an Institution as Sound as the Bank of England and Was Adapted to the Business Needs of the Nation—Its Abolishment Created Panic.
For a man who is not a banker and who makes no pretense to a knowledge of the intricacies of the business, President Taft was exceptionally happy in his address in support of the "Aldrich plan" before the New York State Bankers' Association at its annual dinner, says the New York Times. Speeches of this sort that do not go deeply into the technique of the National Monetary Commission's report will do much more toward popularizing the plan than the explanations of it in minute detail, because the latter can interest comparatively few people besides bankers. The President did well to refer to the old United States Bank as he did, because somehow or other a notion has come down to this generation that that institution of more than three-quarters of a century ago was a vicious one and that President Andrew Jackson did a great public service when he fought it to the death—and this notion is added a widespread impression that the "Aldrich plan" proposes a reproduction of that system. The President said in this connection:
"Some critics whose comments on the plan I have seen have said: 'Ah, there is still in this plan a central bank! You call it a National Reserve Association, but it is nevertheless a central bank and open to all the objections that crowd upon one in the consideration of the evils of a central bank.'"
"References are made to the great battle which Andrew Jackson carried on against the Bank of the United States and its branches, and party feeling is sought to be aroused by a suggestion that such an institution is contrary to the principles of one of the great parties. The fact is that this Reserve Association lacks all the elements which made Jackson oppose the continuance of the United States Bank. It is true that the National Reserve Association is a central bank in a certain sense. Under its plan it will do and is empowered to do a kind of a banking business; it is to have the benefit of all government deposits without interest, it may receive deposits from all national banks, it may re-discount under certain conditions prime commercial paper of such banks and it may issue its notes to banks in payment of their credit balances. It may charge commission and discount on other banks; but it must confine its dealings to banks and not extend them to individuals except in its foreign-exchange business, where it is permitted to sell and buy foreign exchange and gold with a view to the maintenance of its general fiscal operations."
The President might have urged the point a little farther—for he was conscious, of course, that he was addressing a much larger audience than his banker-guests—and have added that in its plan the Bank of the United States was an institution as sound as the Bank of England, and as well adapted to the business needs of the times and the conditions here as was the latter to the needs of Great Britain; and Jackson's hostility to it was based chiefly on prejudice, not to say ignorance; coming into the Presidency he found the bank offered almost exclusively by men of the opposing political party—and for a man of his temperament that was quite enough to arouse his militant hostility to it; he worked up popular feeling against the bank not for anything that it had done or proposed to do but for the reason, as he viewed it, that it was possible for it to become a vicious institution, a great engine of political oppression. That he had only an imperfect knowledge of banking, could not understand in advance the effect of certain banking policies by the government, is shown by the fact that he put the Bank of the United States out of business without providing anything to take its place; that left the field wide open for the chartering of State banks—and within a year or two there were 634 of these, many of them essentially weak and in reckless hands; the era of "wild-cat" banks followed, and the country went crazy with speculation; Jackson saw financial trouble coming—and again he displayed his lack of judgment; he issued his famous "specie circular," ordering all agents to accept nothing but gold or silver in payment for public lands; the banks were called on at once to redeem all their paper circulation in specie. They couldn't do it, of course, and had to suspend payment; a general financial and business crash followed. That was the panic of 1837—and Andrew Jackson was chiefly responsible for it. There is no earthly reason why Democrats of today should oppose a central bank system because a Democratic President of seventy-five years ago unwisely fought such a system out of existence.

WAITING NOW ON TEST WELL
Other Companies Will Watch G. R. Prove Up.
Work Progressing East of San Emidio.
Much of the Land Is Owned in Fee Simple.
[Special Correspondence of The Times.]
BAKERSFIELD, July 21.—Other oil companies that were drilling in the district east of San Emidio and west of Tejon pass have stopped work pending the completion of the G. R. well on section 22, 11-20, which is now nearing the 1800-foot mark with the drill in a gray sand that it is believed lies not far above the oil measure. This belief rests on the similarity of the formation with that encountered in the Coalinga field, and further developments in the G. R. well are to be watched with great interest accordingly.
If the G. R. well is a well, the San Emidio, which was stopped in its development work some time ago by an injunction in favor of the Kern County Land Company, will at once renew work with vigor. The Kern County Land Company claimed the section on which the San Emidio was drilling by virtue of a lien land selection, but the court did not sustain the injunction. The injunction was dissolved, but the oil company has not yet resumed and may not unless the G. R. gets a well or abandons the effort. The latter company is well financed and is able to thoroughly test the territory.
The Oil Canyon Oil Company, another neighbor of the G. R., has leveled an assessment recently, presumably for the purpose of resuming development. The Oil Canyon lost one hole in the effort to get through the wash, which is very heavy in that territory, or taken under option by speculators and oil men. If oil is struck in the vicinity of the G. R., it is probable, but in a quiet way many other wells undoubtedly will be sunk for the purpose of proving lands in that vicinity.
The Eastern Trading & Oil Company, drilling in wild territory in the northeast part of the county near Duocor, is down 1224 feet with no sign of oil.
The Sunset Drilling Oil Company on section 19, 11-22, is making hole once more, having explored the sand stratum at 1650 feet or thereabout and found that it did not contain oil as was hoped. That there was oil in the well at the depth mentioned is not doubted, but it came from a thin sand stratum a hundred feet or farther up, according to the present belief of the directors. The hole is now about 1500 feet deep, and a 10-10-inch string is following not far behind the tools. Jack Bennett is in charge of the drilling operation.
The T. & G. Drilling Co. is drilling on the land in the well-proven portion of the Buena Vista hills.
The Rock Oil Company on section 22, 11-22, has two producing wells and is down 1860, 1700 and 1500 feet respectively in Nos. 6, 7 and 8.
The Midway Southern, which recently began drilling on section 8, 11-22, is down 790 feet and making excellent progress.
The August Oil Company will be drilling again soon in its well on section 6, 11-22, which opened a gas pocket recently which threw the tools out of the well and through the crown block. Oil and is expected within the next fifty feet. The rig is up for well No. 2, and so soon as No. 1 is completed the tools will be moved to No. 2 and drilling begun there.
The Midway Northern's well No. 2, on section 22, 11-22, is flowing 1650 barrels per day from forty-five feet of oil sand through which the casing was sunk. The production of the company's two wells is sold to the Standard at 40 cents.
The Honolulu Consolidated's well No. 2 on section 14, 32-24, is making about 400 barrels of 16-gravity oil per day, which is sold to the Standard for 65 cents per barrel. Well No. 1 on section 12, 11-22, is still giving trouble on account of heaving sand, and the well is now being circulated to keep it free.
The Standard Oil Company is drilling four wells on what is considered 4000-foot territory in section 12, 32-24. Some of the wells are nearing the depth where the oil sands are expected.
The Western Minerals' well on section 22, 11-22, the well that yields the light green lubricating oil, is still causing trouble with heavy sand that bridges the casing and stops the pump. The Associated Drilling Co. is drilling in its well on section 30, 30-24, in the northern part of the Elk hills, where a light sand was struck about 5500 feet. This sand has been caused off with a six-inch casing, and the hole is being deepened with a rotary for the purpose of thoroughly testing the territory.
Boy Slept in Trees.
A remarkable story of a boy who has slept in trees for eight months was told at Stratford Police Court recently, when Charles Brown, aged 13, a smart-looking lad, wearing a clean India rubber collar, was charged with being found sleeping without proper control or guardianship. The boy was found asleep in the doorway of a house at Chalford road, Walthamstow, and when questioned he said he had nowhere to go.
Mr. S. Curwen (the chairman): "Where are your parents?"
"They are dead."
"Where do you sleep?"
"Anywhere."
"Where did you sleep the night before you were arrested?"
"In Epping Forest."
"How long have you been sleeping in the forest?"
"Ever since the end of last June."
"What sleeping in the forest all that time? You couldn't have slept there in the winter?"
"Yes, I did. I climbed up the trees and slept among the branches."
"How have you lived?"
"I have sold papers."
"Well, how have you kept your clothing clean?"
"A boy I buy my papers from gets them washed for me."
"Have you been to school, now?"
"Yes, I went to school till July."
"While you were sleeping in the forest?"
"Yes."
The bench remanded the boy for further inquiries.—(London Evening News.)

NEW DWELLINGS BOOST PERMITS.

The Pasadena Home Builders
Never So Active.

July Construction May Total
Quarter-Million.

Site for High School Passes Into City's Hands.

PASADENA, July 22.—Although the past week was marked by no spectacular building record, much work was in progress in the city, and a number of valuable pieces of property changed hands.

Most of the permits issued recently have been for the erection of bungalows and small frame houses of the higher class. The plans of some of these show they will be artistic structures.

Contractors and others who are interested in building in Pasadena, hope to see the permits for the month of July reach the $200,000 mark. Already they have exceeded $100,000 and many more are expected to be taken out before August 1. Permits for the month of July, last year totaled $185,000.

Paul Holm is soon to begin the erection of an $18,000 residence on Oak Knoll. Bids were received several days ago and telegraphed to the owner, who is now out of the city. The specifications call for a building of two stories and basement, with eighteen rooms. The foundations are to be of concrete and the basement and porches will be paved with lithart tile.

The house is to have a plaster exterior, over metal lath, with wrought-iron balconies.

A contract has been awarded for the construction of an eleven-room house for A. G. Wells in Altadena. It is to be two stories in height, with a basement. The exterior finish will be of plaster over metal lath for the first story, while shakes will be used for the second story. The building will have a composition roof.

Although the actual work will not be begun for some time, architects have been commissioned to prepare plans for a residence to be built by C. J. Willett of this city, which is to cost approximately $20,000.

SCHOOL SITE SECURED.

The Rose Villa site for the proposed new Polytechnic High School is now the property of the city of Pasadena. The formal transfer from Mr. and Mrs. Marcus A. Hall was made last week. The city was given a debt-free transfer, and the sellers of the property accepted a district warrant for the purchase price. The property has a frontage of 512 feet. Members of the Board of Education are desirous of obtaining, in addition to the west thirty-five feet of Sierra Bonita avenue, claimed by the city. Plans looking toward this end are now being made. A lot to Sierra Bonita avenue at Colorado street renders the opening of this street impossible.

Street-improvement work now under way in the northern part of the city, coupled with improvements for which petitions are being prepared, will materially alter the appearance of this section of the city. Property owners on North Los Robles avenue want a macadam pavement extending from Washington street to Woodbury road. A petition asking that the work be ordered done will soon be filed with the City Council.

The widening of Garfield avenue and the improvement of that thoroughfare with oil macadam has made it one of the best streets in the city. North Fair Oaks avenue, between Washington and Montana streets, also has been re-rolled and sanded.

Several streets in the northeast part of the city are being widened and made to conform with the official grade. Cement curbing is being put in.

The following list of buyers in the Arnold's Altadena Acres addition to the city, which was put on the market June 19, last, has been announced by the C. H. Yearlan Company:

B. W. Parke, Madison, Wis., two acres; Robert Slightam, Los Angeles, five acres; Dr. J. J. Shierley, Washington, D. C., three acres; Richard King, Los Angeles, one acre; Richard P. Sherman, Tower City, N. D., two acres; L. F. Anderson, Los Angeles, two acres; B. F. Profit, Joplin, Mo., one acre; and Otto Anderson, Los Angeles, one acre.

PLAN IMPOSING CHURCH.

Santa Ana House of Worship Will Follow Classic Lines—Los Angeles Architect Is Drawing Designs.

SANTA ANA, July 22.—Plans for the handsome new church to be erected by the United Presbyterian congregation of this city have been practically completed by Architect H. M. Patterson of Los Angeles. The structure, which is to stand at the northwest corner of Sixth and Bush streets, three blocks west of the present church, will be one of the most attractive of the many attractive houses of worship in Santa Ana.

The new site is 100x125 feet in size and the building itself will be 75x115 feet. The construction is to be of hollow tile plastered, the whole resting on a concrete base. The style of architecture will be classic.

The basement will extend under the entire building and will contain large social and club rooms, dining-room, kitchen, library and heating and toilet facilities.

The main entrance will be on Sixth street midway between the Sunday-school and auditorium. There will also be another entrance on the main frontage and one on Bush street as well. The main auditorium will be connected with the Sunday-school room by sliding doors. The Sunday-school end of the building will contain the church parlors, lecture rooms, class rooms and retiring rooms, and a balcony at the same end of the church will be divided into large enclosed class rooms.

RECORD WEEK.

PERMIT TOTAL IS HIGH.

GLENDALF, July 21.—Building permits to the amount of $23,550 were issued in this city this week, this probably being the highest figure ever known in this city within any seven-day period. At the corner of Fourth street and Brand boulevard, Dr. N. L. Rudy, in conjunction with the Glendale Investment Company, will build a two-story brick block. This building will cost $16,000. Dr. Rudy's permit being for $9000, while the investment company's will be for $7000. The structure will have pressed brick facing, composition roof, galvanized iron cornice, plate glass front and skylights. There will be four large storerooms on the main floor, the upper floor being divided into office rooms and apartments.

Just north of the foregoing block a garage will be started by Parker & Sternberg, local real estate dealers. This building will be 50x45 feet on the ground. It will have pressed brick front and two large plate glass windows. The top of the front wall will be ornamented with four pillars which will bear electric lights.

USE GAS FOR FUEL.

ECONOMY PRACTICED.

Superintendent Kyle of the Atlanta Oil Company reports that its ten producing wells on the Kern River property are all in fine shape. Gas collected from the wells is carried to the battery of boilers by a two-inch pipe line and used for fuel. This is a further step in the economical management of the property, and represents the saving of thirty barrels of oil a day. Two rigs are up and all material is on the ground for drilling and completing more wells, and one will be on the pump within a month. The main oil sand is found at 340 feet and the formation is easy drilling.

On the company's Ventura property the No. 1 well is down about 400 feet. A one-inch steel cable has replaced the rope with which the hole was started.

BUILD ON HOMESTEAD.

A two-story pressed-brick business block will be erected in New Vermont Square for the four daughters of William Dryden, the former owner of the 140 acres comprising the tract recently sold to the Southwest Land Company. The building is to be built at the southwest corner of Santa Barbara and Western avenues. The plan of the Los Angeles Street Railway Company to provide yellow car service over the Santa Barbara avenue tracks through Inglewood with a terminus at Hawthorne are expected to greatly benefit the new tract.

SEARCHLIGHT CAMP.

SEARCHLIGHT (Nev.) July 21.—After a season of inactivity, except for work done by lemmings, covering a period of more than a year and a half, work has been resumed on the Duplex property.

The latter part of last week G. F. Colton, owner of the property, arrived from Los Angeles. Mr. Colton has been in the habit of paying the camp short visits for some time. On the occasion of each arrival Searchlighters have been in the habit of wondering what would be the result of the visit. On this last occasion, as usual, the town people were speculating as to what would be next, when it was rumored that actual work was to begin this time.

This past week a force of men, under the foremanship of R. S. Morrison, former superintendent of the Duplex, was put to work. The work mapped out for them is of considerable magnitude, consisting, as it does, of straightening and retimbering of the Searchlight, or as it is better known, the Duplex shaft for a distance of 600 feet, the unwinding of the shaft and the running of a drift on the 400-foot level to connect with Same old story.

The Angels might have won yesterday if it had not been for young Levens, and even at that they would have won with him had he not blown up with a bang in the seventh inning. At that time the score was 3 to 1 in his favor, but while he was blowing himself the Tigers made four runs and this belated rush landed them winners. With two out and three men on bases, Dillon yanked out Levens and stuck in Delhi, and he prevented any more runs.

Stewart got by in fine shape except in the seventh inning, when the Angels caught him napping and scored their three runs. Before and after taking this medicine he was there in grand shape, and yet he would have lost had not the Tigers come to his rescue by hitting the ball in the seventh.

It was a pretty little game, for errors were scarce, and things were so uncertain that no one could guess how the finish would be until the game was ended in the ninth. There were a number of fine fielding stunts, and the credit of saving the game for Vernon must be given to Roy Eraser, who cut the Angels out of two runs in the fifth by a fine running catch in right field, with two out and three men on bases. Had he missed the ball nothing could have prevented the locals from making at least a pair of runs.

It started out like a smashing good game, for the best either team could do was to get two scattered singles in the first three innings. In the fourth, however, Patterson doubled against the left fence with one out and ran to third on Eraser's fielded out. McDonnell, a dangerous batter, was passed, and he and Patterson worked a double steal. Patterson scoring because Moore returned the ball too high to Smith at the plate.

In the seventh, with two out for the Angels, Daley walked and stole sec-

W. M. Garland, in the Pierce-Arrow touring car, has reached Kineo, Me. In a wire to W. E. Bush, the local Pierce-Arrow agent, Garland says he covered 1419 miles after having traveled twenty days. He says he finished the run without an adjustment to the engine and without the slightest trouble.

"With a national highway from the Atlantic to the Pacific a million people will visit California," wires Garland.

This run across the continent has been strenuous. It has proved one of the most interesting ever pulled off. The Pierce-Arrow started from Los Angeles and covered the entire route from the Atlantic to the Pacific in a remarkable run.

Automobile men watching the game between Los Angeles and Vernon at Washington Park yesterday.

MOTOR BALL FANS STEADY
BOOSTERS AT LOCAL PARK.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

WHAT would a baseball game, as without at least one automobile dealer present? This question will probably not be answered this season. From one to twenty motor men are in the grand stand every time two of the teams are hooked up together at Washington Park.

It was a repetition of the old story yesterday afternoon and the autists were there in force again. Wearing the smiles that never come off, watching the plays critically and each enjoying himself in his own peculiar way the fans were there.

Each has a peculiarity that is all his own. Each man sits the game out in a different way. Each dealer has his own ideas concerning a game. The greatest fan of them all is Leon T. Shettler.

Now when Shettler attends a game he is wrapped up in contemplation of the plays. He is critical. He delivers his opinions straight from the shoulder, and he has one inflexible rule. You must not talk automobiles during the game. Don't even mention breaking a record. If you do you will have made a fatal mistake. Take it from me, I know.

Now Shettler is an enthusiast. He dictates his letters into a phonograph during the noon hour in order to be able to attend the game in the afternoon. Instead of eating a meal, and he enjoys his meals, Shettler works out the eating time and then takes his religion, that handsome Aperson coupe, with its self-starter and other accessories, and attends the game.

If you are wise you will make no comments when sitting near Leon. He may call you a boob, but it is more than likely that he will prove you are one if you venture to discuss a certain play. Armed with a score card Shettler does the game and does it right. Why of course he never makes a mistake.

"That's an error." Why of course it was because Shettler placed his

SANTA MONICA ROAD RACE SET FOR EARLY OCTOBER.

Speed Thrills to Be Uncorked by Automobile Dealers Who Plan Hot Contest for Handsome Gold and Silver Prizes—World Records May Be Smashed—A. A. Wires Its Sanction.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

THE Santa Monica automobile road race, the Vanderbilt of the West, will be held Saturday, October 14. This date was chosen yesterday by the Automobile Dealers' Association of Los Angeles and an entry list that may rival all motor car contests ever held in this country seems to be assured.

Two races, the light and the heavy car event, will be staged on the course over which all American road records were smashed on Thanksgiving Day. The Santa Monica road race course is the fastest in America and possibly in the world. There is reason to believe that not only the American but all world automobile records will be smashed in the October races.

At daybreak the light car race will be started. The small cars are to be sent away over a route of 200 miles and the struggle will be on until the crowd is ready to see the giant motor battle. The thirty-horse-power machines will fight it out over a course patrolled by armed guards who will, it is hoped, keep the crowds back and prevent the possibility of an accident.

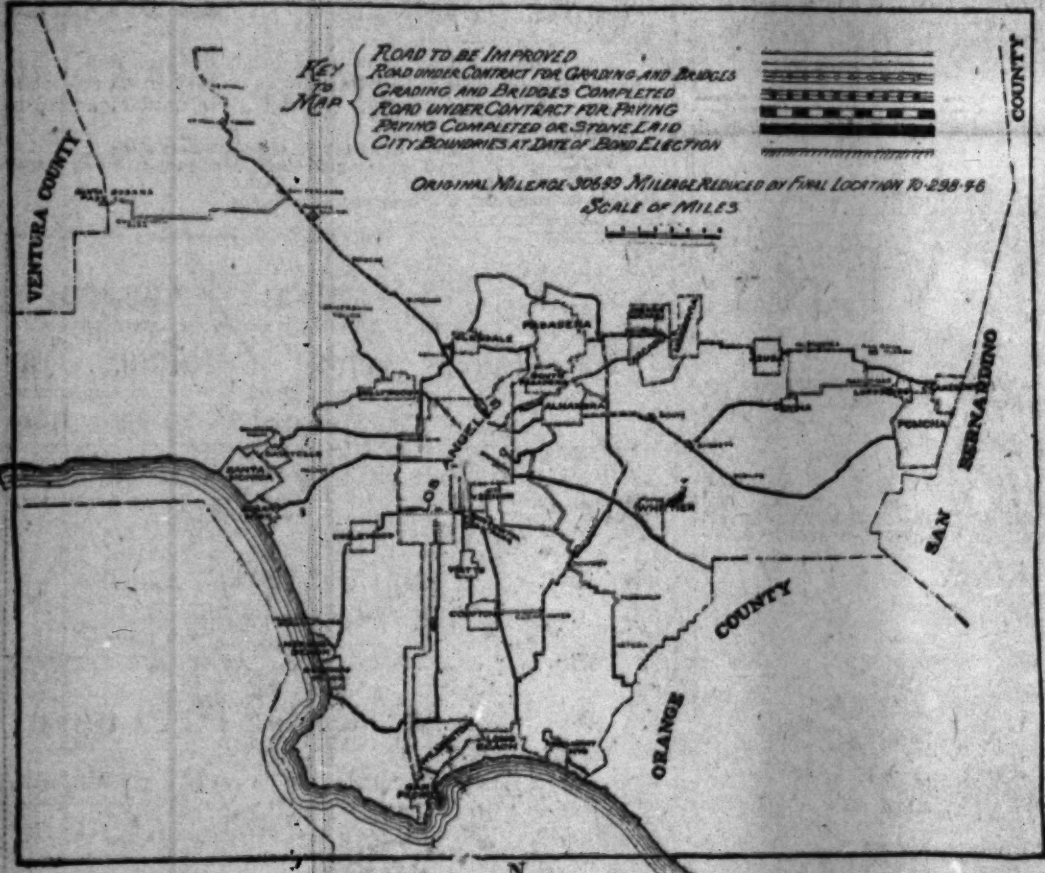

When the light car race winner has crossed the tape the course will be cleared again and the big cars will be sent away on a terrific grid and in this contest some of the fastest cars on earth will be hooked up. This will be a battle royal.

A. M. Young has been selected as chairman of the race committee. Young was selected from among the dealers by those who are to work with him. William R. Ruess is to have charge of the prizes and entries. He is a good one. C. M. Cotton will have the grand stand erected and pass out the concessions. Lewis Schwaeb is to issue the permits, select the guards and handle affairs with the police and city fathers of Santa Monica.

The prominent citizens of Santa Monica, who will handle the race from the seaside end, are C. F. Schader, R. M. Miller and B. Sues. These men are to be assisted by H. Michels and R. W. Armstrong of Ocean Park. This means real help at the right time and arrangements will be completed, say the committeemen, in plenty of time to arrange for an early practice date.

One of the handiest trophies ever offered for a road race in the West is to be fought for in the big event. The Dick Ferris trophy, a $1000 perpetual challenge cup, is to be hung up again.

In the light event the Leon T. Shettler trophy will be offered. This handsome $500 perpetual challenge cup is one of the coveted prizes and may be fought for again by a larger entry list than that which marked the last contest.

Network of Good and Bad Roads in Los Angeles County.

The highways that have already been repaired and those now in course of construction, with the turnpikes which have not been touched by the $3,000,000 appropriation, are all shown. This map is issued by the Los Angeles Highway Commission.

That 100,000 people will line the road race course on the day of the big contest is the estimate of Chairman Young, who is making careful preparations for the event. The line is short. The race will mean one of the mightiest struggles ever pulled off this side of the Rocky Mountains. The big event, the free-for-all, may call drivers from one end of this country to the other and may mean entries from across the seas if the dealers decide to allow any driver to start with any car.

Thousand of dollars will be spent to put the course into shape. The roads are in fairly good condition now. They will be made better and faster. The citizens of Santa Monica realize that this race is one of the biggest motor contests held on the Pacific Coast. The contract provides that the race shall be held for three years over the same course. Two races have already been pulled off, and now the dealers have swung into line for another date.

A. A. SANCTION.
The Automobile Dealers' Association of America has wired its sanction for the October date through Chairman S. M. Butler of the Contest Board. This means that the race is to be conducted with the officials of the A. A. in charge. The records, if broken, will be allowed and the cars will all be examined by the Technical Committee.

Though it is too early to announce possible entries at least three of the fast racing cars here are sure to be represented. Bill Nevins will enter the Fiat. This is a certainty and his driver may be Bert Dingley. This means a 30-horse-power machine in the struggle, a car that cut a terrific pace in the last race and clipped the fastest lap.

Of course, Wild Bill Ruess, will be in line with the Pope-Harford. His 1912 car is soon to leave the factory and this racer, which is said to be faster than any Pope ever stripped for action, will be set out here for a fight that should mean a gallant battle to a fine finish. Bill has not chosen his driver.

Harvey Herrick, on the National, will have to fight hard for honors. He will be pitted against some of the greatest drivers in the world and will have a chance to show his strength once more in a big road race. He won the Bakersfield contest and is now the favorite over some of the big guns.

FAT PURSE.
A purse of $5000 is to be provided for the race. Bill Ruess has his heart set on this sum and that means that it will be raised. This in addition to the trophies already offered means a golden prize, larger than was ever before hung up for a race in the West. From one end of this country to the other the Santa Monica road race commanded attention last year. This match event will be bigger than ever this season and again this country must sit up and take notice as all existing records are more than likely to be smashed.

Now that the sentiment, which favors automobile racing, has been crystallized and opposition is vanishing rapidly the result of this race will be surprising. The dealers are a unit in favor of the contest. It is to be a race with an entry list twice as large as the race last year, and it will mean that cars are to be sent here from the factories specially for the events on October 14.

FREE FOR ALL.
There is to be no admission. This has been decided by the dealers, and it meets with the approval of the ment of affairs along automobile row. Of course the grand stand will not be free and the parking spaces can be secured as well as the boxes. Here again an interesting stunt will be sprung. The boxes will be auctioned off and in this way a snug sum should be secured toward defraying the expenses of the meet.

The entry fees should be large enough to cover the $5000 prize. This was done at Indianapolis and can be done again in the Santa Monica road race. The big affair is even more important than the 200-mile race which Ray Harroun won in the Marmon.

Speaking of the Marmon, this car will more than likely be in the contest. The local agent is in favor of a big race in the West, and it will be an entry worth watching, especially if Harroun brings out his Marmon Wasp.

With the date set well in advance of the Phoenix race, there will be no conflict and the plans can be made for cars to enter both of these affairs. Of course, the Santa Monica road race will be a faster event, but the stretches on the Phoenix race will call for some speed thrills.

From now until the morning of Saturday, October 14, the committeemen will have their hands full arranging affairs. Road work is soon to start, on what stretches are to be put into shape as rapidly as possible. The Soldiers' Home turns will be rounded and the last of the road work will be completed when the Ocean avenue and Nevada avenue turn is banked. Here it is proposed to erect a dirt turn, on which, it is hoped, will be sprinkled in order to do away with the board affair which was too dangerous in the last race.

HAMLIN HOME FROM FACTORY.

FRANKLIN PLANT WORKING TO ITS FULL CAPACITY.

Air-Cooled Cars to Be Turned Out in Large Numbers and Many Orders Are Booked Ahead—Roads of Pennsylvania Not So Good as Those in New England States.

Ralph Hamlin, the Franklin agent, who has just returned from an extended eastern trip, found the Franklin factory running full capacity on the late series cars. The body remains the same but there are a number of changes, improving various features of the car. Mr. Hamlin doubled his year's contract for the coming season, and already has a number of orders ahead. The factory output will be twice as large as for the season just coming to an end.

Business completed, Mr. Hamlin took a thousand-mile trip in one of the new series Franklin cars. Accompanied by Mrs. Hamlin, starting from New York, he motored to At-

TO TOUR EAST WITH AUBURN.

W. J. BURT HIRES FOR THE ATLANTIC COAST FOR A MONTH.

Prepares for Interesting Outing and Will Be Absent Until Almost Middle of August—Hears from Auburn Owner Who Tours in Novel Camping Car.

W. J. Burt of the Burt Motor Car Company is making a hurried trip East in order to look over the 1912 Auburn line. He expects to be absent until August 19. The new models are now ready and are said to be the handsomest ever designed by the factory experts. Burt is highly pleased with the prospects for the new season and he is preparing for a big year. He expects to tour through Indiana and Michigan in one of the 1912 Auburns, which he will take from the factory.

Before leaving Burt heard from E. F. Lear, a rancher living near Kansas City, who has made a remarkable record with his forty-horse-power Auburn car. Lear decided to tour to Los Angeles and to visit others of the Coast cities. Accompanied by his wife, son and daughter, he left Kansas City a few weeks ago, with all equipments for a long journey, without depending in any way upon hotels. Having four passengers in the car it would make it little crowded to carry a camping outfit such as they had at first planned and in order to carry out their plans they struck upon a scheme new to automobilists. Taking an ordinary horse cart, Lear attached it to the rear of the Auburn car by fastening a forging around the differential housing and by using a common plow clevis, the cart was made fast to the machine.

In this cart he carried four cots, a tent, table, four camp chairs, gasoline stove, cooking utensils, provisions and all other necessary articles for a complete outfit. The cart with its load weighed about 750 lbs. This he towed from Kansas City to Los Angeles and on to Seattle, where he is camping at this time.

Many cars have crossed the desert and mountains carrying heavy loads, but this is probably the first to make the trip to be used as a towing car on such a long journey. Lear and the family say they had an enjoyable trip and expect to make the return trip to Kansas City in the same way early in the fall.

"We encountered no difficulties in making the trip," said Lear in speaking of the tour, "and we were always ready to go. There were places when we had to run fifty miles at a time on the intermediate through the desert, but it did not seem to affect our car in any way. We have forded streams, climbed mountains, pulled through desert sands, and gone through places where there was scarcely traces of a road, continually drawing this cart behind us. The cart is an ordinary horse cart with 48-inch wheels and one and one-half inch steel tires with a spring under each side of the body and one under the front of it."

Larger Than Ever.

BIG CONTRACT CLOSED HERE.

KELLY-RACINE PEOPLE PLAN TO ENTER LARGE FIELD.

Local Supply House Closes Month-Long Deal Which Means Big Business for This Coming Season and Castings and Tubes by Thousands Are Ordered for the Local Market.

An announcement of importance to the motor industry on the Pacific Coast was made by the Chasler & Lyon Company last week. This firm, which is one of the largest supply houses in the West, has taken the agency for the Kelly-Racine tire, made by the Kelly-Racine Rubber Company of Racine, Wis. In taking this agency the Chasler & Lyon Company placed one of the largest single orders in the history of the rubber industry. Ten thousand castings and 20,000 tubes were ordered to be shipped as early as possible. This represents over $250,000 in rubber tires.

The first shipment will reach here about August 15. This will consist of three carloads, and others will follow at intervals of about two weeks. These tires will be distributed among the six Chasler & Lyon branches, and a vigorous campaign will immediately be instigated throughout the entire Coast. This company will also continue to handle the Hartford tire.

This monster tire deal was closed June 1, when Charles F. Kelly, the head of the new company, was on the Coast. At that time Phil Lyon came down from Portland to attend a conference of the management, and after a thorough investigation it was decided to close for the agency.

The Kelly-Racine Company is a new concern, but is made up of old and experienced tire makers. The plant is the most up to date in the country, and the order for equipment was the largest ever placed for tire machinery.

The solid tire department is in charge of one of the best known solid tire makers in the world, Col. Swinehart. He is the originator of the famous Swinehart tire, and the Kelly commercial tire will have the benefit of his years of experience.

The Chasler & Lyon Company received their first samples last week and the new tires have been the center of interest at the local store. They promise to create a revolution in the tire industry and the first shipment will be made the occasion of a special opening for all Chasler & Lyon branches.

After the vapors from the exhaust have run around the oil and gasoline tank they will enter a combination foot-warmer and heater in the front of the car and keep the Abbott crew comfortable as the novel wind shield shield on the car is made entirely of leather with windows of celluloid, thus retaining the heat and affording an excellent view of the country.

Every comfort in the line of portable and condensed emergency rations will be carried together with a large alcohol stove, which can be used both as heater and for cooking. A strong silk tent, which when attached over the top of the entire car will convert it into a warm and commodious shelter, will be carried together with sleeping bags, blankets and several changes of warm fleece-lined underwear, shoes and clothes.

ICE MELTERS. The reserve tanks of alcohol, it is estimated, will hold enough fuel for power, cooking and melting of ice for drinking water and heating purposes to last the tourists for over a month and with the desiccated and condensed emergency rations there can be absolutely no danger from starvation or freezing in the event of any accident.

It is the purpose of the tourists to travel from Skagway the "Gateway to the Yukon," the city of the early days, through the White Pass, which marks the International Boundary line, where the scenery is said to rival that of the Alps by the celebrated Davidson Glacier and the mammoth ice fields of Fairhead have to take on an Arctic character. Something Novel.

GAS MIXTURE MUST BE PERFECT.

CARBURETORS TO BE HELPED BY THIS NOVEL INVENTION.

Speedo Chops Up the Food for Each Cylinder and Makes Combustion More Nearly Perfect When Adjustments Are Properly Made by This New Device.

It is said by one of the leading carburetor manufacturers that during the last year a remarkable amount of time and study have been given to the perfecting of the carburetor mixture. With the improvements that have been added from time to time, the better grade of carburetors of today have reached their limit of perfection. Manufacturers are now recognizing, for scientific reasons, that efficiency of mixture within the carburetor itself, is necessarily restricted.

There seems to be a well-defined limit to the combustive efficiency of the gas as it emanates from the carburetor, owing to the fact that the carburetor itself is restricted to the initial contact and initial mixing of the gas and air. An uneven mixture, rare in spots and too rich in others, too often prevails in even the better grade of carburetors, regardless of how carefully they be adjusted.

There seems to be another well-defined limitation, for by reason of the necessity of maintaining a constant quality in the initial mixture, proper regulation of the amount of air injection is necessarily confined to a very narrow range. As we cannot do without the carburetor, experts are now looking for a means to increase power and to save gasoline.

Additional mixers are now being used above the carburetor and the use of auxiliary air is most strongly advocated. Manually controlled auxiliary air jets are now in use, but owing to the irregularity of control do not give positive results. The most effective method of mixing the gas particles and injecting additional air, from results obtained, is the insertion of a speedo in the intake manifold. The speedo thus inserted seems to break up under spray each particle of gas after leaving the carburetor. This makes more air necessary and a speedo will inject the additional air properly and automatically, according to speed.

The result of the use of a speedo is a higher perfection of mixture with a less amount of fuel consumption. Any garage or dealer can put on a speedo, as they are easily attached and are recommended by the carburetor manufacturers.

AMATEUR ANGLER GETS MANY BIG ALBACORE.

Edwin Olson, a member of a party of twenty-five employees of The Times, which made a trip to Catalina in the motor boat Flyer, last week, came near breaking the amateur record for albacore. He landed several fishers that ranged between thirty and forty pounds in weight.

Albacore are always plentiful in the channel between the mainland and the island. They are easily caught using a trolling line and usually offer little fight.

The Japanese fishermen find a ready market for the fish, which are cured and often palmed off as kippered salmon.

Into the Clouds.

WHITE DRIVEN TO EDGE OF DEVIL'S PUNCH BOWL.

D. E. P. HILLIKER has succeeded in driving a White motor car over a road, an automobile has never traversed before. With E. F. Stanton as a side partner the two Los Angeles men have penetrated the Silver Lake country in Mono county. The drive was started from Los Angeles and the pair seat their car over the desert roads to Mono and then over the Tehachapi Pass to Bakerfield.

When they reached the Kern River valley the car was driven across the White Pass and a stop was made at Indian Wells. The next point reached was Grape Vine Creek Canyon, and from there the tourists chugged to Fred Eaton's ranch. At Big Pine the car was halted. After an enjoyable rest the White was sent to Coville Lake after climbing a grade to an elevation of 7200 feet.

Not content with this the two mounted into the clouds and reached Mammoth Lake at an elevation of 3200 feet and then paused on the edge of the Hot Springs, high in the air. This was over a road where automobiles have never dared before and where the going is hazardous. In writing to friends in this city, Dr. Hilliker says he traversed twenty-six miles of road over which an automobile had never before been driven.

Three days in the high hills above the clouds was the experience of Dr. Hilliker. He first started after riding the Owens River at a point where Dead Man's Creek and Grass Creek join, the car was driven up the fierce volcanic grade for three miles to the edge of the Devil's Punch Bowl. Then the auto was sent to Farrington Camp on Rust Creek. After driving six miles along the mountain tops another halt was made.

"The natives up here tell us we are absolutely the first autoists to make this trip," says Dr. Hilliker.

This is a triumph about which the Angelenos do not brag, but which autoists here state is remarkable. The car was sent over roads which are mere trails and over which an automobile has never been tried out. The run is proving an interesting pathfinding tour into a country which is picturesque, but which is not suited for a Sunday afternoon jaunt in your pleasure car.

RACERS FAVOR MILE TRACKS.

AUTO DRIVERS HOLD MEETING AT NEW YORK.

Steps Taken to Enforce Contracts Between Race Meet Promoters and Men Who Drive Cars—Use of Stimulants Condemned—Will Be Represented at Strang's Funeral.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Automobile racing drivers do not object to meet on one-mile tracks, providing proper precautions are taken to put the track in safe condition. This is the sentiment of more than a hundred drivers of racing automobiles who are in New York for the annual meeting of their national organization.

The primary business of this convention is the taking of action to ensure the enforcing of contracts between the drivers and race-meet promoters. The racing men decided to act in accordance with the Automobile Contest Association, which meets in Detroit August 12-14, for the suppression of irresponsible promoters.

BIG MOTOR DEALER SOLVES A PUZZLE.

One of the puzzles of the week has been solved by C. S. Anthony of the Western Motor Car Company. Asked to choose between two live automobile agencies, he thought the matter over for five minutes and then selected carefully but quickly. As a result of his choice, he has kept the friendship of both factories and still retains two handsome lines of cars.

When the Hudson factory and the Chalmers Motor Car Company both decided that their cars could not be housed on the same floor, it was up to Mr. Anthony to decide. He looked over his sales lists and both the records were high. He found that 445 Chalmers cars have been sold in California during the past year. The Hudson list did not quite reach that total. The decision was made in favor of the Chalmers.

As a result, the Chalmers will be handled by the Western Motor Car Company and the Hudson by H. L. Arnold of Toledo who will open his headquarters on automobile row. The Chalmers will remain at the same location and the line this coming year is classy and handsomer than ever.

Fine Trip. AUTO PARTY SAFELY HOME.

George Petermann and Family Reach St. Paul.

Cross Country in Car After Pleasant Journey.

Only Poor Roads Found Were in Mountains.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) ST. PAUL, July 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Having traveled 2600 miles in eighteen days actual running time, suffering but one serious mishap en route, a party of six Los Angeles persons arrived last night in St. Paul. It is a family party comprising Mr. and Mrs. George Petermann, formerly of St. Paul, their four children, George Jr., Philip, John and Mamie, and their dog Jack. They are now with Mrs. Charles Brackett, sister of Mr. Petermann, on the west side. "We had a splendid trip," said Mr. Petermann this morning, "but we have not had our fill of auto touring, we expect to make St. Paul our headquarters until September first and we will take side trips through the northwest that will aggregate 1000 miles. "About September 1 we will leave for Cleveland where we will put the car in the factory for a complete overhauling. We will go home by rail. "Our route took us via Big Pine, Cal., from Los Angeles to Ely, Nev. At Big Pine we broke our differential and had to lie in the town three days while we got another from San Francisco. From Ely we came to St. Paul via Salt Lake City, where we stopped two days. Cheyenne, Wyo., and Omaha, Neb. We stopped at New Ulm to visit relatives. "We had no exciting experiences, aside from one night on the Mojave desert where the wind blew so fiercely that the boys and I had to stay awake all night holding our tent down to permit Mrs. Petermann and Mamie to sleep. "The only really poor roads we struck were in the mountains. Utah and Wyoming have the best natural roads I ever saw. When we have finished our trip we will have traveled something like 4400 miles. "Mr. Petermann left St. Paul eighteen years ago. At that time he owned the Capitol Bakery on Washington street, opposite the old capitol. He was in the same business in Los Angeles until recently when he sold out.

nature into the paddock at race meets was strongly condemned by the meeting. It was decided to recognize two classes, professionals and novices, in race meets hereafter. Arrangements were made for a representation of the drivers at the funeral of Louis Strang.

CONLEY AND KLINE MATCHED.

McCarey Makes Arrangements to Stage Boys at Vernon the Latter Part of August.

Patsy Kline and Frankie Conley yesterday were elected by the Pacific Athletic Club for a twenty-round bout at Vernon, August 19. The featherweights are to make 122 pounds at 10 o'clock.

McCarey proposes to start another elimination series. The August mill will be the first, and later he expects to bring Jack White to the Coast. The winner of the Kline-Conley mill will be matched with White, a fight which in the second bout will meet the winner of the Rivers-Kilbane affair.

Kline and Conley are expected to come West within the next two weeks. Patsy probably will be here within ten days, and Conley's manager wired McCarey at the same time that he accepted the terms for the contest, that Frankie and he would leave the East as soon as they could get their affairs in shape for a setback.

ROD & REEL CLUB HOLDS LIVELY MEET.

Poor sport alongshore failed to reflect itself in the monthly meeting of the Southern California Rod and Reel Club in Burbank Hall Wednesday night, July 19, the usual seventy-five angling enthusiasts being on hand, and a very pleasant social evening and smoker developing, although there was no business of very great importance to be talked about.

A committee of three, Messrs. Rottelbeck, Clark and Sherman Baker, was appointed to attend the funeral of Charter Member Alexander Alkman, who was killed under his automobile that morning.

Thirteen new members were elected to the organization, which now numbers in bona-fide good standing, no less than 412 salt-water fishermen; more than many people had any idea existed in Southern California. This represents but a small percentage of the whole, however.

Those elected to membership were E. Warren Hopperstead, C. H. Pitzer, W. H. Scholer, Fred H. Brakenhauer, C. C. Twist, Will Dutton, Ralph Robinson, D. S. McCluskey, Jas. F. C. Schlanter, H. T. Hill, D. S. McCall, J. T. S. Schneider, E. H. Link and Pat Liner.

The treasurer, Henry Wm. Combert, reported $103.38 in the exchequer, notwithstanding the heavy drain of the Anaheim Landing Spanish barbecue.

A long discussion on the bait situation culminated in the appointment of Messrs. C. L. Shinn, E. R. Abbott and E. L. Hedderly a committee to investigate the clam prospect and report at the August meeting.

ALKMAN VERY FOND OF TROUT FISHING.

Alex. Alkman, who was killed beneath his capsaized automobile Wednesday morning at the El Monte road, was an enthusiastic angler, a charter member of the Southern California Rod and Reel Club, and a member of the El Monte road, to Bear Valley on a trout expedition when he lost his life. Of late years Alkman did not fish much in salt water, preferring the mountain streams.

He was a Cornishman, very well liked by those who knew him, and made every cent he possessed from absolutely nothing a few years ago. Among other things his fancies was Cornish Indian Game, so, upon which he was a leading authority and breeder of some of the finest show specimens in the breed, not a few of them pit-birds of great ability, although Alkman cared for the breed was the fancy. He had driven his automobile but a few weeks before his death.

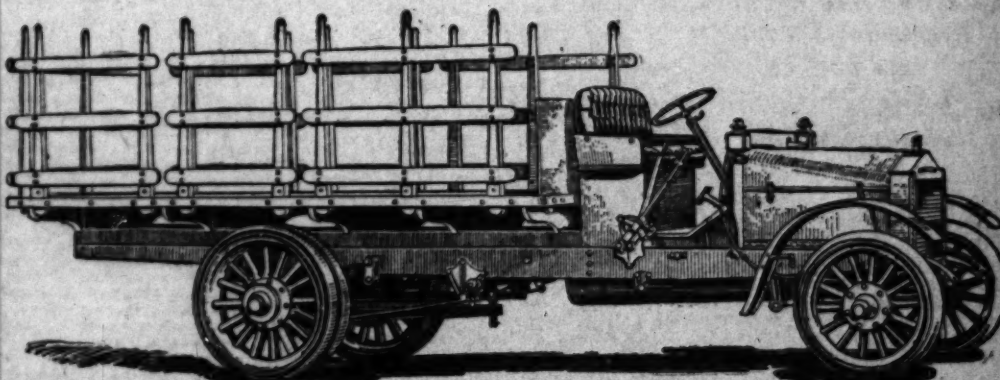

LOCAL CLAMS COME IN BETTER SUPPLY.

Since the stringency of the Pismo clam output, renewed interest has been observed in the local product. The beach about Del Rey in years gone by, and that north of Long Beach, were famous clamming grounds, but the clams were gathered out, and of recent seasons the possibility of securing the Pismo product, which are larger and make better corn-bait, has served to give the local variety a chance to grow and wax fat in peace.

The markets are handling quite a few local clams now; they may be told by the smaller size, white meat, and tendency to color red around the outer shell, which is lighter than the Pismo clams.

In days gone by they were the only bait available to surf-fishermen but the advent of the first Pismo clams was hailed with considerable expression of doubt as to whether the fish would take them. Bait was not cut the same then; Dionisio Bottler was the first man to think of the simple expedient of splitting the Pismo clam which everybody does now without thinking of it. For a while, the anglers had a lot of trouble with the big, beefy Pismo clams, as they were too large to cut to advantage in the time-honored and accepted methods then considered orthodox. They are so much better as bait that no one would take them when the others could be hiked, once their superiority demonstrated itself.

GOLD PRIZES FOR FAST CARS.

Twice Twelve Hour Grind to Have Speedy Starters.

Speed King Bob Burman Is Ready for More Thrills.

Benz and Renault Tuned to the Second for Races.

The twenty-four-hour race to be held at the Brighton Beach course August 4 and 5 is attracting considerable attention in automobile circles. E. A. Moros, who was formerly connected with the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, and who is conducting the race, is expecting to have at least fifteen cars entered in the event. The performance will start at 8:45 Friday evening, so that the finish will be made during the early hours of Saturday morning.

Fast purses have been offered to tempt the drivers to enter in the long race. The winner will receive a cash prize of $1000 and the Remy Grand Brassard trophy. Cash prizes will be offered to the winners. In addition to the fifth, the total amount of prizes being $2500. In addition to this, $100 will be awarded to the driver finishing first in his class. The race is open to non-stock cars of class E, in divisions 2, 3, 4, and 5.

The famous Remy Brassard was offered as a prize after long negotiations with the Remy factory. This emblem was first established as a reward to winners in speedway events. It was offered for the first time outside of the Indianapolis Speedway at Brighton Beach on July 4th, and was won by Bob Burman in the "Blitzen" Benz. He is now driving $75 a week from the Remy company, as his car was equipped with a Remy magneto, and will continue to draw this, so long as he successfully defends the Brassard.

EARLY ENTRIES. Early entries are expected from the Benz Auto Import Company, the makers of the Renault and Opel cars, and the Mercer company. Workmen will soon be at work oiling and working the surface of the course, as it will take some time to put the track into shape.

The record of a mile in 43.72 seconds made by Bob Burman at the Brighton Beach Motordrome, when he won the Remy Brassard, during the race on the mile circular dirt track held on Independence Day, proves his right to the title of "World Speed King." Burman's remarkable time beats the old world record for circular dirt track, which was made by De Palma in a Fiat, at Syracuse, N. Y., in 1910.

SPEED KING. Burman is now the holder of more world records than any other driver in the world. He has driven faster than any man on any course, and on the Daytona (Fla.) course, April 25, he made new records for the mile, kilometer and two miles. Driving the Remy-equipped "Blitzen" Benz, averaging 141.73 miles an hour, he broke the records held by Oldfield, driving over the same course and driving the same car as Oldfield.

Burman was not content with holding the records for straightaway courses, and in record trials on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, May 29, he captured the speedway marks for the mile, kilometer, half and quarter-mile. He also made a world's record for driving at night, making eighty-two miles an hour on the Long Island Motor Parkway, the Remy magneto light being the only illumination.

Practically all the old records were made by Barney Oldfield in the "Blitzen" Benz in 1910. Burman is now pleased with his various record trials. In a wire sent by him to the Remy factory after his success on the Brighton Beach course, he said: "Driving the 'Blitzen' Benz, equipped with the Remy magneto, I established a world's record for the mile on a circular dirt track. The track was very bad and it was difficult to keep the car on the course. The Remy magneto aided wonderfully in developing speed."

WERNER GETS SIMPLEX CAR FOR TWO SEASONS.

OSCAR WERNER, agent for the Simplex, is back from New York with the contract for the 1912 and 1913 Simplex tucked away in his coat pocket. Not only has he secured Southern California, but Werner has clinched the Arizona territory and this means that a Simplex car is to be entered in the Los Angeles-Phoenix road race.

At the factory Werner received a warm welcome and when he showed the list of advance orders he already has and told of the prospects he expects to close in the near future he could have had almost anything he asked for. The Simplex man was given a demonstration in the new Simplex "28" and this car has made a big hit with the local agent who is so enthusiastic over the model that he can talk of nothing else.

With the satisfaction that he is facing one of the best seasons in the history of the Simplex Werner has outlined a sales campaign which should be a hummer. He expects to sell half a hundred cars and already has arranged for deliveries at the rate of a carload a week during busy season.

The Simplex factory is doing a booming business in the East. One hundred sixty cars have been sold this year in New York and Werner says "New York is Simplex crazy." He went East to close up his contract for the coming year and to look at the new "28" model.

Over the new Motor Parkway in Long Island, Werner was given a real demonstration. He says the car is absolutely noiseless and is the easiest driving machine he ever sat in. The factory is so short on "28" models that when Werner arrived not even a demonstrator could be had.

The 1912 line is complete through the addition of the "35" short-drive and Werner expects to do a big business as he has already sold several of the "28" models. The delays he recently experienced in his deliveries have been due to a strike at the factory in which all of the automobile men in New York were involved and how that the strike is over Werner can make prompt delivery and expects cars in almost every week from now on.

Werner expects two 20-horsepower Simplex cars with tourabout bodies in this week and his 28 demonstrator will arrive on the 18th of August. He does not seem to be able to keep away from motor cars here or anywhere else. He was arrested on Long Island returning from the Motor Parkway for going over forty miles an hour.

Russell's Lake is a delightful spot for a picnic. If any of them get obstreperous, just toss them into the water. It would make fine reading and a sketch of the stunt could be made. Who will do the tossing? Why Bill Russell. He is the Royal High Executioner of a jinks party.

Tiny Nevins. That sounds good. Big Bill is willing if you are ready to listen to his strenuous. He has consented to sing a solo at the picnic before he eats his breakfast. His vocal organs are in great shape for such a stunt.

You can attend that picnic even though you are not a member of the Dealers' Association. All you have to do is to qualify as a rubberman. Yes, even if you look like one you can pass muster. We will all be there.

Get ready for the baseball game. The hue-bee and the never-was are to be out in force. L. T. Shettler wants to do the pitching. He is the Hall-Delhi first of the ball captain. Pa Dunbar has consented to be water-carrier and says he'll wear his baseball coat.

Walter Chasler is spending several days fishing in the Bear Valley country. He drove up over the Squirrel Inn road. He will return the middle of this week.

E. Vermilion Thompson of the Chandler & Lyon company is planning a three weeks' vacation tour. He will drive to Portland, if his nerve remains strong.

Harry Harrison will make a special trip down to take part in that Dealers' Association baseball game. He is a star with the willow and is also a great left fielder. He must be, for he says so himself.

Tom Williams says if he goes to that Calabasas picnic he will go well armed.

The running broad-smile championship will be decided at the dealers' outing. Jess Brown and Joe Brown have entered.

Over one hundred retail orders for 1912 Cadillac. That is rambling some. These do not count sub-agency contracts.

At this early date, the National has already been installed as the favorite in the Phoenix race.

The first shipment of 1912 Everitt "Thirties" was received by the H. O. Harrison Company last week. The shipment lasted two days, but more cars are on the way and Monday morning there will be a limited number in stock. The four-cylinder Everitt is proving a big seller and supported as it will be later in the season by the wonderful Everitt Six Harrison will undoubtedly make a record with this car.

All Everitts will be tremendous this season. One of the handsomest cars put out is the Thirty Torpedo roadster. This comes in the popular blue finish with the gasoline tank and carrying trunk in the rear. It is stylish and the first few received were immediately disposed of. Harrison has placed a large order for this model.

Nothing emphasizes the success of the Nobby tread Morgan & Wright tires more than the showing they are making in the transcontinental tour of the Premier cars. Every car on this trip from Atlantic City to San Francisco is equipped with nobby treads in the rear and the smooth tread United States tires in front. They are giving phenomenal service and one of the most talked of features of the trip is the unusual tire showing.

Leon T. Shettler has been busy lining up his agents for 1912. The demand for territory has been heavy since the announcement of the new cars. Shettler has not been too hasty in closing the good territory. B. Hendrickson of Santa Ana has secured a renewal of his contract. He has handled Reas and Appersons for several years. The Santa Ana territory has been good during the past season and a big year is expected for 1912. O. M. Skinner, another old-timer of the Shettler forces, has taken the Reo and Apperson for Anaheim and San Bernardino and has contracted for San Luis Obispo.

One of the latest dispatches received by the Halladay man follows: "After a hard day's fight with mud and water Halladay pathfinder for Modern Power Tour reached Moore's Jaw at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, having covered 100 miles poor road from Lang. Shortly after arrival, commenced to rain and continued all night. Won't get away until noon today, when an attempt will be made to reach Swift Current tonight, through mud. Car in good condition and running fine. Notes show over 550 miles."

Halladay 40 Pathfinder for Modern Power Canadian National Reliability tour arrived Estevan, Sask. after a hard day's run, 246 miles over new and very steep roads. The only mishap was the trouble the car is running good, not the slightest trouble. DAUBNER."

RUESS PLANS BULLS HEAD BREAKFAST FOR DEALERS.

UTOMOBILE dealers of this city are to enjoy a barbecue and picnic Saturday, August 5. This date has been chosen by W. E. Rueess, who is chairman of the Committee on Arrangements, and who has arranged none in the history of the local motor car industry.

A bull's-head breakfast, after a night spent in the open with a pair of blankets, a baseball game, a pushball contest, two or three tug-of-war matches and then a picnic, are some of the stunts prepared for the novel joy jaunt. Bill will lead the tourists into the hills and, according to present plans, the dealers will shut up shop at noon a week from Saturday.

When Rueess was chosen chairman of the Outing Committee a new name was inaugurated in the Automobile Dealers' Association and several surprises were sprung. There is not a man in the ranks who can out-pace the Pope-Hartford agent when it comes to planning an entertainment that will be memorable. Bill has worked hard, his plans are perfected and in order to secure the right kind of a place he has cabled to England for a grant to open a delightful spot hidden away in the hills of Calabasas.

Rueess's Lake sits snugly among the hills of Calabasas. This is the country where Bill Rueess is king. Whatever the Pope-Hartford man says goes in that district. Gates will be flung wide open and the automobile will have a chance to drink in the sun on the heaping quarts. It is to be a feast also that will long be remembered.

One of the famed barbecue artists, Chef Ramero, has been chosen to provide the feed. There will be enough and to spare. Bill will make ready a feed that will fill 400 mouths and he will have chairs and tables for that many. Already the menu has been selected and hot chili and Spanish saucers will be spread around in grand style.

The Rubber Men's Association, that is, the accessories dealers, have been invited to join the picnicers. They will be treated to a baseball game. When we say treated it means that they must play the automobile dealers and this week the teams will be chosen and the batteries selected. Practices will be begun at once.

Strong men and weak men, fat men and lean dealers, tall men and short-ones, will all have the chance to shine and the outing will include athletic stunts and perhaps a prize fight. The dealers will start Saturday afternoon and will return home Sunday evening.

TOM'S TONGUE TWISTS. Tom McGinley, gave the Rod and Reel Club a new name yesterday. He has just joined the organization and paid a year's dues. At the ball game he announced to friends: "I have just joined the Rod and Fish Club."

Angels in Hub. The Los Angeles team appears to be the majority of the fans to be here in the city at the present time and the chances are that it will finish there. It will have a terrific task before it can reach the 44th mark with the pitching staff it has now. There is not one that can be depended upon to win a game except Delhi, and he is very uncertain at times.

Make no mistake. The date of that dealers' picnic is Saturday afternoon, August 5. Call Bill Rueess if you wish to learn the details. Take a walk around to the Pope-Hartford man's headquarters and learn about the stocks. He will thrill you and if you are not careful almost kill you.

Don Lee left for San Francisco last night to take care of his business deals in the Bay City. He will return in about two weeks in time to attend the dealers' picnic. He expects to open his 1912 campaign with the Cadillac in earnest in about three weeks.

That Race Committee makes a great hit with me. The reversal of form in the Dealers' Association is pleasing everybody and the ranks of the association are being swelled to large numbers. It is to be unanimous unless I miss any guess. There will be no more opposition if you let Bill Bush have his way.

Russell's Lake is a delightful spot for a picnic. If any of them get obstreperous, just toss them into the water. It would make fine reading and a sketch of the stunt could be made. Who will do the tossing? Why Bill Russell. He is the Royal High Executioner of a jinks party.

Over one hundred retail orders for 1912 Cadillac. That is rambling some. These do not count sub-agency contracts.

At this early date, the National has already been installed as the favorite in the Phoenix race.

The first shipment of 1912 Everitt "Thirties" was received by the H. O. Harrison Company last week. The shipment lasted two days, but more cars are on the way and Monday morning there will be a limited number in stock. The four-cylinder Everitt is proving a big seller and supported as it will be later in the season by the wonderful Everitt Six Harrison will undoubtedly make a record with this car.

All Everitts will be tremendous this season. One of the handsomest cars put out is the Thirty Torpedo roadster. This comes in the popular blue finish with the gasoline tank and carrying trunk in the rear. It is stylish and the first few received were immediately disposed of. Harrison has placed a large order for this model.

Nothing emphasizes the success of the Nobby tread Morgan & Wright tires more than the showing they are making in the transcontinental tour of the Premier cars. Every car on this trip from Atlantic City to San Francisco is equipped with nobby treads in the rear and the smooth tread United States tires in front. They are giving phenomenal service and one of the most talked of features of the trip is the unusual tire showing.

Leon T. Shettler has been busy lining up his agents for 1912. The demand for territory has been heavy since the announcement of the new cars. Shettler has not been too hasty in closing the good territory. B. Hendrickson of Santa Ana has secured a renewal of his contract. He has handled Reas and Appersons for several years. The Santa Ana territory has been good during the past season and a big year is expected for 1912. O. M. Skinner, another old-timer of the Shettler forces, has taken the Reo and Apperson for Anaheim and San Bernardino and has contracted for San Luis Obispo.

One of the latest dispatches received by the Halladay man follows: "After a hard day's fight with mud and water Halladay pathfinder for Modern Power Tour reached Moore's Jaw at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, having covered 100 miles poor road from Lang. Shortly after arrival, commenced to rain and continued all night. Won't get away until noon today, when an attempt will be made to reach Swift Current tonight, through mud. Car in good condition and running fine. Notes show over 550 miles."

Halladay 40 Pathfinder for Modern Power Canadian National Reliability tour arrived Estevan, Sask. after a hard day's run, 246 miles over new and very steep roads. The only mishap was the trouble the car is running good, not the slightest trouble. DAUBNER."

front. Also in driving not to carry the swing right round, this being both bad form and a waste of energy. And thirdly to be sure and keep the head still. After overbearing this advice I could not help noticing how all the novices wiggled their heads in agitated sympathy with their strokes.

C. H. M. Tobey and young Grace Carter were playing over the links the other part of the day on Friday, the former winning two up in the morning and the latter one up in the afternoon.

They played with one club all through the course and declared they did almost as well as with the whole bag full. Mr. Tobey's putting is becoming a most artistic study; we all watched him beat at the last hole which was quite thrilling.

Grace Carter is one of the "coming" golfers, and his driving is particularly good. He has won honors in many other fields, being an athlete of varied attainments at college.

Mrs. MacLaren prefers billiards to golf and plays a good deal at San Gabriel. She was down to watch the flag tournament on Friday, but was tempted to take up golf herself.

The new members of the San Gabriel Club are Mr. and Mrs. Peasley, recently of Riverside. They play golf a good deal and may be seen at the club most afternoons.

The Annandale Club's July tournament is such a notable success that they will be followed by further ones throughout August if possible. There have never been so many golfers in town in July and August before, and the enthusiasm is most gratifying.

THE BIG LEAGUE DIAMONDS.

BY J. ALAN SLOAN.

Kelley is a sure, 300 hitter, and has a wonderful eye and a great arm. Among the scouts that saw the duo were the White Sox, Chicago, St. Louis, and the Cardinals.

I met O'Toole on the street in this city the other day and asked him why he had never showed any class before. Had I not known him well I probably would have received a chilly answer, but he came back at me with the following:

"I never had a chance before. I always could pitch good ball, but no one ever considered me because I do my work quietly and without any frills. The first year I broke into the national game I pitched twenty-one games, and won nineteen. Isn't that pretty good? But I got no publicity. I tell you, Al, it makes a lot of difference where a pitcher makes good. The American Association is the closest watched of the minor leagues and that is why I am being considered today. I am pitching no better ball than when I started."

O'Toole is a big, handsome, well-built, athletic-looking fellow who was a baseball pitcher the day he was born. He depends largely upon his marvelous speed and quick curves. I honestly believe he has as much smoke as any twirler since the days of Ames Rusie.

to establish football relations with the national colleges in 1912, it is unfortunate that some arrangement cannot be made so that all the universities can get together. In the past, squabbles have been settled so that the intercollegiate schedules were not curtailed, but it looks as if there will be nothing doing along this line in the fall, unless U.S.C. suddenly decides to go back to the old game (which it won't) or the other colleges adopt rugby.

"Irish" Mahoney, captain of the U.S.C. baseball team last spring, intends to enter Cornell University in the fall. His brother, who attended Pomona College, and was one of the best shortstops the Sagebrushers ever had, has been at Cornell and "Irish" says he too wants a taste of eastern university life.

The Olympic Club of San Francisco already has chosen two men who will be among the San Francisco representatives in the Pacific Coast swimming championships that are to be held at Redondo, September 8 and 9. McWoods, who has competed here before, will be the swimmer, and McWoods is to participate in the middle distance events.

The faculty of Wesleyan University, Massachusetts, has voted that, beginning in the fall of 1912, no freshman will be allowed to participate in intercollegiate athletics of any kind. This order, a radical one for a small college, is a practical exclusion from basketball, football, and, of course, of college athletics of any kind.

President Shanklin evidently has ideas similar to those of President Jordan of Stanford, regarding intercollegiate athletics.

SOUTHERN YACHTING NOTES.

FRANK A. GARBUTT has returned from a cruise in northern waters with his handsome yacht, the Estimoteur. The party had an exceptionally fine trip down the coast, having left Santa Barbara in the early morning and arrived in San Pedro at noon.

For the last two weeks the Garbutt party have been enjoying the unsurpassed scenery, fishing and bathing which is to be found in the neighborhood of Santa Cruz Island. The trip was strictly a pleasure affair. With the exception of the first few days, during which it was rather windy, the party encountered nothing but sunshine and balmy weather.

The Estimoteur party consisted of Mr. Garbutt, his two daughters, and a nephew.

While at Santa Cruz Island, the Estimoteur and her crew were loaned to a moving picture company, which used her to rescue the "heroine" from the rocks. The company "shot" two comedies in which the yacht figured prominently. One was a social feature, the other the capturing of a wild-man. The actor for this last part being furnished by the picture company.

Howard Wright left Friday with his yacht, the Siwash, for Avalon, where he expects to spend the next two weeks, returning in time for the race around Santa Barbara Island. Although the Siwash ordinarily requires a crew of seven or eight, Wright expects to make the trip across the channel with but a single assistant, Emerson Roach. The reason for the Siwash's needing a crew of that number is her size of her main sail. When the main is full it takes almost the full crew to take it in, even though it is fitted with six-sheave blocks.

The 2500-pound lead casting which was added to her keel last week has improved the Siwash's great deal. The extra weight has lowered her stern so that she is no longer "down by the head." Besides trimming ship, the ballast has stiffened her, thus greatly improving her sailing qualities.

Wilkie's Alert is again in the water, this time with a new rudder and a different pitch on the wheel. Wilkie will have charge of the Y.M.C.A. boys who will go into camp on Catalina Island. He has loaned the Alert to the association for the event. This will not only add to the pleasure of the boys, but also to the convenience of the officers.

Capt. Dodge of the Western Boat Works, Long Beach, is building a remarkably neat sixteen-foot cat boat for Dr. M. Carter. It is being built entirely of oak and cedar and when finished will be the finest little boat in Long Beach harbor. Captain Dodge expects to convert the boat into an auxiliary at pleasure by the use of an out-board motor. The engine is portable and may be stowed in the stern by means of thumb screws. The use of this type of motor as an auxiliary is something new.

ACROSS THE CHESS BOARD.

BY G. F. FIERCE.

N. S. Jolls of that team intimates his intention of resigning Game A to Rose Hanna at Board 16, which will put upon the local men the burden of still overcoming a lead of two games in the remaining eight.

A handicap tournament has been started in the Chess and Checker Club with twenty-one entries divided into five classes, each contestant playing two games with every other. All games must be completed by September 2, when the entry fees will be divided among the makers of first, second and third best scores at the rate of 50, 30 and 20 per centum, respectively, for prizes. Entries closed July 19, and games played on August 16 and 17, and scheduled by the committee, who will also settle all questions arising between players, without recourse to a referee. A time limit of twenty moves per hour was imposed, but has not been used in the 102 games so far played. The handicaps are as follows:

Class 1 gives to Class 2, pawn and two moves; to Class 3, knight, move and draw; to Class 4, rook; to Class 5, rook, move and draw.

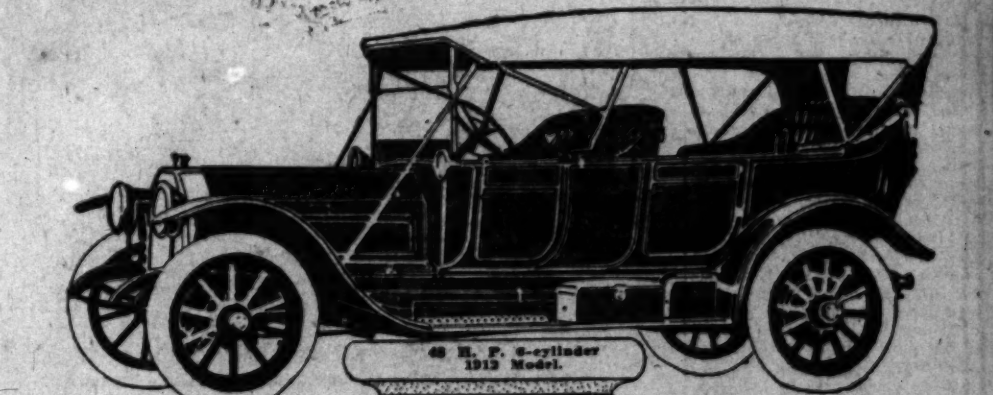

Class 2 gives to Class 3, pawn and move; to Class 4, knight; to Class 5, rook.

Class 3 gives to Class 4, pawn and move; to Class 5, pawn and two moves.

Class 4 gives to Class 5, pawn and move.

The players, with their classification and total scores to date, follow:

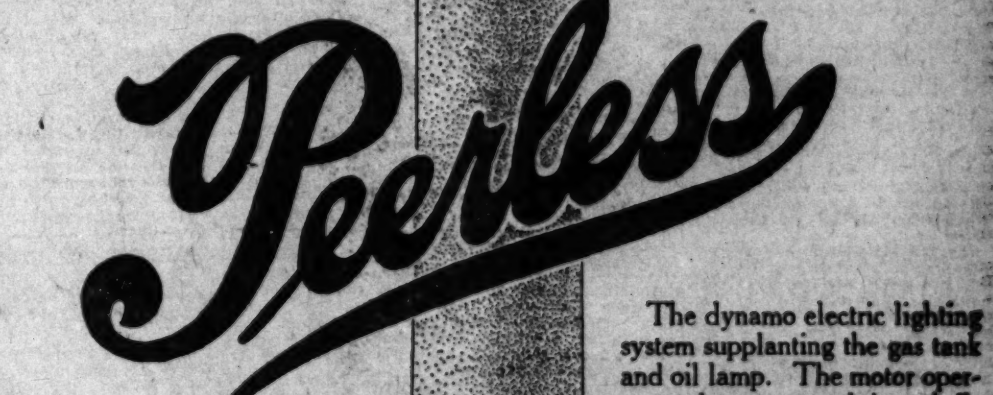

Player	Class	Won	Lost
J. E. Carr	1	4	3
W. K. Fierce	1	3	4
D. G. Holt	1	2	5
M. Kruger	1	1	6
R. L. Long	1	1	6
R. McCallan	1	1	6
N. F. McMurray	1	1	6
R. C. McCallan	1	1	6
D. Parkhurst	1	1	6

A. Asher of Redlands, one of the competitors in the Second Southern California Chess Correspondence Tournament, visited town a few days since and played a number of games against local players with considerable credit to himself. He reports that all his opponents in the tourney are live thinkers and likely to fight until the end.

EMPIRE'S JOB IS HARD ONE.

debrand Tells of Trouble With the Players.

Game From Entirely Different Angle.

ns Unable to See Plays from the Stands.

BY GEORGE HILDEBRAND.

EMPIRE PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE.

I did "come back" and play ball

and I guess I could, I would be an excellent ball player in the world

an umpire to get along with.

This I mean that I know how actual experience what an umpire

my league has to put up with and it is a hard position it is that he is to fill. The ordinary ball playas no idea of how different it is as a player and then an umpire,

he is looking at the same thing

an entirely different angle.

Every one knows that every ball

er in a game wants "everything."

I guess he goes, for if he is a star player and a good one he is to win every other game at

and, consequently, one-half the

he thinks his team is being given short end of the decisions. This generally because some one of his

n-mates makes a kick over a decision.

An umpire's job is a hard one for reasons. The principal one is he is required to make about decisions on the average in every inning game. Even if there are very many "close" ones they are alone just the same, and he is to be censured by some one. No one intentionally makes a "bad"

decision, for he gets himself in wrong

everyone by doing it. His posi-

and his daily bread depends upon general satisfaction, and no one of sense would want to knock out of a job by carelessness.

Another reason why an umpire's is a hard one is that 90 per cent.

the baseball fans are umpires themselves or think they are just as good as he thinks he is. A large portion of the fans sit in the achers where they cannot see any accurately. They are from 100

200 feet distant from the home

plate or any base and sit in such a position that they cannot judge. Anyone who sits twenty-five feet from point directly behind the catcher

not tell half the time whether is over the plate or not, and those

ing further away are in a worse

dition to judge. Those in the achers have little chance to tell ball from a strike, and yet they

at every decision.

BASIC DECISIONS.

The same thing is true on the matter of the base decisions. Many see when they cannot see they get trouble from the actions of the players on the field. In a number of stances I could recall, while umpir-

ing behind the bat, a perfect strike

uld be pitched, which the batsman

could not strike at. He frequently

ns to the catcher and swears at himself for not hitting the ball out the lot. Seeing him talk to the ther, many fans think he is roasting the umpire, and immediately try themselves when there is no ocasion for it.

Everyone thinks that an umpire

ould be perfect on all decisions,

ngly because he is paid to umpire.

Umpires cannot help making inaccurate decisions at times any more

an players can keep from making rors or any human beings from aking mistakes in their everyday

e. If any man thinks he could

ake 350 perfect decisions every day

r a seven months' season, his service are too valuable for any business to neglect that of umpiring.

The best any umpire gets is the

est of it. If he has a "good day"

one ever mentions it, but if he has

"bad" one everyone roasts him. I ever heard of a team that admitted

it got the best of any decisions,

r its players always say they got the worst of it.

If any fan thinks an umpire's job

is a real snap, just let him imagine himself out on a hot ball field with thousand fans and crabbed ball

layers yelling at him while he is ying to make 350 decisions. I got to it, or thought of it first, after had hurt my knee on Mike Fisher's

ll-American ball team trip to China

nd Manila in 1903. I did not play

all in 1909 and began to umpire last

ear. The old umpire, Jack O'Brien, met me one day after I had been ointed. He said:

"Now kid, you've had all the experience you need as a ball player

and you are about to get the other nd of it. You will find it is altogether different."

Well, I have, and that's why I say hat if I ever played ball again no

umpire would ever have any trouble with me.

gest to him that he might be mis-

tion get a suit of armor plate and then go to it right.

HE WINS.

Well, there are other fans that you can argue with. P. A. Renton is one of them. He knows the game from start to finish. He knows the player;

and he also knows what he knows what each stick artist ought to do. If the batter fails to make a home run then

Renton gets into action right.

The Matheson man enjoys the game

in a quiet way. He might be planning a sales campaign to watch him

as he sits in the grand stand. Suddenly he leaps from his seat, gives a

Comanche yell and then subsides.

His team has won.

Norman W. Church cannot enjoy a game until he elevates his feet on the back of the seat in front of him. It is necessary for Church to reserve a section exclusively for himself. He also wants elbow room. He wears that new straw hat, purchased for the game. He has a special hat which he dons each week.

CHURCH'S HATS.

Should the Angels show a winning streak, Church wears his sun-browned

straw. Now that Sacramento is swinging into form he has his Sacramento straw, a real Willie-boy effect, which is fetching indeed. When the photographer was snapping Church

some interested fans asked if the Stoddard-Dayton man is in the habit of bringing a special picture taker

with him on each occasion.

When Walter Chanslor is not settling disputes concerning that handsome silver trophy he presented for the car that wins the Los Angeles-San Diego automobile road record he attends the games and he also roots like a veteran. He knows the game, but never ventures an opinion because he usually sits close to Shettler.

When these two fans get their heads together something usually happens.

Shettler proposes that they give $25

each for funeral expenses for Hop or O'Rourke or Hughie Smith. Of course Walter always chips in and then the money is sent to the sporting editor of The Times, who goes home with a cold towel wrapped around his fevered brow after vainly trying to figure out why Shettler and Chanslor have given the money.

st has brought the automobile within the reach of every man.
million buggies are sold in America to horse owners every these owners can now use motor car at less cost—and more work in less time.

only costs to run—One cent a mile—cheaper than a trolley

HANDS have been waiting the day when they could afford
it.
is here for a million more people who have been buying and driving horses both for and pleasure.
for thousands of other people not use horses, who depend on inconveniences, submit to unnecessary discomforts and delays, and suffer loss of time and business.
owner can buy and maintain a Liberty-Brush automobile, costing less money than it costs to keep a horse.
if they are compelled by
to cover large areas, earning money the quicker they cover territory—will find the Liberty-Brush cheaper than any public conveyance, cheaper even than the trolley.
widen their territory, and increase their earning powers.
pleasures of motoring are too
many to need more than mention.
Liberty-Brush opens this field of pleasure and healthful pleasure.
extravagant talk. It is fact.
carefully in your own case.
Liberty-Brush is not a low-priced toy of a big motor car—it is a mechanically designed machine designed according to accepted best practice. The forerunner of the modern automobile is the successful Liberty-Brush runabout, thousands of which are giving satisfactory service.

It has a long stroke vertical motor of 10-horsepower, thermo-syphon cooling system, multiple-disc clutches, selective transmission, double side-chain drive,
bevel-gear differential, artillery wheels,
internal expanding brakes, pneumatic tires and shock-absorbing devices under Truffault-Hartford patents. In every particular the Liberty-Brush is an automobile at a price easily within reach of EVERYMAN.

This car is manufactured by the Brush Division of the United States
Motor Company, the largest producers of high-grade automobiles in the world.
By large quantity buying and manufacturing, the Liberty-Brush is made to sell at a price hitherto considered impossible for a standard automobile.

The full guarantee of the United States
Motor Company goes with every Liberty-Brush. The benefit of experience in making the Brush runabouts is utilized in the construction of the Liberty-Brush, and the price of the car, $350, leaves a profit which would be ridiculously small were it not for the vast number produced.

The designers of this car, which has proved the biggest gun ever fired in motordom, know that it is capable of running 35,000 miles. They are confident of this if the car is given reasonable care, for Past records of Brush automobiles show what you may expect of the Liberty-Brush.

Think of running once-and-a-half around the globe in your own car—think of the many months, years, during which you will get capable service from your Liberty-Brush. You can learn to operate it in fifteen minutes.

As to cost—in many official tests and in the hands of owners, the Brush has proved most economical. We know that many Brush cars have run more than 25,000 miles at a cost of 1 1/5 cents a mile, or six-tenths of a cent per mile per passenger, including all maintenance charges.

On the day when the Liberty-Brush arrived, the Fourth of July, 109 Brush runabouts in 109 different cities ran 100 miles, and their performances proved the claims made for the Liberty-Brush.

The fastest car averaged 28.17 miles per hour and the slowest, 11.1.
The highest economy average was 48.4 miles per gallon, and the lowest average was 15.38.
The lowest oil consumption was 1 gill for 100 miles and the highest was 2 qts.

Now consider this:

The average speed was 18.9 miles per hour. The average mileage on one gallon of gasoline was 25.9 miles. The average consumption of oil was 609
miles per gallon.

As to reliability: Only six adjustments were made, three to carburetors and three to spark plugs.

At this cost of operation and this initial cost, who can say "I cannot afford an automobile"? Mercantile concerns can see in this an economic business proposition for salesmen, so-licitors, inspectors, or, for quick, light delivery.

Five days after the announcement of the Liberty-Brush we had received 2,585 inquiries by mail and telegraph from dealers, firms, and individuals looking towards its purchase. Hundreds of inquiries continue to come every day.

We will have a Liberty-Brush dealer
in every county, and some territory remains open. Liberty-Brush users will find representatives everywhere who are prepared to care for these cars.

Orders for cars will be filled strictly in the rotation in which they are received, and we urge prompt action if you would obtain a Liberty-Brush automobile at an early date.

For particulars, address Sales Manager, Liberty-Brush division. He will refer you to the nearest dealer or give you your own territory.

French and Germans Prove the Big Features.

Belgium and Denmark Have Good Players.

English Racquetters Are Outclassed by Foreigners.

(Special Correspondence of The Times.)
LONDON, July 13.—English newspapers are bawling the fact that the Amateur Athletic Association annual meet just held, native athletes were winners in only three of the fourteen events contested. An Irishman won the weight, a Scotsman the mile, an Irishman the 100-yard and the 220-yard, a German the half-mile, the high jump, the pole vault, a Finlander, the mile and a Canadian the quarter-mile. This condition of affairs is looked upon as evidence of the athletic decadence of the Englishman, and if there is evidence of the passing of the British athlete, it is a significant fact that the interest of the meet entered in the outstanding work of the foreign element.

The showing made by the continental players is a really wonderful achievement, when one takes into consideration the fact that it is only within

(Special Correspondence of The Times.)
LONDON, July 13.—To lawn tennis players the world over, there are no courts better known than those of the famous All-England Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club at Wimbledon, just outside London, where the English championships have just been held.

Nearly sixty entries already have been received for the twenty-eighth annual tennis tournament for the championships of Southern California, which is to be held on the courts of Hotel Virginia, Long Beach, July 31, August 5. As yet only local players have registered, but it is believed that entries from San Francisco will begin to come in this week.

Foley, the Bay City crack, who at present is wading through the best players of Oregon, said when he was here for the doubles championships that he would return the latter part of this month for the southern championships. Potrett, brothers, Johnston, Hunt and possibly Dr. Hardy are expected to come south and it is probable that Miss Meyer and other San Francisco women players will enter in the women's events.

McLoughlin, Bund and Long in the East. It looks as if Winnie Macé had an excellent chance to get the third and last leg of the Cawston challenge cup in the men's singles. If Winnie wins this year he will be able to place the trophy among his permanent possessions as he twice captured first in the men's singles in 1909, and last year.

FAMOUS LAWN TENNIS COURTS.

SCENES OF HISTORIC GAMES KNOWN WORLD OVER.

Situated at Wimbledon, Near London, the Grounds of the All-England Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club are Played on Yearly by the Cracks from All Parts of Globe.

(Special Correspondence of The Times.)
LONDON, July 13.—To lawn tennis players the world over, there are no courts better known than those of the famous All-England Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club at Wimbledon, just outside London, where the English championships have just been held.

Most Famous Tennis Court.

The center court at Wimbledon, where all the great championship games are played.

F.W. Rahe.

The best of the German lawn tennis players.

For thirty-five years, ever since their inception, the national championships of England have been contested at Wimbledon. The first singles championship was contested in 1877, but the doubles were not instituted until two years later. There, too, have been held the Davis cup matches that have been played in England and on its center court have been contested the most famous battles of lawn tennis history.

It was the scene of the triumphs of the great Renshaw brothers, of Lawford, who gave his name to a popular stroke, of the Doherty brothers and, in more recent years, of Brooks and Wilding the Australasian pair. There are ten courts at Wimbledon, but it is upon this center court that lawn tennis history chiefly has been made. It is as near perfect as human skill and care can make it. It is surrounded on all sides by grand stands for spectators, capable of seating about 1000 people.

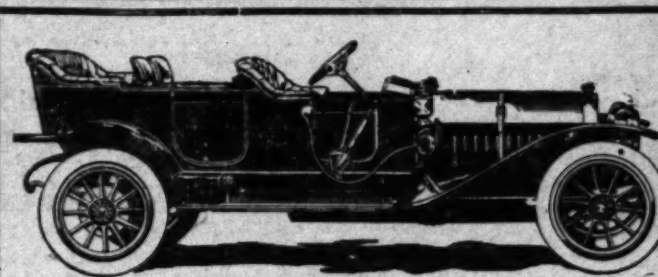

The courts are the property of the All-England Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club, of which King George is patron. Practically all the first-class players of England are members, and many of them are on its committee of management. The latter includes H. L. Doherty, A. W. Gore, W. V. Eaves and W. C. Crawley.

The secretary, upon whom rests the responsibility for the management of the big tournaments, is G. W. Hilliard, now a veteran, but once famous as a first-class player, and he is assisted by that most genial of lawn tennis enthusiasts, W. H. Collins, who will be remembered by the older generation of players in the United States for his identification with the early visits of English players to that country.

Max Decugis.

Former French champion whose playing was the outstanding feature of the All-England championships at Wimbledon.

The 1912 Hudson in Four New Models Is Now Sold Fully Equipped in Los Angeles at $1750

For 1912 we have a better car than ever to offer you. From year to year the progress of the Hudson car has been a steady march ahead.

Last year was a Hudson year—At the close of the season there were over 2000 unfilled orders, deposits on which had to be returned. When the Hudson "33" was first placed on the market in January, 1911, the response of the public was instantaneous. From the day the first car was delivered the factory was behind on orders and when the season closed July first there were over two thousand unfilled orders on the books.

The Public were quick to see the value in the Hudson "33." They were quick to appreciate what Howard Coffin had finally given them—a dirt proof, dust proof car with hundreds less parts than ever used heretofore.

And in actual service the car has made good. We have yet to hear of a dissatisfied customer.

For 1912 we offer you a still greater value. True, the price has been increased, but every cent and more has been put back into the car. You get more car, more equipment, more value for your investment. It has the best mohair top that money can buy, improved folding windshield, Continental demountable rims, thirty-four by four tires, Prest-o-Lite and lamps (in the new black enamel and brass,) Bosch dual ignition, tire holders and an extra rim, number holders, robe rail, foot rail, etc.

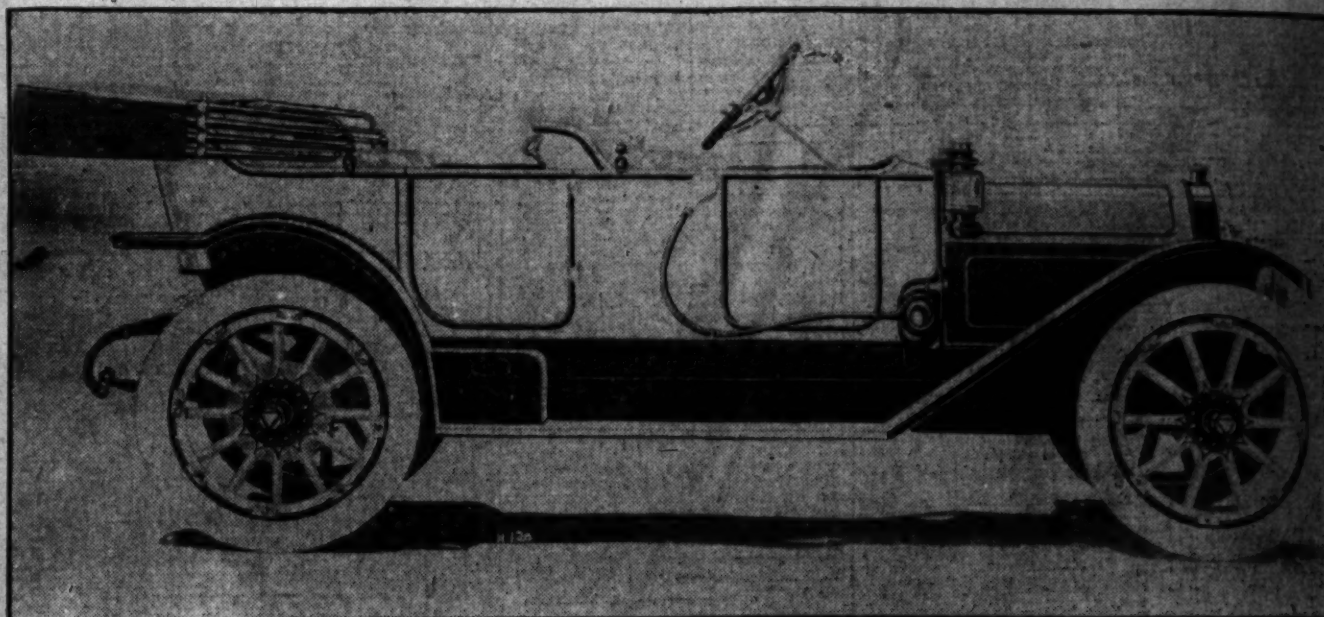

In hundreds of other details the car has been improved. All levers inside the fore doors—but the brake lever inside the gear shift—an exclusive Hudson feature.

Dash adjustment of carburetor gives you absolute gasoline economy while on the road.

Absence of trouble—We are free to say that no other car last year had less trouble than the Hudson. Practically no repairs on any car—the Hudson made a name for itself all over the United States that ANY car at ANY PRICE might be proud of.

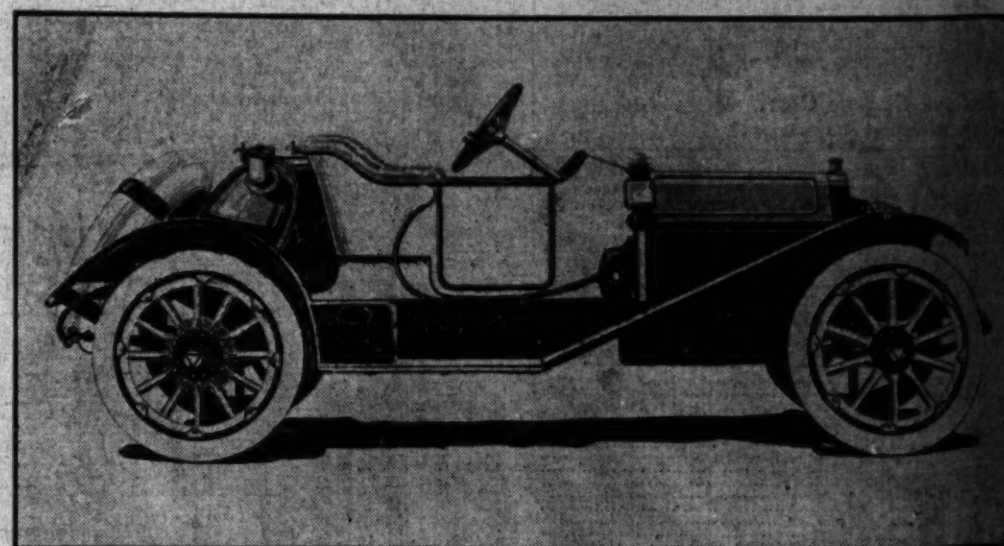

And as for service—A salesroom, garage and repair shop devoted exclusively to Hudson cars. A full stock of spare parts and a corps of mechanics thoroughly trained on Hudson cars, insure you good service, as well as a good car.

We propose to build up the greatest selling organization in Southern California. We will be represented in every town and city in our territory. If you live outside Los Angeles write for the name of your nearest dealer. If you are a dealer, get in touch with us at once, as we are appointing new Hudson dealers daily—we have a very attractive proposition.

THE WIDOW WISE

Verses by Paul West • Drawings by W. H. Loomis

1.—"Now, visit me in Munich, dear, and promise without fail!"
Wrote that artistic Yankee girl, Miss Arabella Vail;
And when this letter from her friend she held before her eyes,
"I'll do it without more delay," observed the Widow Wise.

2.—She found dear Arabella in that Paradise of Art,
A student of the ardent sort, and acting well the part,
In most bohemian quarters, in an artist crowded house,
Her hair arranged in simple braids, her dress a long gray blouse:

3.—For fun the Widow also donned a like artistic frock,
And joined in studio parties up to any old o'clock;
And 'twas at one of these affairs there came into her thoughts
That most aesthetic, quite poetic youth, young Friedrich Plotz.

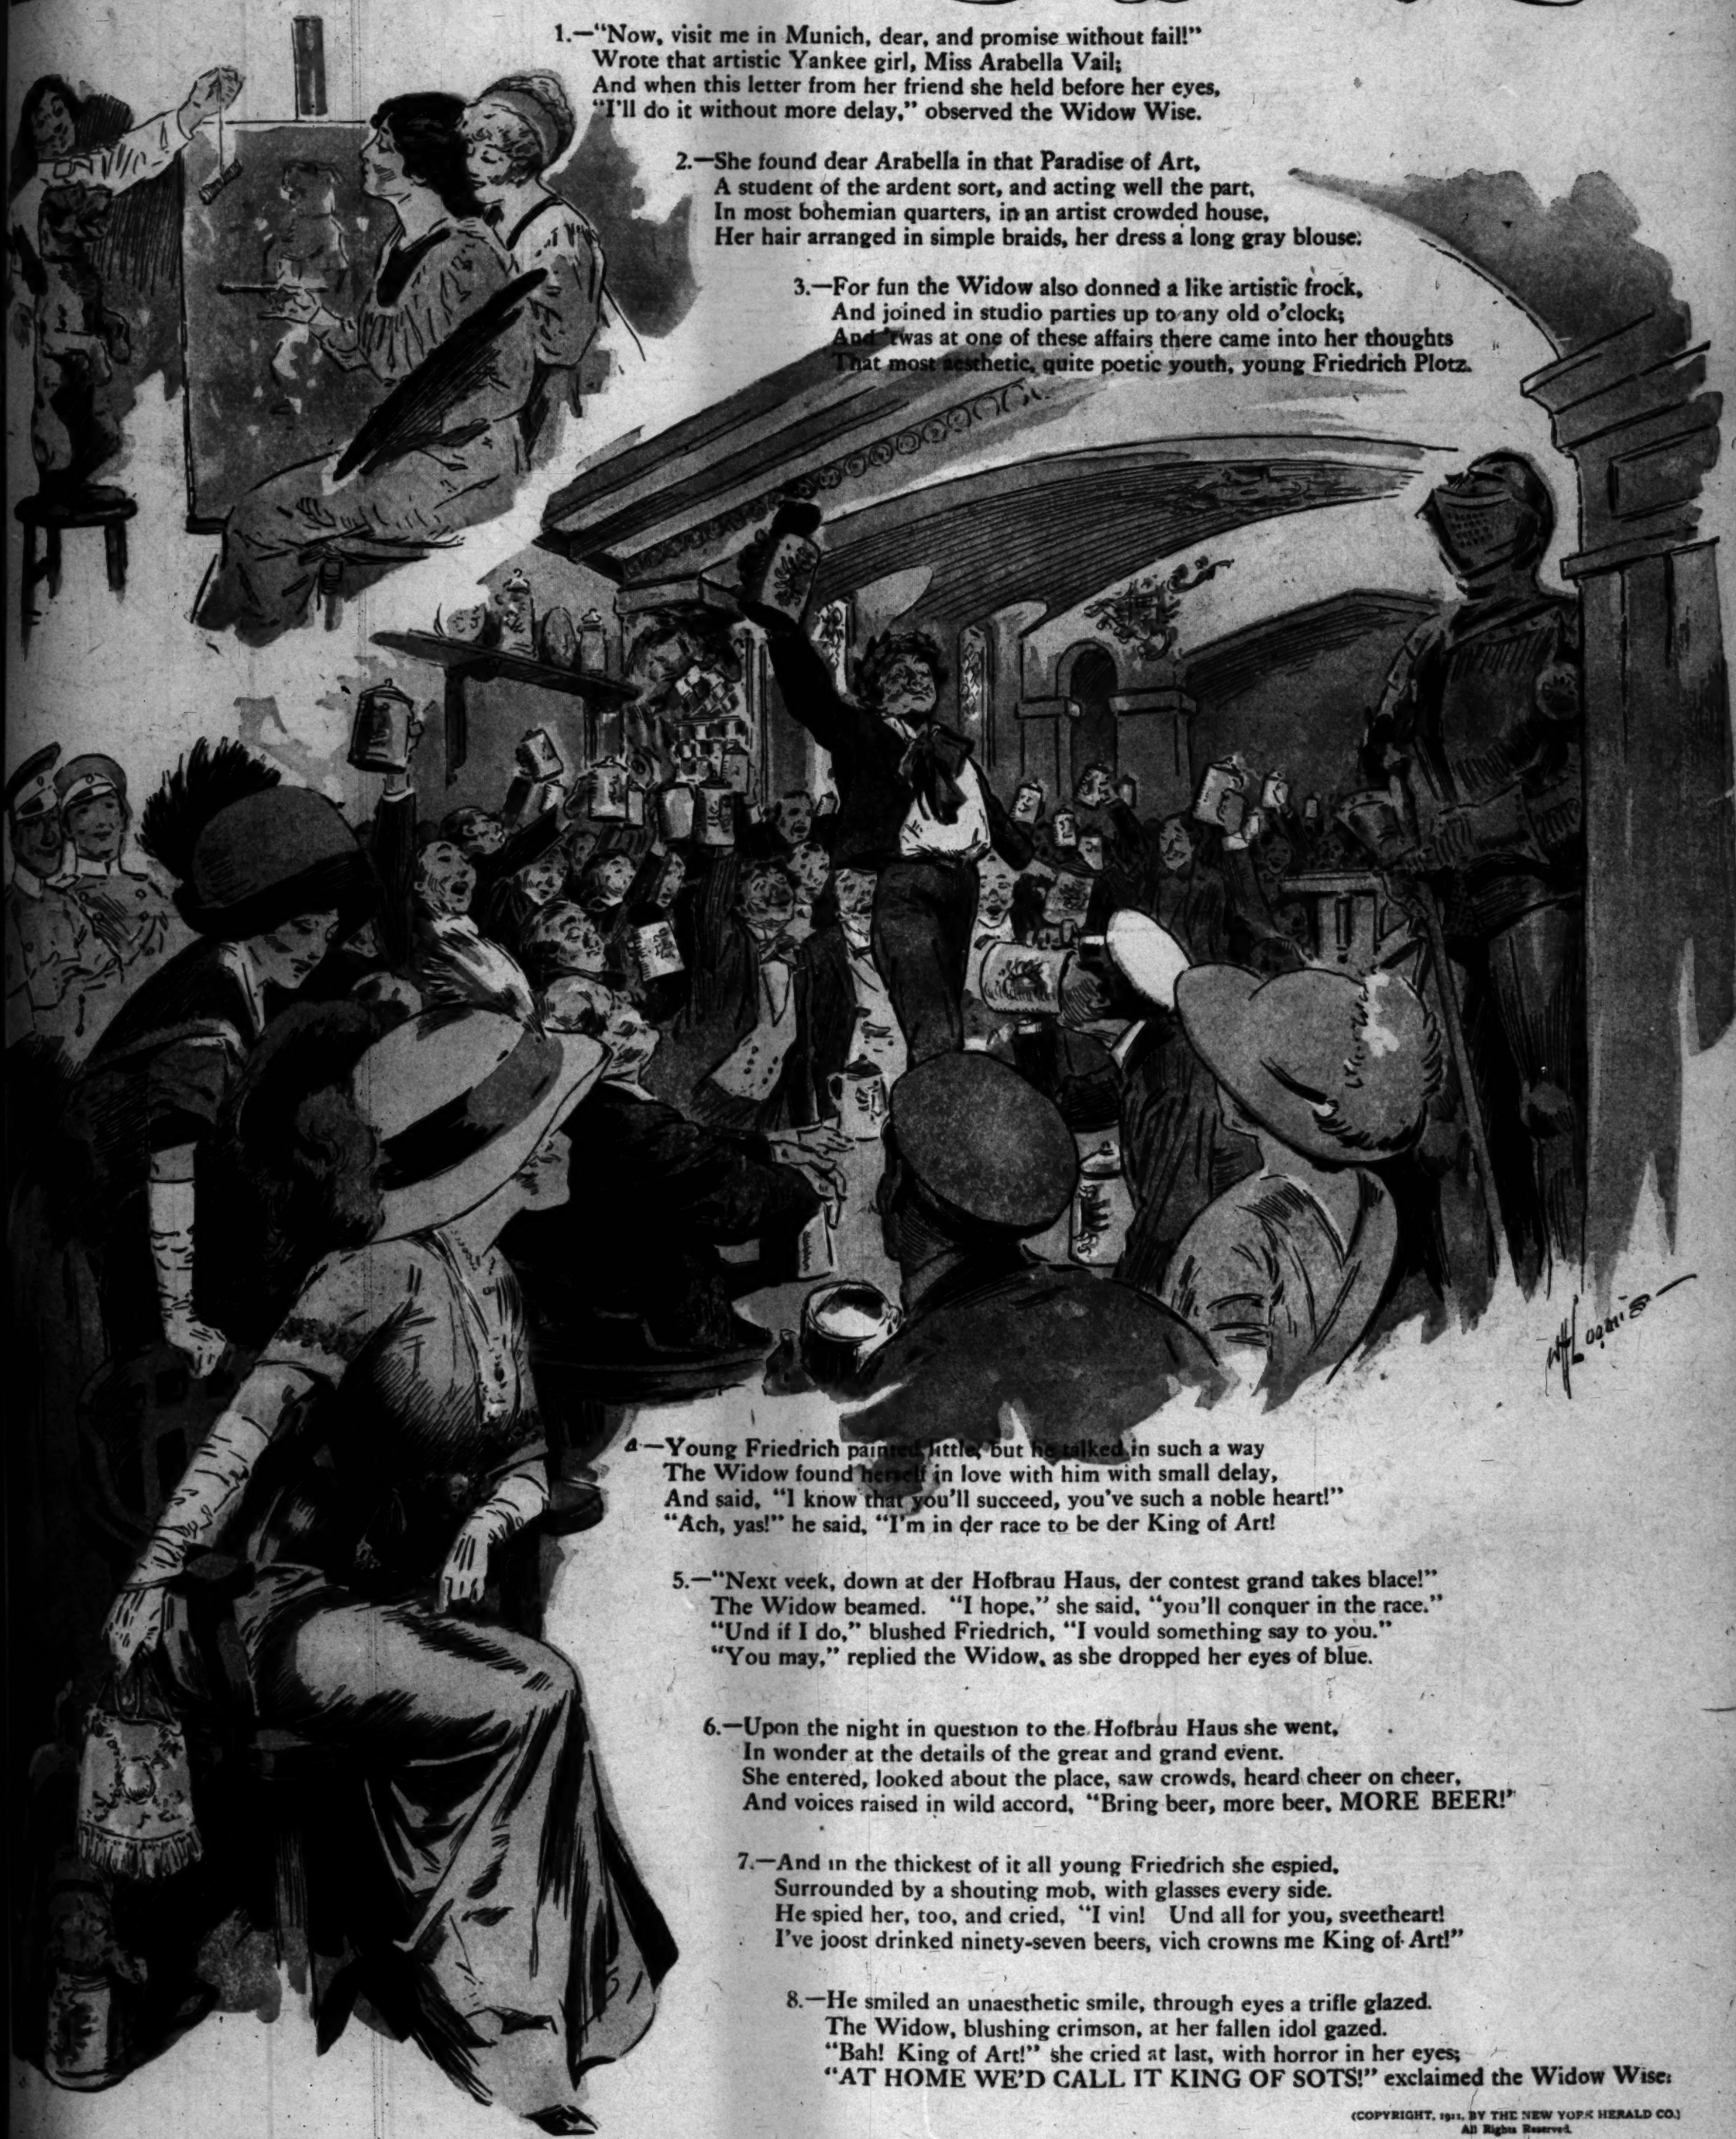

4.—Young Friedrich painted little, but he talked in such a way
The Widow found herself in love with him with small delay,
And said, "I know that you'll succeed, you've such a noble heart!"
"Ach, yas!" he said, "I'm in der race to be der King of Art!"

5.—"Next week, down at der Hofbrau Haus, der contest grand takes place!"
The Widow beamed. "I hope," she said, "you'll conquer in the race."
"Und if I do," blushed Friedrich, "I would something say to you."
"You may," replied the Widow, as she dropped her eyes of blue.

6.—Upon the night in question to the Hofbrau Haus she went,
In wonder at the details of the great and grand event.
She entered, looked about the place, saw crowds, heard cheer on cheer,
And voices raised in wild accord, "Bring beer, more beer, MORE BEER!"

7.—And in the thickest of it all young Friedrich she espied, Surrounded by a shouting mob, with glasses every side.
He spied her, too, and cried, "I vin! Und all for you, sweetheart!
I've joost dranked ninety-seven beers, vich crowns me King of Art!"

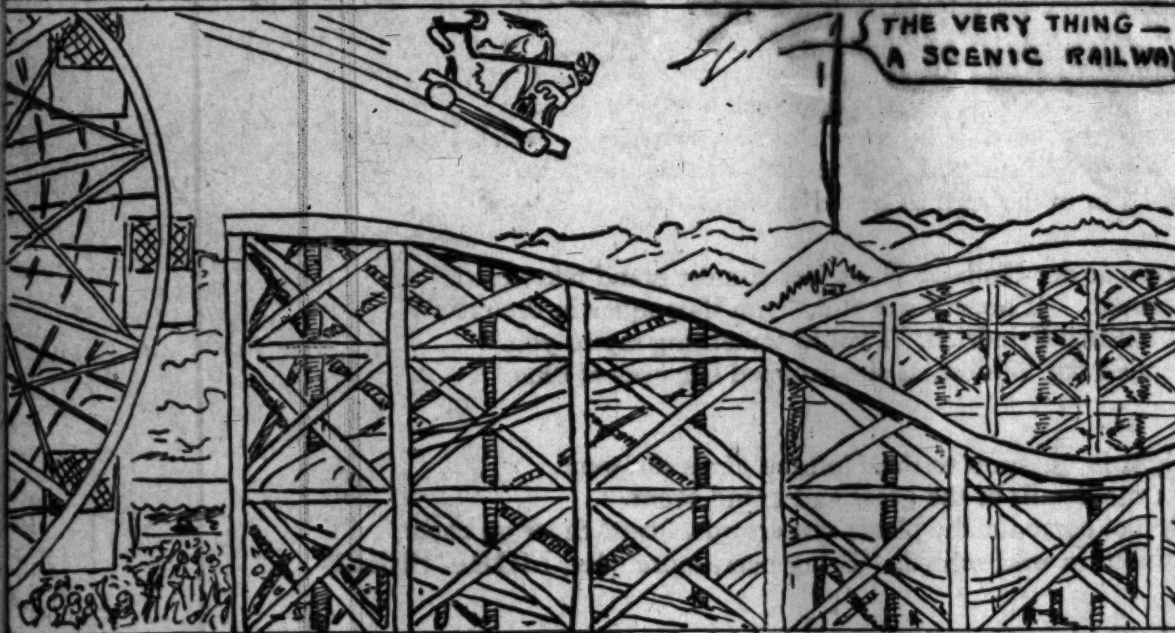

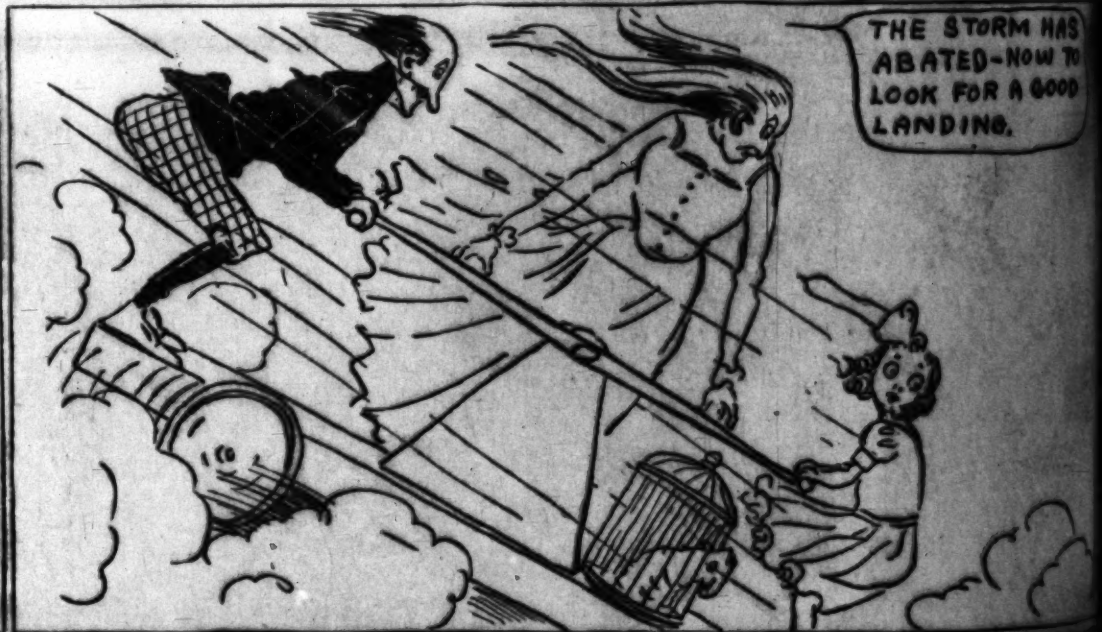

8.—He smiled an unaesthetic smile, through eyes a trifle glazed.
The Widow, blushing crimson, at her fallen idol gazed.
"Bah! King of Art!" she cried at last, with horror in her eyes;
"AT HOME WE'D CALL IT KING OF SOTS!" exclaimed the Widow Wise.

An' me'n Puppo'n mine Baby Bruvver we was diggin' in the sand, an' suddenly we hee-sed the ladies screemin', "Safe me! Safe me!" An' ther' was a horriblerous sight—a gr-r-eat big Sea Serpent, hor-rr-rs an' gr-r-eat big rollin' eyes an' ghashin' toofts an'—an' a tail—a n'orful long tail.

An' I—I—er—I jus' dived out ther' an' I swummed after him, froo the bigges' 'normouses' waves, an' he jus' grabbed up a beautiful lady in each one o' his orful big paws an' he—he jus' swummed orf wif 'em winkin' an' laffin', "Har! Har! Har!"

HAVE you noticed the alliance of line and color? It is the new touch for a dress. Never mind about the waist. You will have to remove collar, cuffs and large revers that terminate in a collar at the back. Here again, the black satin is of great value, and it were well to remember that the high price is really an economy when you buy black silk.

The little morning dress of delft-blue, trimmed with royal-blue silk. This is a collar at the back, coming over the shoulders and held down under the hip effect in a knotted under the white embroidery. Turned-back cuffs are attached to the sleeves, and a folded girdle hangs down, with its hanging panels in front. This little dress is ideal for the morning or during the after-breakfast hour. An afternoon model from Paris is shown in the next illustration. A pointed yoke shows a delicate pattern, while bands of the material, running in opposite directions, are fastened under a row of buttons, and rosettes of silk are used.

Black silk is held down by bands and plastrons of colored embroidery on the white linen dress of peasant cut. The kimono blouse is trimmed with bands of black on each sleeve and a shallow collar of the silk above the circular embroidered yoke. A straight sash passes down the front beneath two squares of embroidery. Dark-blue silk on gray, or brown on yellow, would be a charming use of silk after this fashion.

On the dressy coat suit black satin appears. It carries out the black note of the eyelet embroidery that forms the revers and cuffs. The square collar is of black satin edged with eyelet-worked linen. Turned-back cuffs are of satin and embroidery. When this attractive linen coat is removed, you will see satin-covered buttons and a black satin girdle striped with linen bands.

Cerise silk on stone-gray linen is shown in the simple button-trimmed model. The turned-back cuffs are straight, and are of cerise silk edged with dark-gray braid. A piece of embroidery is placed over this, on the outer edge of the sleeve. The embroidered collar is held under a triangle of gray, from which drop two tabs of cerise silk. And that is all.

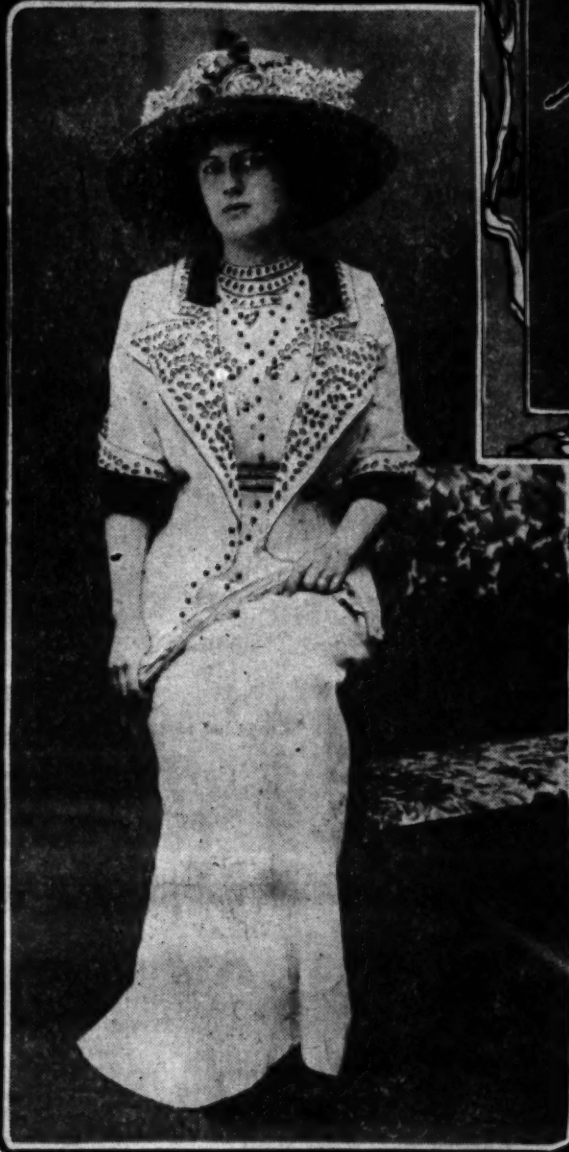

On the last exploitation of this silk-and-linen combination black silk is formed into a fringed sash that is knotted at the front. A neck trimming of black silk is knotted and tasseled, and completes the story. The bodice is embroidered in eyelet, with crescent-shaped inserts of Irish lace. Crocheted buttons trim sleeves and skirt.

Silk and linen, then, must be the dominant thought in your summer plans. If possible, make the silk trimmings detachable. The introduction of the new trimming is a relief, and undeniably becoming. Therefore it should be greeted with joy by the woman who is looking for "something different."

You noticed the alliance of linen and silk? It is the new touch for summer fashion. Never mind about the washing of summer garment, for there is always a way to remove collar, cuffs, girdle, and the cleansing. But in the interim the new scheme, and deservedly so.

At the suit of white linen there are black silk and large revers that terminate in a collar at the back. Here again we see the black silk. The black satin is of a fine quality and is really an economy when purchased in bulk.

MONNO BLOUSE DESIGN

Designed by PHEA GRAHAM

THREE WAYS TO TRANSFER

HERE are suggestions for transferring the pattern before you any material before working.

Perhaps the easiest way is the "window-pane" method. It is successful when the material is thin, like linen, batiste, etc. Put sheet of paper and the material together and hold them up against the glass of a window. With a sharp pencil draw on the material the design, which can be easily seen through the goods. If one has the design only be given, unpin the paper and turn the other side the fabric. The strong light behind will make it plain.

If you have carbon paper, you should place the sheet between fabric and the newspaper. This latter is on top. With a sharp pencil go over the outline of the design. The impression will be left in lines and will last until worked. This method is successful on material.

The last way is also easy. On wax paper or ordinary paper trace the pattern before you. When the design is complete turn over the paper and outline the pattern with a heavy lead pencil. Then place the design down on the fabric and redraw the outline pressing hard with the pencil. The pattern will be transferred out difficulty.

Surely the way is easy.

WHAT YOU CAN DO WITH RIBBON

How to tie a bow or how to make a ribbon artistic... is a simple accomplishment... with your own hands. It is a work, but with practice you will be able to gain... who is employed, ribbon can be used in many ways. It can be used to... a gown that has been... on the hat you have... the season with... of a very one.

face them with a straight piece of goods and work buttonholes on one side and put the pretty little washable crocheted buttons on the other. If they are the flat shapes, you can sew them on with colored thread, making a French knot in the center of each. It gives a pretty finish down the back.

You have no idea how quickly the seed stitches and the friendly knots will do the work for you. Just the outline for the design, first, and then the quick filling-in and there is your blouse nearly finished.

Put the scallops with soft darning cotton and work in buttonhole stitches. Do the same on the ends of the sleeves. If you cannot wear the collarless blouse, make a glimpse of fine insertion and finish the top of the collar and the edge of each undersleeve with a chain stitching done in the same embroidery, cotton.

The whole will make a lovely set for your white linen skirt.

And if you wish to do this in cotton voile or marquisette, you will find that the design is workable and pleasing in its results. Just try it.

Instead of Beading

IF YOU have grown tired of beading on your undergarments, try using two strips of lace insertion, one at the back and one at the front of the seam, enclosing the raw edge between them, just as you would when putting on a double cuff to the wrist of a blouse.

Put the ribbon in this, as through a casing, and it will show through the lace in a very dainty manner.

This plan will especially appeal to the very careful women, who like their clothing to look as well on the wrong side as on the right. While it may be a bit more expensive than the beading, it makes a charming change from the old style of running ribbon in the seams.

To Make Buttonholes

WE HAVE all been troubled in making buttonholes in thin materials. Here is a way of overcoming the difficulty. Hold a piece of the material on the under side and cut the hole through this as though it were part of the waist.

After you have finished working the buttonhole, cut away the under cloth very carefully, so that it will not show. You will have no difficulty even with chiffon, if you fold the cloth two or three times.

Substitute for Bodkin

IF A BODKIN is not at hand, an excellent substitute is a wooden match.

First strike the head, let it blaze a moment and blow out the flame. Cut or break off the burnt end, then wrap the ribbon or tape firmly about the end of the matchstick and push it through the hem, as is done with a bodkin. If held firmly, the tape or ribbon will not slip.

Baby's Dresses

IT VERY often happens that baby's little frocks are crumpled away in a drawer, even if a care be exercised in keeping them smooth. A much better plan is to cure a number of coat hangers, dress a size, and on these place the dresses. Any particular dress is found and may be taken down with danger of crushing the others. It is found worth while to have a crib bar put up in the closet, as a many more frocks may be put away a time.

Underarm Seams

SOME dressmakers should bear in mind the fact that the underarm seam of a sleeve should set so as to come 2 1/2 inches nearer the underarm bodice than the underarm bodice seam. You will avoid many a botched result by remembering this.

To Finish Armholes

HERE is a neat way to finish armholes of a very fine linen waist.

Instead of binding it in the ordinary way, buttonhole-stitch the edge with loosely twisted embroidery cotton. It will conceal all the raw edge and be as durable as the plain edge.

LETTERS FROM HOME

DEAR ELEANOR:

In this sleepy old-town the one excitement is the afternoon mail, when every one dresses up to go to the postoffice.

I am not quite equal to the walk yet, for the general store, which includes the postoffice, is quite a mile from Highland Farm, and my ankle is still a bit painful if I tax it for any length of time.

Elizabeth, May and Louise make the trip every afternoon. It would amuse you to see how they prink for such "wild excitement" as this affords. The youth and beauty of the countryside meet regularly at 5 in the afternoon to collect news from the outside world, and those of us who are here to enjoy the rest and quiet of country life anxiously await letters from home.

Yesterday the gay trio brought me your jolly epistle, and while I sat on the shady piazza to enjoy it, they read their letters under the trees.

A pretty picture they made, too. Their gayly colored frocks reminded one of a bouquet of field flowers against a background of green.

May wore a lavender-and-white flowered organdie that she had made herself. It is a dear. The bodice is cut with short kimono sleeves, having a three-inch band of plain lavender organdie from the little round Dutch neck to the sleeve's edge, where it is run under a similar band forming a hem. Pointed pieces of plain organdie are stitched to broad tucks on either side of the front and lap over the center, revealing a finely tucked vest fastened with lavender buttons.

Skirt and bodice join with a broad girdle of plain material, which also appears on the scant skirt in two three-inch bands and a hem. Her natural-straw hat is turned up in the back with a big bow of lavender organdie, and a wreath of lavender and pink buds encircle the crown.

A pretty trick May has of wearing a bandeau of organdie about her dark hair, caught with a full bow on one side.

Elizabeth, you know, adores pink. She was lovely in pink foulard showing a deeper-toned dot. This was made up over an underdress of deep rose. The surprise bodice crowned the front and had the neck edged with deep vandyke points of white lace.

Edging a narrow black satin girdle around the bottom was a row of the same lace. The most attractive overskirt, falling in a deep point in front, has a two-inch band of black satin, and is caught up midway from waist to hem with a rosette of satin. Elizabeth wears with this a big yellow straw hat, with a crown band of black velvet under a wreath of pink roses. Her parasol, too, is pink.

A "study in blue" we call Louise.

Blue dimity is used for her gown, which has a deep square yoke of heavy white lace and narrow cuffs of the same. A panel front to her bodice buttons on either side to the lace, and broad turned-back cuffs on the short kimono sleeves show these buttons in the front.

On her tawny head she wears with this frock a pale-green linen hat, having a huge bow of many loops made of blue-and-white spotted ribbon laid across the top. Of course, she carries a blue silk sunshade. Trust Louise to harmonize in her color schemes.

Are you weary of this chatter? Well, it's your turn now. Au revoir, my dear sister. Your affectionate
